United Fund Will Seek A Record Goal Of $11,500

The Elk Grove Village United Fund Drive will start on its journey to a record-high goal Monday.

The goal this year is $11,500, an increase of $2,000 from last year's goal, according to Mrs. Kurt Helbig, newly elected United Fund board president.

The campaign this year will be conducted entirely by mail, with local businesses, industries and residents being contacted, she said.

She said the campaign will make a special effort to contact industries employing fewer than 100 persons this year because they are not contacted by the Metropolitan Crusade of Mercy, which collects throughout the Chicago Area.

MRS. HELBIG said workers in the drive believe the goal of $11,500 is reachable "because there are more people in the village this year." Last year the drive for the first time surpassed its goal of $9,500 and collected just under $10,000, she said.

In addition to money raised locally, organizations serving Grove Village receive funds from the Metropolitan Crusade.

Last year the organizations received more than $30,000 from both local and area-wide campaigns. Mrs. Helbig said organizations this year have requested more than $43,000 from United Fund sources.

This year's campaign chairman is David Pollack, of 399 Wellington Ave. Besides the president, Mrs. Helbig, other officers of the fund board are Mrs. Roy Carlson, secretary, and James Ralston, treasurer.

Organizations which will receive money from the fund drive are the Northwest Cook County Girl Scout Council, Camp Fire Girls, the Northwest Suburban Boy Scout Council, the Northwest Mental Health Clinic, Lutheran Welfare Family Counseling Service, Clearbrook Center for the Mentally Retarded and the USO.

Biesterfield, Arlington Roads Signal On?

If all goes well, the signals at Arlington Heights and Biesterfield roads in Elk Grove Village will be operating when motorists head home from work tonight.

County road crews plan to be at the intersection to adjust the timing of the lights at 2 p.m. today and, unless there are unforeseen problems, the lights will be in full operation from then on, Village Mer Charles Willis, said.

The lights will provide a time delay for traffic making left turns from Kennedy Boulevard and Biesterfield Road onto Arlington Heights Road, Willis said.

The lights, which are replacing the four-way stop signs at the intersection, will become flashing red lights in all directions at about 10 o'clock each night, he said.

The signals will be replaced by permanent lights when Arlington Heights Road is permanently widened and improved, he said. The permanent signals will have more sophisticated timing devices and metal, rather than wooden poles.

Lions' Candy Sale

Elk Grove Village Lions Club and their fellow Lions around the state will collect donations for the blind in exchange for candy rolls Friday.

The Lions Candy Day is held annually to support Lions Club projects for the visually handicapped.

This week has been proclaimed Lions Week for the Visually Handicapped by Elk Grove Village Pres. Charles Zetek.

MORE THAN 100 youngsters, including this young fella kicking a football, participated in the annual punt, pass, and kick competition Saturday, sponsored locally by the Elk Grove Jaycees and Schmerler Ford Inc.

Named For The Senator

Dirksen's Widow Dedicates School

by JERRY THOMAS

Her gray hair was not tousled as his often was. Her voice quivered when she delivered the dedication address. But the words she chose to say, thank you for naming the school after "my husband the senator," were as eloquent as words Everett McKinley Dirksen would have delivered.

Mrs. Louella Carver Dirksen came to Schaumburg Sunday to attend the School Dist. 54 dedication of the Everett McKinley Dirksen School.

After a morning brunch that was full of reminiscing and story-telling about her life with the senator she wanted to see Dirksen School.

WHILE SHE TOURED the two-story building, about 300 children, their parents and many grandparents watched her. One youngster got a big hug from Mrs. Dirksen when he told her "you look just like my granny."

"I am a grandma too you know," said the gracious lady as she walked through the 20 classrooms and marveled at the children's preparations for her visit.

She smiled at some of the children's cartoon work and said, "I am so impressed with the materials and the students' work that I must ask that you box it all up and let me place it in the senators library." Mrs. Dirksen wants to display the work so "others can see it and appreciate it as much as I know the senator would and I do."

She wore a handsome gold wristwatch on her right arm. "I like it because it was his and also because it has such an 'easily read face,'" said Mrs. Dirksen.

Her voice was loud and clear as she led the audience in song during the dedication. As she walked to the podium to speak it was to the sound of her husband's voice on the loudspeaker as the record "Gallant Men" was played.

"I WOULD RATHER see one school, than six cold marble statues dedicated to my husband; your invitation to be here today has made me very proud" said the lady.

"Children have always held a special place in my husband's heart and he believed as I do that this country has opportunity for all children," said Mrs. Dirksen.

She shared a favorite poem with the audience, explaining that it described "the senator" as she always referred to her husband.

The story tells of the travels of a young man and his easy conquest of a deep dangerous chasm. It goes on to describe how the man delayed his travels to stop and build a bridge over the chasm he had crossed. A friend questions the delay and argues that it is senseless "since you will never pass this way again." The young man agreed his passage is safe but explains that another youth must soon pass this way, and says "I am building for him."

"THIS COULD BE my husband," said the widow as she called her husband a good man who loved his country and his fellow man.

Yes, he loved marigolds too, she remembered as she laughed about how he chided her one day for "just poking them in when we were planting a bed."

"The senator was always very gentle and he looked at me with those big reproachful eyes and said, 'no dear you know you must talk to flowers when you plant them," said Mrs. Dirksen.

"Grow darn you, grow," I said as I mumbled and poked in the next flower. She remembered that the senator looked shocked but then laughed. "Those marigolds are now as high as my chin," she added.

As the dedication ceremony came to a close Wayne Schaible, superintendent of schools, told a story about Mrs. Dirksen. "I asked her how she felt about all those big smooches the senator always bestowed on ladies," said Schaible.

She answered, "funny, but he always had plenty left over when he came back home," said Schaible as he kissed Mrs. Dirksen soundly on the cheek and the dedication ceremony was ended.

School—Home Problems Related

Youths who get into trouble at school usually have a problem in their homelife. Detective Melvin Mack, the Elk Grove Village Police Department youth officer assigned to Elk Grove High School, believes.

Problems of drug abuse, theft, truancy and vandalism are symptoms of another problem in the home of a youngster. Mack said in a recent interview.

That other problem is classified as a lack of love by parents, Mack said. It's a lack of interest, a lack of control and a lack of attention on the part of parents, he said.

"It doesn't hurt to tell a 16-year-old you love him," said Mack, a father of six.

Often overlooked in the family today, with a parent sometimes working two jobs, is love, or "showing your child you care," according to Mack.

MACK SAID there aren't a lot of youths with problems in the high school but that of those who are in trouble, he is able to trace their problems to something in their home life.

Mack deals with students who have problems. From 8 to 10 a day stop in his office at the high school, where he is beginning his second year as youth officer.

"There are a lot of kids I don't see," said Mack, noting that there are some 2,400 students at the school. Nevertheless, he said his workload is heavy because "handling of kids takes time. You have to get involved with kids and help them straighten themselves out."

He cited the Juvenile Court Act, which makes it an objective that youngsters be rehabilitated.

MACK GOES about rehabilitating a youth by getting involved with him. He'll speak to the parents and refer the student to the school's social worker, the psychologist, or the Northwest Human Resource Center, for counseling.

Very few of the youngsters go to court or the Audy Home for juveniles in Chicago.

"We do all we can at the community level before we'll send a youngster there," he said.

On occasion, a youth will be taken to the Audy Home for a day, just to see what it is like.

"We'll confront him with either the Audy Home or his community — and see what he prefers," said Mack.

Mack is one of three youth officers in Elk Grove Village, but he is the only one assigned to the high school. The others are John Landers and Gerald Walsh.

MACK, 32, has been a police officer for five years in the village. To prepare himself for his work he has taken various sociology and psychology courses at Harper College in Palatine.

His method of dealing with youngsters is to confront them. He said he puts the burden of responsibility on the youth, adding that it is seldom that a youth will not face up to what he has done.

Most cases he deals with involve minor thefts, but there are those of drugs too.

Use of drugs is a serious problem, he said, "no matter if you have 5, 10, or 15 youngsters using them."

Mack is not too alarmed by the problem at the high school, however. He noted it is uncommon to see a youngster freaking out in the hall or washroom.

"Use of drugs — marijuana, amphetamines, and barbiturates — runs in spurts," he said, but "there is not a day that goes by when there is not an investigation of drugs."

"I try to keep in touch," he said.

The World

President Nguyen Van Thieu rolled up a landslide reelection victory in South Vietnam's uncontested presidential vote and called it a national achievement. "This is really a very good achievement of our nation and our people in the building and implementing of democracy," Thieu said. After the election the U.S. command announced one of its biggest American troop cutbacks in two years, a reduction of 3,200 men.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers outlined a new six-point Middle East peace proposal, pledging no letup in U.S. efforts for an interim agreement.

A powerful explosion demolished a British army post in Belfast Monday, injuring 10 soldiers and at least six passersby. Snipers shot a policeman in the back and troops wounded a sniper. The army post blast touched off a new wave of violence in the capital of religiously divided Northern Ireland.

The War

Communist troops responded to the South Vietnamese presidential election with the most attacks in 18 months, shelling bases along the Demilitarized Zone and in the vicinity of Saigon, military spokesmen said. Spokesmen said the 92 separate attacks in a 24-hour period were the highest since March 31, 1970, the day before the first South Vietnamese drive in to Cambodia, when 112 attacks were recorded.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon has decided to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act, setting in motion government procedures to order the nation's longshoremen back to work for an 80-day cooling off period. White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the order, when obtained from federal courts, would definitely apply to the West Coast dispute, now in its 96th day, and one of the longest in the nation's history.

The House handed President Nixon a key victory for his new economic policies when it refused to block his order delaying a $2.6 billion-a-year pay raise for federal workers for six months. The 207-174 vote upholding Nixon's order generally broke down along party lines in the House, but Republicans took advantage of Democratic defections and absentees to carry the day for the President.

The State

Gov. Ogilvie announced a $25 million program to get 15,000 unemployed persons state and local government jobs. He said the program would provide jobs for about 10,000 welfare recipients plus about 5,000 unemployed "Vietnam-era" veterans.

Seven guards at Stateville Prison near Joliet were suspended because of the escape of three inmates Sept. 19.

A Peoria physician, Dr. John Mathis, announced he will be a candidate for governor unless a "responsible Republican" challenges Gov. Ogilvie.

Consumers Don't Gain Anything From Gas Price Wars

EVERYTHING FROM trading stamps to silver coins and special tuneup packages are offered by today's service stations. According to one dealer association the current price wars may squeeze this type of operation out of existence, to be replaced by cut-rate gasoline sellers.

by LEA TONKIN

Consumers taking advantage of lower pump prices during the recent gas wars may be paying a higher price than they realize. It may not hit them until they blow a tire on the expressway and no service from area gas stations can be obtained.

That is the opinion of Bob Esserman, executive vice president of the Illinois Gasoline Dealers Association. He applauds the move last week to most major oil firms to "normalize" prices for gasoline.

"Most of the majors pulled their price supports last week starting Monday and ending as late as Friday," he said. "This is fine because it enables the dealers to make a profit."

Esserman said the normal price level is 40.9 cents a gallon for regular gasoline. Prices at the beginning of last week had drifted down an average of two to five cents a gallon below this level in the Chicago metropolitan area.

Dealers cut their pump prices in each round of the gas war this year. He dealer generally pays for 30 per cent of the loss and the oil company pays for 70 per cent of the amount (known as price supports).

"THERE IS a fallacy that the consumer is getting a break in the gas wars as the price drops," said Esserman. "But a dealer cannot afford good help if he's not making enough money. It is ruinous for him and for the public because the dealer cannot continue to give service without a profit."

"All the different services are being chiseled out when the prices are cut," he continued. "The motorist takes the chance that he'll never have to have someone take care of his car."

Service stations need public support to maintain good service facilities according to Esserman. He maintains that the motorist switching from his regular service station to a cut-rate station during a price war is hurting the service station's ability to maintain emergency vehicles and a staff of mechanics.

"If prices are cut it doesn't take long before it's not worth it for the service station to sell gasoline," he said. "A dealer will either have to get lower-priced help or none at all. The biggest loser is the consumer when he can't get someone to come out and repair his car."

Service stations generally operate on a low profit margin according to Esserman. He said that if a gasoline normally sells for 40.9 cents a gallon, 13.2 cents of this amount is paid in taxes. From the amount left over after taxes the dealer takes a 25 per cent profit according to Esserman, and as the price drops so does his profit.

More dealers are going out of business each year as the price wars continue, Esserman said. His group represents 3,800 service stations in Illinois and northern Indiana.

Schools Face Safety Code Closing

A number of Cook County schools, including four in Dist. 15 could be in jeopardy of being closed because of violations of the Illinois Life Safety Code, according to Richard J. Martwick, County superintendent of schools.

Martwick has announced these schools have 90 days to install fire alarm systems conforming to the state code. The Dist. 15 schools include: Joel Wood and Stuart Paddock in Palatine, and Kimball Hall and Carl Sandburg in Rolling Meadows.

According to Dist. 15 Supt. Frank Whiteley, he received no official notification of the alleged violations from the county. "The first I knew of any violations was when I read the paper. We received a certificate from the county in June saying each of the four schools complied with the life safety code. We will do whatever they tell us, but we thought we had done everything."

Whiteley added he received a notice from the county after receiving the certificate saying a new mechanism on the fire alarm system will be required. This mechanism will be discussed at a seminar hosted by the county office on Oct. 5.

THE SEMINAR will begin at 10 a.m. in the Crystal Room of the Sherman

House in Chicago. William Tremelling, Dist. 15 director of buildings and grounds, will attend along with school superintendents and fire department representatives from the suburbs along with school building architects and engineers.

A notice sent to the 145 school districts pointed out "it is our intent to show how the monitoring system should be installed and to provide a showcase for various devices on the market that can be used and applied to your particular system."

Martwick stated he was taking this step to assist the schools to conform to the Life-Safety Code regulations. He warned however, that fire alarm system requirements are just a part of the Safety Code and indicated his administration would not tolerate any abuse of any areas of the code.

Under the previous administration, he said, it was found last June that many of the schools were in violation of the code.

"At that time, the schools were notified that inspections of their systems were halted because many violations were discovered and the schools were not in conformance with the Illinois Health and Life Safety Code."

"A RECENT spot check of various districts has indicated to us that many schools have corrected the situation, some are in the process, but some have not. We are dealing here with the safety of thousands of children and compliance isn't a discretionary matter."

Martwick said the School Code provides the power to initiate condemnation proceedings against any school which does not comply. He added that while he did not expect such drastic measures to be necessary, he also did not expect the schools to ignore so vital a regulation.

According to Robert Hayes, Assistant Superintendent of School Planning and Life Safety Code, the cost of bringing the fire alarm system into conformance with the code should not cost more than several hundred dollars on the average, and in no case should it run beyond $1,000.

"The primary problem found last summer centered around the monitoring and supervision of the systems," said Hayes.

"In many school districts there is no way to tell whether or not the fire alarm system is operating."

"The monitoring system should automatically activate a signal to warn administrators that the system is not functioning, and immediate steps should be taken to correct the problem."

Movers Crating Up A Bundle Of History

One of the biggest moving jobs undertaken in recent years by a governmental agency began yesterday morning.

A crew of 25 men began crating up the first of more than 5 million files so they can be moved from storage vaults in the Criminal Court Building.

The files date back to 1871 and contain a history of Chicago, according to Circuit Court Clerk Matthew J. Danaher.

"Court files are like a mirror of history. Within them you can find the mistakes, the tragedies and the successes of the years when Chicago was going through its post-1871 fire rebirth and the violent days of prohibition," Danaher said.

INCLUDED among the records are the files on such famous criminal cases as the Loeb-Leopold murder trial and the cases involving the late Roger Touhy.

The records, many of them untouched for decades, are now stored in four huge vaults in the Criminal Court Building. They are being moved to a storage warehouse at 723 W. Lake St.

The records consist of 35,400 massive file drawers containing 3.5 million folded card files, 12,180 old docket books; 1,000 cartons of old records, and another 200,000 loose files stored numerically on shelves.

Despite the coating of dust on some of the cartons, most of the records are in remarkably good condition, Danaher said.

"We recently were asked to find an 1876 case and located it within minutes, folded among many other records in a tote box."

"When it was opened, the paper was still white and clear and the handwriting appeared to have been done by an expert in Spencerian script," Danaher said.

NOT ALL the records at the court building are being moved.

"We will retain at least 25 years of old records for immediate access by attorneys and the public, and we can retrieve those going to the warehouse on one day's notice," Danaher said.

The files are being moved to make space for improvements in the courts building. Under state law, they must be retained.

In addition to criminal records, the vaults contain old probate cases and other civil matters back to 1871. Files for the years prior to that were destroyed in the Chicago fire.

The records are only a fraction of the files for which Danaher is responsible. More than 4.8 million cases a year are handled by Danaher's office and old records already occupy more than 36 miles of shelf and drawer space at more than a dozen locations through the city and suburbs.

Wojcik Heads Data Unit

Stanley A. Wojcik has been named director of the Cook County Department of Data Processing.

The appointment, announced at yesterday's Cook County Board meeting, was made by George Dunne, board president.

Wojcik, 44, has been employed by the Cook County Department of Central Services since January, 1966, as machines record supervisor. In December, 1963, he was promoted to statistical division supervisor. He has been the assistant director of the Data Processing Department since September, 1969.

He will receive $25,620 per year for the new position. Wojcik received his bachelor of science degree from Marquette University and also received specialized IBM in-service training.

In other action, the board approved an ordinance from its rules committee which streamlines some operating procedures.

Included is a provision which permits citizens to address the board at the end of the board meetings. Any citizen can file his request to be heard with Michael Igoo, board secretary.

Crusade Opens Annual Drive

The Crusade of Mercy opened its 1971 campaign for $33,836,954 at a luncheon in Chicago last week.

Eight suburban-based companies were among the 27 to receive Early Bird Awards for showing a significant increase over their last year's drive and giving a minimum gift of $16.50 per capita by Sept. 23.

One of the companies was the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of Des Plaines.

Already $4.1 million of the $33.8 million goal has been reached, $2.2 million of which came from the 27 Early Bird companies. The increase per capita is almost 10 per cent higher than last year.

The Crusade of Mercy combines the appeals of the Community Fund of Chicago, the Mid-America Chest Council and 90 of its member chests and funds into one annual campaign — the Chicago area's largest charitable drive.

"The cost of funding the campaign is only 5 per cent because of the time and effort contributed by thousands of volunteers. Ninety-five cents of every dollar contributed goes directly to serve the community," a crusade official said.

To Moderate Panel

A Grove Junior High School teacher will serve as moderator for a panel discussion sponsored by the Illinois Association of School Boards (IASB), Oct. 14.

Postal Rate Increase Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Postal Service said it probably will seek another raise in the price of stamps next spring, meaning it would cost at least 9 cents to mail a first class letter.

A postal spokesman said scheduled pay raises for mail workers would be the compelling reason for the increase, assuming that President Nixon's economic controls would allow it.

The newly organized Postal Service raised the price of first class stamps from 6 cents to 8 cents and air mail from 10 cents to 11 cents last May. The increases were put into effect on a "temporary" basis even though they have not yet been formally approved by the Postal Rate Commission. New increases can be put into effect in absence of action within 90 days by the rate group on a requested hike.

"It appears as though we will have to ask for another raise next spring," a spokesman for the Postal Service said.

The spokesman said the exact amount of the increase had not yet been determined. He said the minimum increase, however, probably would be 9 cents for first class letters and 12 cents for air mail.

Combination Measles, Mumps Rubella Vaccine Developed

A combination vaccine for measles, mumps and rubella has been developed, according to an article in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

The vaccine, which researchers claim is safe, simple and effective, was tested on 715 children. The children, seven months to seven years old, had never had measles, mumps or rubella.

Overall, 96 per cent of them developed immunity to measles, 96 per cent to mumps, and 94 per cent to rubella, the article said.

MEASLES AND mumps are currently on the rise. Experts at the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta predict the total number of measles cases may reach 80,000 this year almost twice as many as in 1970.

The triple-purpose vaccine may serve to combat this rise, especially where it is used on children who might be difficult to reach on more than one occasion, the study said.

Authors of the article are Dr. Joseph Stokes and Dr. Robert E. Weibel of the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine; Dr. Victor M. Villarejos and Dr. Jorge A. Arguedas of the Louisiana State University International Center for Medical Research and Training in San Jose, Costa Rica; and Dr. Eugene G. Buynak and Dr. Maurice R. Hilleman of the Merck Institute for Therapeutic Research, West Point, Pa.

Joint Boards Discuss What They Want From Builders

Buildable sites, not wet leftovers, are what Schaumburg Township school board and park district members want from builders: they'll work together to secure them.

A talk session that stressed the importance of communication and joint effort gave school board members and Schaumburg Township Park District officials from four communities the opportunity to exchange planning information.

School Dist. 54 Board of Education Member Adam Jelen set the Thursday session to discuss park lease agreements between the district and Hanover Park, Elk Grove, Schaumburg and Hoffman Estates park district representatives.

Milton Derr, assistant to the superintendent, said all the park districts except Elk Grove now lease schools in their communities to provide facilities for indoor programs.

DIST. 54 HAS no school in Elk Grove but the Centex Construction Co. developers of a 1,100-acre single family development in the southeast corner of Schaumburg Township have donated a school site to the district.

The school district hopes that a school can be built there in the near future.

Children from the west portion of Elk Grove Village in Schaumburg Township now attend the Schaumburg School.

Attorneys for Centex and the school district are working out the legal points of a tentative agreement to build a school and split the costs.

The school district would pay back the other half of building costs within a 10 to 15-year period.

DERR SAID BOTH parties have reached tentative agreement but added legal and state requirements must be met.

It has been the general policy of Dist. 54 to deed land around their schools to the park districts for development as a park site rather than keeping title to the land themselves.

This has been a good working arrangement said Derr as he talked about the Schaumburg Park District's present development around the new Dirksen School.

The school board members stressed the importance of a joint concern and cooperative effort in obtaining sites from developers. Derr said the schools need "buildable land" and since this district's policy has been to give the surrounding land around the building to the park district that portion of the site too should be "buildable," but often is not.

The present park lease agreements between the school board and park board are still in effect and the representatives plan to meet again before the end of the school year when new agreements will be made.

Drags Cycle 2.6 Miles After Crash

A Mount Prospect resident's auto hit a motorcycle in Wheeling early Saturday and dragged the motorcycle for more than 2½ miles under his car before he was stopped by Wheeling Police, according to police.

Joseph C. Biela, 23, of 105 Albert St., Mount Prospect was charged with leaving the scene of an accident, driving while intoxicated and failure to yield when turning left in connection with the accident.

Police found the motorcycle rider, Michael S. Franklin, 17, of 905 McHenry, Wheeling, lying on the street at Dundee Road and Milwaukee Avenue. Police said the youth had severe head wounds.

The youth was taken to Holy Family Hospital where the doctors used approximately 30 stitches to close the wounds, police said.

Hospital officials yesterday said Franklin was in "very good" condition and would be released from the hospital today.

POLICE SAID the accident occurred at 12:44 a.m. Saturday on Dundee and Wolf Roads. A passing motorist who saw the accident flagged down a Wheeling policeman.

Police stopped Biela with the motorcycle wedged under the car near the Lamplighter Apartments at Wolf and Palatine Roads, 2.6 miles south of the scene of the accident.

Police estimated damage to the car at $100 and damage to the motorcycle at $300.

Newcomers Club Will Hear Village Fathers

Elk Grove Village officials are scheduled to speak about the community Wednesday at a meeting of the Newcomers Club at 8 p.m. at the Salt Creek Country club.

The meeting, open to the public, will include comments from Charles Zettek, village president; Harold Harvey, president of Elk Grove Township Elementary Dist. 59 school board; Edward Hauser, president of the park district board, and Robert Fleming, president of the library board.

tion at Northwest Community Hospital is Ralph Kaiser, 108 N. Forest Ave., Palatine. He is charged with burglary, aggravated assault and resisting arrest.

Police also arrested two other suspects in connection with the alleged break-in. Apprehended at the time of the shooting was Paul Hilderger, 24, of Fox River Grove. An Itasca man, John Schvette, 21, was arrested Monday morning by Palatine police.

Both men were charged with burglary. Police say Kaiser was stopped behind the medical building about 1 a.m. Sunday and was told that he was under arrest. The youth then reportedly moved toward the policeman, apparently with an object in his right hand, police say.

PATROLMAN FRANCIS Bischoffer,

44, fired one shot, hitting Kaiser in the abdomen. Police say the youth then fled the scene. Bischoffer has been with the department for 13 years.

Kaiser went to the home of a friend. Police say he told the friend's mother he had fallen on a picket fence, and had suffered a puncture wound.

The woman bandaged the youth and about noon Sunday suggested to her son that Kaiser be taken to the hospital, according to police. He was transported to Northwest Community Hospital by cab.

Police report that a television, radio and a large quantity of drugs were taken from the medical offices. They say the stolen material has been recovered.

Bond for all three men charged in the case was set at $1,500 each.

DIANE MURPHY and Neil Cooney of the Bank of Elk Grove examine toy dolls for the Christmas dress-a-doll contest sponsored by the bank and park district. The dolls will be donated to needy children after judging is completed. Further information may be obtained by contacting the bank.

The Lighter Side

by Dick West

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The airlines, whose average occupancy rate recently dropped to less than 50 per cent, have invented a wide variety of bargain fares in an effort to attract more passengers. And the variety is getting wider almost daily.

A few days ago, I called Trans-Puddle-jump to see how much it would cost to fly to Vainglory Beach in the Faltering Islands off the coast of Quimp.

"On what day of the week will you be going?" the reservation clerk inquired.

"On a Monday," I replied.

"Good. And what color suit will you be wearing?"

"I WON'T be wearing a suit. If I am going somewhere by air, I usually swaddle myself in a prayer shawl."

"That's too bad," the clerk said. "I had thought perhaps you might be able to take advantage of our Monday blue suit special.

"On alternate Mondays, male passengers to Vainglory Beach are given a 15 per cent discount if they are wearing blue suits."

I said, "I'm sorry, I can't qualify. Do you have any other bargain fares?"

"Let's see. Is your wife accompanying you?"

"Yes."

"What is her birth date?"

"February 14th."

"Great. That means she is eligible for our Zodiac half fare plan. If you buy a round trip ticket at the regular fare, your wife, as a married female born under the sign of Aquarius, travels for half fare, provided you do not stay more than two and a half days."

"WE HAD planned to stay longer than that. But I'm a Capicorn, if that helps any."

"It may help a lot," the clerk assured me. "If you were fortunate enough to have been born during the last week of December, you are entitled to join our year end birthday club."

"The membership fee is $3 a year and by showing the card you can get a first class seat with a coach ticket any time you fly on your birthday."

"It sounds too good to be true," I said.

"That's wonderful," I said. "But I'm planning to make this trip in October. Is there anything you can do for me then?"

Very much so. If your plane should be hijacked to Germany during the Octoberfest, the beer is on the house.

"I'll pick up the tickets tomorrow."

by Oswald and James Jacoby

You don't have to bid a five-card major suit opposite an opening no-trump. Even if you play Jacoby Transfer you should not feel bound to bid one automatically.

The North hand illustrates this. He has 12 points and five spades with every suit stopped. Some would just raise to three no-trump. We favor the Stayman two-club to check if partner holds four spades. When he rebids two diamonds we forget about spades and jump right to the no-trump game.

It is just as well. Four spades will probably make, but a heart opening and continuation will give the defense two aces, the king of trumps and a heart ruff.

On the other hand, South should have no difficulty bringing home 10 tricks at no-trump.

He wins the heart lead in his own hand and analyzes the lead as fourth best—probably from a five-card suit. He wants to guard against West getting the lead after the hearts are cleared. He proceeds to do this by leading a diamond toward dummy. If West rises with his ace, South can take the spade finesse later on with complete safety.

If West ducks South comes to his hand

DuBrow On TV

by Rick DuBrow

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Johnny Carson's weekend special marking the start of his 10th year as NBC-TV's "Tonight" show host was not only delightful but also surprising in reminding us what a great sketch comedian he is.

When a performer is on as much as he is, virtually night after night for year after year, we tend to take him for granted, and even get a little snippy because he is not always the way we want him to be. He has taken his cuffs from the critics because of the tendency to underestimate his consistent powerhouse performance.

Some have needed him because of his seemingly frequent absences from the "Tonight" show — and all those substitute hosts. One of the gags going around is Carson was going to be permanent host of "Tonight" if details could be worked out. As for myself, I think anyone who is on as often as he is deserves all the vacations he can get. You need them to stay fresh, and nothing keeps you fresher than earning all that nice loot on the side.

THERE HAVE been justified criticisms that Carson's anything-for-a-gag attitude does not create the best atmosphere for guests who may have something worthwhile and serious to say. He is a master of the wisecrack, and some guests frankly don't feel at ease with this. But again, he is basically a comedian, and he has a precise attitude of what he should be on the air, and it works. The key point is he is an extremely intelligent man with a serious vein — which is clear to anyone who watches his show — but he wants to entertain above all.

I have long felt that television has never had a better communicator than Carson's predecessor as "Tonight" host, Jack Paar. And there is no question that Dick Cavett, who is Carson's ABC-TV competition, has an unusually good talk show. But there is this to say: as urbane and charming as Paar and Cavett are in their conversation and monologues, Carson's fascination is that he can, on schedule, set aside his businesslike manner and plunge as a master craftsman into sketch comedy of the classic low style. This is a gift, and has tradition.

I REMEMBER that in my review of his premiere in 1962 I mentioned something to the effect that he looked like the kind of fellow who might be overwhelmed by something as robust as, say, a good ranch breakfast. Watching his anniversary show last Friday night — a 90-minute outing in which he reran some of the funniest moments from his past "Tonight" programs — it struck me how commanding he had become over the years; in short, how robust his comedy outlook now was.

Among the segments he showed once again on the special was a positively classic takeoff on the high-powered, wheeler-dealer used car salesmen and land sellers that one sees particularly on Southern California television. With a gorgeous blonde who played it dumb as his assistant, Carson roared at high speed through a marvelous mixture of satire, double entendre and old-fashioned low comedy in a manner that would have wowed them in the heyday of great burlesque comedy.

Just Politics

by Bob Lahey

Rep. Philip Crane

Results of the annual voter poll of U. S. Rep. John N. Erlenborn, R-14th, reflect confidence in President Nixon's handling of the war in Vietnam which is shown in other surveys by Republican congressmen across the Midwest.

In the Erlenborn survey, 58 per cent of those responding rated Nixon's withdrawal plan as "good" or "excellent." Adding the 16 per cent who rated the policy as "average," the number of those who could be said to favor the President's action climbs to 74 per cent.

More than 80 per cent in a recent poll by Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-13th, supported the Nixon Vietnam policy. In Cadillac, Mich., a poll by Rep. Guy Vander Jagt showed 67 per cent in favor; and Rep. Donald Brozman of Boulder, Colo., reported 81 per cent backing the President.

McClory also reported that 68 per cent of the voters favor the Nixon strategy for withdrawal over plans proposed in the Senate by Democrats George McGovern of South Dakota and Mike Mansfield of Montana.

THAT FIGURE includes 40 per cent who expressed satisfaction with the plan now being followed by the president. Another 28 per cent, Erlenborn said, backed a policy proposed by Rep. Robert McClory, R-12th, and co-sponsored by Erlenborn in the House of Representatives.

Based on terms set by the President, that resolution would direct him to set a withdrawal date following a cease-fire and return of U. S. prisoners, and to be matched by withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops.

The McGovern and Mansfield proposals were favored by 28% evenly split between the two. The McGovern-

Hadfield amendment would require an end to the war by a fixed date, based only on return of prisoners. Mansfield's plan called for withdrawal in nine months, also subject to return of prisoners.

Mailed just five days after Nixon announced the wage-price freeze, the poll brought a response of 81 per cent who said they favored government controls. But on handling of the economy in general, Nixon got his lowest marks, with 40 per cent rating him good or excellent, and 14 per cent considered him "failing."

Breakdown of the voter response to the President's performance was as follows:

VIETNAM withdrawal: excellent, 25 per cent; good, 33 per cent; average, 18 per cent; poor, 14 per cent; failing, 9 per cent.

Domestic unrest: excellent, 14 per cent; good, 31 per cent; average, 28 per cent; poor, 15 per cent; failing, 9 per cent.

The economy: excellent, 14 per cent; good, 26 per cent; average, 23 per cent; poor, 20 per cent; failing, 14 per cent.

opened in 1966. She accumulated as an Auxiliary Volunteer from June, 1966 to Oct. 1969 2463 volunteer service hours. In February, 1969, Mrs. Madsen assumed the paid position of receptionist. She has also continued as an active Auxiliary, serving on various committees within that organization.

Mrs. Roseanne Skarda, director of volunteers, describes Mrs. Madsen as "one of the most dedicated employees and Auxiliaries. She does so many things above and beyond the call of duty. Fran has a deep concern for the entire medical center which is reflected in her steadfast devotion to it."

Mrs. Madsen spends six days a week at her job, dispensing information and greeting incoming patients and visitors. Mrs. Madsen also trains Junior Volunteers after school so that they can assist at the information desk.

The mother of grown twin sons, Mrs. Madsen has three grandchildren who range in age from one to five years old.

The Doctor Says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I'll skip formalities because I forgot most of them over here, but I can still write my requests. I've just read about gonorrhea being the No. 2 infection in the United States. Well, I feel it would be a great service if you would have an article explaining the symptoms, what they cause or do to your sexual organs, and what cures there are and what early detection and treatment will do.

Being in Vietnam for seven months, stationed just outside of Saigon, "The World's Sin Capital," I've seen a few cases of things and have broadened my life with knowledge I'd like for you to pass on to other young people.

Also, I feel this point should be one of the heaviest points stressed in sex education in schools. I would be very pleased if you passed my point of view along to people who are in charge of sex education in schools.

Dear Reader — Your idea of including information on venereal disease in sex education is right on target. With each freedom should go a little responsibility. The truth is that an informed public using mature judgment could wipe out venereal disease.

The main point I'd like to make is that anyone can go to his or her local health department (city or county, depending on local organizational structure) for a free examination and treatment for venereal disease. Lack of money is no barrier to medical attention for anyone.

Gonorrhea is spread by sexual activity. In the male, the inflammation causes burning and itching during urination. A discharge may soon follow. The creamy or yellow discharge and discomfort usually warns the man. The female may have no symptoms and no noticeable discharge, other than her normal amount of natural secretions. She can be infected and not realize it. In the male, the tubes to the testicle are involved and may become scarred, making him permanently sterile. The tubes in the female are similarly affected and may cause permanent sterility.

GONORRHEA CAN also cause arthritis, which is particularly difficult to treat.

The woman taking birth control pills is twice as easily infected on exposure to gonorrhea. The pills affect the normal acidity of the vagina, which helps to ward off germs.

Syphilis can cause an infection without any evident signs. A small sore may develop soon after exposure but it may be so small, or within the vagina, that it goes unnoticed. Untreated syphilis is the great imitator, causing problems similar to almost all diseases known. It causes heart disease, brain disease, joint disease, and paralysis.

Venereal disease can often be prevented by using an old-fashioned condom. However, with sexual promiscuity the danger is always there, and particularly now with venereal disease reaching epidemic proportion — some say out of control. If you have been exposed, the wise course is to have an examination.

The high rate of V.D. and the sterility it causes may well eliminate the danger of a population explosion in the United States unless the problem is brought under control.

Birchers Join Campaign

Local members of the John Birch Society have joined in a nationwide campaign being conducted by the conservative political organization to dissuade President Nixon from making his planned journey to mainland China.

"Please, Mr. President, DO NOT GO!" is the title of a four-page letter with space at the end for five signatures which is being circulated to members and friends of the Birch Society, and sent to the President.

The letter has met with good response in the Northwest suburbs according to Charles P. Conrad, 105 E. Lillian Ave., Arlington Heights, chapter leader in this area.

THE LETTER cites several reasons why the anti-Communist society believes the President should not make his scheduled visit to Peking.

It alleges the United States is still technically at war in Korea with China, that Chinese arms and equipment are being supplied to North Vietnam, that Chinese propaganda supports revolutionary activity in this country and that China is the leading producer and exporter of heroin and opium.

"There are too many people who never write to Congress, to the press and especially to the President," Conrad said. "We feel this is a good opportunity for concerned Americans to exercise their right to speak out on a major issue and that the cause could not be more important."

He said copies of the letter are available and interested persons may contact him at home.

Lobbyist May Represent Schools

A lobbyist may be representing local school districts in the Illinois Legislature this year.

At a meeting Saturday, members of the Northwest Education Cooperative (NEC), representing 10 local districts, recommended that high school districts 211 and 214 hire William Hinkel to lobby in behalf of local education interests. Final approval must come from the district 211 and 214 school boards. Elementary school districts in NEC include: 15, 21, 23, 25, 26, 54, 57 and 59.

The move to lobby for education was begun by a group of high school districts on the North Shore called the "Education Research and Development Association" (ED-RED). The group, composed of seven high school districts, hired Hinkel and invited other high school districts to share his services and his $24,000 salary.

WITH THE addition of districts 211 and 214, ED-RED will include 14 districts and represent one sixth of the legislative strength of the state. The group will also represent 30 representative districts and one third of the student population in Illinois.

ED-RED invited districts 211 and 214 to join their group at a meeting last month with the NEC legislative action committee. Alex Casper, head of the committee, recommended Saturday that NEC approve the proposal. If one or both of the two local high school districts join ED-RED they will represent the interests of the entire NEC group. The cost will be shared by the elementary school districts on a voluntary basis.

Hinkel formerly worked as the legislative representative of the county education office when Robert Hanrahan was in office. He has proposed giving the ED-RED districts a weekly report on legislative activities including meeting dates and the progress of pending legislation. In addition, Hinkel proposes "developing educational proposals needed by member districts and working against passage of legislation that is deemed hazardous to suburban schools."

NEC To Revamp School Insurance

by BETSY BROOKER

The Northwest Education Cooperative (NEC), a group of 10 local school districts, hopes to beat high insurance costs by breaking the stronghold of insurance companies on the school market.

High premium rates and strict protection regulations have driven school districts to break from traditional property insurance coverage. Since 1970 business managers in NEC districts have been studying ways to bypass high insurance costs and still receive adequate insurance coverage. NEC districts include: 211, 214, 15, 21, 23, 25, 26, 54, 57 and 59.

At a meeting Saturday, representatives of NEC districts listened to a proposal for a county-wide group policy for school districts presented by Donald Krutek of the Arthur J. Gallagher and Co. insurance brokerage. Krutek said the cost would be lower because of two factors. First, a large number of school districts would buy the group coverage. And second, the liability of the coverage would be shared by several insurance companies.

"Our problem is that school business is no longer attractive to insurance companies," said Robert Weber, Dist. 214 assistant superintendent for business services. "Ten years ago the insurance companies were grabbing at our bids. Now, the number of incidents of school property destruction has risen because of such things as riots. And, as a result, we have to go out and look for a company to sell us a policy."

"WE HAVE decided it may be cheaper to pay our own losses rather than pay insurance premiums," said Weber. "By doing this we would cut out the insurance company's profit and we wouldn't have to pay for the losses in city schools."

NEC has been studying the possibility of self-insurance for several months. With such a system, each district would put aside a certain amount of money on a planned basis to cover its own losses. School officials may not be able to implement this system, however, because of a possible conflict with state law. School attorneys are currently studying the proposal.

NEC's second option, the county-wide group policy, was first proposed by Robert Hanrahan, former superintendent of Cook County schools. Hanrahan hired the Gallagher brokerage to survey the insurance problems of county schools, excluding the Chicago school district. According to Krutek, "our first conclusion was that county suburban schools should join a cooperative self-insurance program. However, because of the possible conflict with state law, we are now proposing that the schools join a group reinsurance program."

Reinsurance, in essence, means an insurance company would insure itself. In other words, one company would share the schools' liability with another by selling that company part of the policy. As a result, the schools' group policy might be held by several insurance companies. According to Weber, "reinsurance avoids the possibility of one company going broke because of a major school disaster."

KRUTEK TOLD NEC representatives his company will be able to implement the group reinsurance plan if it can secure commitments for annual premiums totaling $400,000. He said the 10 NEC districts represent 24 per cent of this amount.

"We could give each district a policy equaling the total value of property in that district," said Krutek. "Entry into the program would cost 10 per cent less than the current insurance rates. And we would refund each district any money it has paid to the company which was not used for losses. We anticipate these refunds would equal about 25 per cent of each district's premium."

School officials pointed out that one obstacle in Krutek's plan is that it does not include coverage for casualties. One official said the cost of casualty insurance will skyrocket if the districts take property coverage out of their present policies. Krutek proposed finding another market for the casualty insurance that would not cost more than current rates.

Krutek will meet with the NEC districts' business managers to further study the group reinsurance proposal. As a final solution, the school officials proposed working for legislation that would allow school districts to self-insure.

Are We Becoming a Nation of Hoodlums?

by Donald F. Morton, President
Arlington Heights Federal Savings & Loan Assn.

A woman is raped and slain, a whistle and hammer lying beside her in mute testimony to her pitiful effort at self-protection. Hundreds of people ignore the screams of a girl being assaulted in a gangway.

Forty young trees, costing $10,000 and years of culture, are wantonly chopped down in a forest preserve. A white swan is nailed by the neck to the wall of a school.

These are random samples of the kind of violence and vandalism that is characterizing the American scene. What a national magazine describes as "the shadowy uncertainty of the criminal landscape" is encompassing all of us, wherever we live.

Few Americans today can take an evening walk without misgivings or drive home without qualms about the car that seems to be trailing them.

"It is dangerous to be on the streets at night in Hyde Park and in many other parts of Chicago and suburbs," said the Chicago Tribune in a recent editorial. "It is dangerous to be on some streets, by night or day, in many American cities."

"There is something wrong," says the Tribune, "when the streets are unsafe in the richest country in the world."

The indignation of many Americans is expressed by a veteran journalist, Patty Johnson: "I'm fed up with a people who have concluded that the only way to settle a quarrel is with a gun, or that the only way to get a 'kick' is to destroy."

"Has violence become our national pastime?" she asks. "Have we become a nation of hoodlums?"

The evidence is overwhelming that we are fast becoming ruled by forces of lawlessness and violence. National publications have been filled with articles reflecting the fact that crime has become a major U.S. problem.

The first national conference on crime called by President Johnson in Washington in March 1967 produced a massive study, "The Challenge of Crime in This Free Society," that revealed many shocking facts about the maelstrom of crime into all walks of American life. "When all was said," reported a news magazine, "the reality of the spread of crime, both organized and individual... hung like a dark cloud over the conference and the nation."

The Commission itself made the baleful observation that the fear of crime has "eroded the basic quality of life for many Americans."

Many persons, including those who like to discredit the Federal Bureau of Investigation, have scoffed at the FBI claim that crime has increased 30 to 40 per cent nearly every year for the past five years. Yet the President's Commission findings indicated that crime is much more extensive than indicated by the FBI index, which is based on reported incidents.

The Commission noted that the actual amount of crime is several times what is reported to the police.

No One Ever Seems To Worry In Jamaica

DOCTOR'S CAVE BEACH — A backdrop of high mountains, clear Caribbean waters, and white sand characterize the beaches of Jamaica. This is popular Doctor's Cave Beach, center of the resort life of Montego Bay, the "in" spot for international travelers for better than two decades. (Delta Air Lines Photo)

There's a very special kind of relaxed life — and a very special easy-going mood — in Jamaica.

Jamaicans have a word for it "Soon come." This unhurried, "why rush?" tempo is great for banishing worries and tensions.

We felt this mood come upon us on the 600-mile flight from Miami to this balmy, green, mountainous island.

Jamaica is an ever-changing place. So, even if you've been there in the last few years you can go now and find a new look.

For instance, there are Swamp Safaris — run daily, featuring crocodile wrestling and other thrills — guided by Ross Kananga, $1.50 a person.

You can have a relaxed ride on a bamboo raft down the Martha Brae River, just a mile out of Falmouth, at $10 per raft for two.

Then there's a torchlight trek on the Great River, four miles outside of Montego Bay. This new river adventure, started last January, features drinks, dinner and entertainment.

Got a yen for ghosts and grandeur? Then you'll like the tour of the newly restored Rose Hall Great House, one of Jamaica's most elegant 18th century plantation mansions. From 9 a.m., daily tours, priced at $2.50 per person, treat visitors to a view of Rose Hall as it was when Annie Palmer, "the White Witch," reigned over the beautiful 6,600-acre plantation outside Montego Bay in an orgy of amour and murder. Lunch, cocktails and cold buffet dinners served in the Dungeon Pub, along with good calypso music, provide modern day witchcraft.

Our favorite spot in Jamaica is the small banana port, Port Antonio. That's not saying Montego Bay, Ocho Rios and Kingston don't have their fascinations — but somehow Port Antonio seems like the real Jamaica.

It's surrounded by forested blue mountains, nestled around the rim of a magnificent twin harbor on Jamaica's north-eastern coast.

We're told that Errol Flynn sailed his yacht into its twin harbors many years ago and fell so in love with this classical West Indian town he never left it.

The sea around Port Antonio is one of the richest fishing grounds in the world — with marlin, yellowtail, dolphin, kingfish, wahoo and bonito to fill the wells of off-shore fishing boats.

Probably one of the most popular Port Antonio attractions is the seven-mile rafting trip down the Rio Grande (This is sister to the new rafting ride on the Martha Brae.)

Whenever we travel we like to visit the "off-beat" places. In Jamaica we found the best way to do this is to "drive-in-yourself." It's great fun to rent one of the lively open-air Perambulators (called

Excellent road maps are free for the asking — and a few questions here and there should help you come up with some great routes for exploring on your own.

Ever look at pictures of glamour people stepping off a plane — waving and smiling — and looking fresh as morning sunshine?

And do YOU sometimes feel a bit bedraggled — and somewhat like a wet noodle — after a long flight?

Just a few simple tricks and tips can make your next long jet trip easier.

First — what to wear? Look smart, of course. Just be sure it's comfortable. Check what the weather and temperature will be at your destination, and dress for it.

For the gals on the go, pantsuits are perfect. But please don't wear belts — or anything binding. That means no girdle; for sure! (Better plan on a good exercise program — and DIET — the month before you take-off.)

DON'T rush out and buy a new pair of shoes for your flight. Wear the loosest pair in your closet because sometimes, no matter what precautions you take, your feet will swell — especially on a transatlantic flight.

I have a friend who has a job that keeps her jetting back and forth to Europe several times a year, and she wouldn't think of boarding an airliner without wearing support hose. She tells me some of the airline hostesses wear them on long flights.

"I put them on while I'm lying in bed in the morning of the day I'll be flying — before my feet have had a chance to swell the least little bit. They really work!"

If you're planning to snooze, so you'll be bright-eyed and alert when you land, the best place to sit on the plane is over the wing. You'll have to sacrifice the view — but if there's something extra-special to gaze at, you can always get up and look out somebody else's window.

Whatever you do, try to avoid the seats in the tail — it's the roughest going there.

When you sit on the aisle you have more room to stretch your legs — and it's easier to get out when you want to move around. But, if you sit by the window on a crowded night flight you can brace your pillow against the side of the plane when you want to catch those 40 winks.

More about swelling feet. (Who wants to trot around on a vacation with unsightly thick ankles?) The minute you're settled in your seat take off your shoes and put on slipper socks. (If you're lucky enough to be traveling first class the airline will most likely furnish them — to be on the safe side, tuck in a pair in your flight bag.)

Stretch in the aisle as often as you can. The more you can move around, the better.

Gals — have your make-up kit handy in your flight bag. Be sure to apply plenty of moisturizer and keep a good supply of hand cream with you. Air on a plane is DRY.

A half hour or so before you're scheduled to touch down, take time to freshen your make-up. If you're on one of those overnight overseas flights, start from scratch — with cleanser, skin freshener and a whole new face job. I find eye drops work wonders too.

Fellas — a quick shave after an overnight flight makes the day at your destination feel a lot better.

Just a little pampering... that's all it takes while you're in flight... and you'll leave the plane feeling like those VIP's look as they smile and wave in those photos you often see.

People-To-People Tour Planned From Palatine To Palatine

Announcement of plans for a "People-To-People" tour of Palatine residents to their namesake town of Pfalz (Palatine), Germany, to depart sometime next year, was made by Robert Howey, general manager of Around the World Travel, Inc., at the company's recent grand opening "Octoberfest" celebration.

At the open house, attended by over 600 persons, Hans J. Baumann, manager of the German National Tourist Office, read a letter from the Mayor of Mainz, Germany, to Mayor John Moodie, of Palatine, congratulating the travel agency and inviting the people of the community to visit Pfalz to receive his personal welcome.

Pfalz, for which Palatine was named by its early German settlers in 1855, is just north of Mainz.

Representatives from major airlines, tour operators, foreign tourist bureaus, and other VIPs from the travel industry were among those who enjoyed the imported beer and German buffet and sang and danced to the Cafe Berlin band, according to Mrs. Pat Heise, public relations director.

"They didn't have trouble finding us with the colorful giant-sized beer wagon at our entrance," commented Mrs. Heise.

Sally Grant, of the German Tourist office, dressed in native Bavarian costume, stood at the wagon and greeted the guests as they arrived.

Geegan Makes It Happen! Mustangs Blast Huskies

by DON FRISKE

Bill Geegan has every right to be a proud and happy football player. The Rolling Meadows quarterback ran the ball 14 times for 81 yards, passed the ball only five times for 90 yards and scored all four Mustang touchdowns.

"What can you say about Geegan? He's been leading this ball club with a lot of poise," Meadows junior varsity head coach Angelo Barro praised after his junior signal caller surprised hosting Hersey, 27-6, Friday night.

Barro was also pleased with the running of halfback Gary Enderle and fullback Larry Pressl. Enderle carried the ball six times for 53 yards and Pressl four times for 44 yards. "With Pressl doing such a fine job up the middle, it was possible for our halfbacks to run the sides," said Barro.

The factor which made all of the rushing yardage successful was the Mustangs' line play.

"The offensive line was the difference in this ball game. I was especially pleased with the blocking of Bill Blackmore, Jack Lloyd, Bob Sloan, and Dave Sander," Barro commented.

Making up the rest of the Meadows line were center Kevin Harrington, guards Mike Meyer and Sloan, tackle Len Link and end Pat Early.

Hersey's jayvee team not only lost the game, it also lost an 18-game winning streak. It was the Huskies' first loss at home and their overall record is now 25 wins and 3 losses.

"Meadows did a fine job and they should have a good varsity team next year," said Hersey co-coach Dan Thyreen.

"They just out-manned us," added Hersey's other co-coach, Dick Fulk.

Rolling Meadows, now 2-1, scored the second time they had the ball. On a drive which started from the Mustangs own 32 yard line, Geegan finally took it in from the three.

Meadows had never scored a two-point conversion in five attempts, so Barro had Sloan try to get an extra point on a kick. But the kick was low and Meadows had a 6-0 lead.

A few minutes later, Geegan again scored on a goal line plunge. The drive covered 40 yards on six plays. Halfback Gordon Johnson ran for the two extra points and Meadows had a 14-0 lead.

After Mustang Mark Shannon intercepted a Hersey pass, Geegan started things again by gaining 14 yards. Just two short minutes after the previous Meadows scoring play, Geegan ran the ball in from the five yard line. Again the extra point attempt was successful. This time though Sloan kicked it to make it 21-0 at halftime.

"It felt good to get those first extra point conversions, one on a run, one on a kick," said Barro with a smile.

Penalties, "one of our biggest problems," according to Barro, plagued the Mustangs again. They were hit with flags ten times for 70 yards while Hersey only made three mistakes for 35 yards. The most costly Meadows' error came in the third quarter when a 75-yard scoring run by Geegan was brought back on a clipping call.

Meadows' final score came early in the third quarter on a 91-yard drive. Most of the march was consumed on an 80-yard pass from Geegan to Sander.

Meadows was deprived of a shutout late in the fourth quarter. Hersey scored a touchdown on a drive that started from its own 34. After Hersey quarterback Mark Krause failed to get it in from the Meadows' one, halfback Greg Jacobs scored the final touchdown of the game.

"These boys showed me the spirit of not quitting," said Barro. "It was the best team effort of the three games we've played so far, with everyone contributing."

IT'S TOUGH ENOUGH to beat one opponent, but Forest View had to beat two foes, in effect, in Friday night's game of the week on the Falcons' field.

Not only did Paul Jordan's bunch topple a tough and promising Schaumburg unit, 20-0, but they also had to conquer a rampant flu bug — or, rather, contend with it — before their opening Mid-Suburban League victory could be achieved.

The game, third of the season for each team, left Forest View still unbeaten with its best start in six years and Schaumburg still searching for that initial triumph in the school's first year of varsity competition.

Now, about that second enemy the Falcons had to face last week — make that for the last two weeks.

"The flu has really been making the rounds on our team," said coach Paul Jordan. "In the last two weeks, about half the team plus two coaches have caught it."

"In this game, two of our best players who had it were Don Divito and Dave well. If his hole inside is plugged up, he just scoots outside through another one."

After Pryor and Company struck for two more quick scores, the hosts could breathe easier and concentrate on preserving their shutout. They have now yielded one score in three games.

Each coach lauded the efforts of the opponents. Let's start with Jordan on Schaumburg:

"They hit hard and really impressed me, especially being a varsity team for the first year," he said. "I'll tell you, they're going to give some teams a hard time."

Ferguson said of the Falcons, "They're a real tough, run-oriented team. They just wore us down after a while. They played us, but we don't have the bodies to do that. Their defense is exceptional."

"I was proud of our kids too. Our defense did an exceptional job in the first half. And we only let them complete one pass downfield the whole game."

On this point, Jordan said, "We had felt that their pass defense was something we could beat, but we couldn't take advantage of it. Every report we heard was that nobody had run that much against them, but we were able to."

Individually, he singled out Steve Blake, a defensive back who "was tough against both the run and the pass" and intercepted two aeriels. "And everybody in our lines did well," added Jordan.

Ferguson had praise for Saxons John Gimmier (linebacker), Mark Lasardo (defensive end), Brian Wicklund (tackle) and Steve Hall and Bob Cummings (defensive backs).

Offensively, little halfback Glen Hayes played his usual fine game with 67 yards in 17 carries.

Ferguson felt there were a couple of turning points for his squad in the first half when mistakes killed great scoring chances.

"In the second quarter, when it was still 0-0, we had a second down on their six and a mental breakdown caused a fumble that we lost," he recalled.

"And before that, in the first quarter, there was one play where a Forest View defender fell down leaving our receiver open. But he dropped the pass. He might well have gone all the way."

Were it not for these little goofs, Forest View might have been playing much more difficult catch-up ball, changing the whole shape of the game.

But the Falcons deserve double praise — for overcoming both the flu and the Saxons.

Fremd's cross country team Saturday found Wisconsin soil just as appealing to run on as that in the Land of Lincoln.

The powerful Viking harrier program flexed its muscles from top to bottom as it swept top honors on all three levels in the Midwest Meet in Janesville, Wis., against some of that state's top teams and also some fine ones from Illinois.

On the 18-team A level, essentially the same as varsity, the Vikings romped to an easy victory with 56 points to Rockford Guilford's 117. Arlington finished seventh and the other Herald area entry, Rolling Meadows, was 18th.

Mark Nugent was Fremd's top finisher with an excellent 12:36 time for fourth place. Next were Jamie Olson, sixth with 12:42, and Bill Gross, seventh with 12:44. Steve Imbody was 18th with 13:02 and Al Rohrer was 21st with 13:05.

Winner of the race was one of the best juniors in the state, Paul Sewell of Rockford Guilford. He checked in in a snappy 12:05.

Jim McGrath was Arlington's leader with 17th place. The Cardinals were kept from a higher finish when one of their best runners, Scott Barnett, was not able to finish the race because of a pulled hamstring muscle.

Other Arlington counters were Neil

Haseman, 19th; Tom Jarm, 26th; Tom Holub, 45th; and Dave Tremblay, 57th.

Rolling Meadows' entries were Jerry Porters, Mike Suerth, Carl Straumann, Chuck Brynolson and Steve Cage.

"I was quite pleased with our first three times," commented Fremd coach Ron Menely, "especially since it was such a hot, humid day, plus the fact that we had had a hard workout the day before. This can hurt some kids."

"I felt our fourth and fifth men left some room for improvement. It was a fairly flat course."

Fremd won on the B level with 42 points to second-place Arlington's 99. The Cards had the individual winner in this one, Bill Schmidt with 13:25 for 2.5 miles. Fremd's top man was Ed Pittenger with fourth place. The Vikings had four of the top nine in the B race.

Winning Fremd total in C competition was 25 points, well ahead of runner-up McHenry's 88. Arlington was fifth with 144 and Rolling Meadows 11th with 331. Best area runner in this division was Wilson Fieldhouse with second place.

In Mid-Suburban League action Tuesday, Fremd hooks up against Maine West and Conant at the Union Oil grounds, Arlington hosts Palatine, and Rolling Meadows entertains Prospect.

Game Of The Week Analysis

Schneider (an all-area candidate at fullback and linebacker). Those boys really played a gutsy game. Schneider was really feeling bad at game time and sure wasn't at his best, but he gave it a fine effort and blocked real well.

"Our practices have really been hurt by all the illnesses. So many guys have missed a day or two that we haven't been able to work on certain things or make some changes like we wanted to."

"What pleased me most about our team," Jordan went on, "was that we were able to carry on as well as we did even under the circumstances."

For half the game, it seemed doubtful the Falcons would be able to do so. Even though the hosts had the better of the statistical battle in the first half, they had nothing to show for it on the scoreboard.

"We were pretty tired and frustrated at halftime," Jordan recounted. "We had been down in their territory in great field position several times but penalties kept us from scoring."

An outburst by Mike Pryor was responsible for the comeback at the outset of the second half. He set up the first score, carrying six times for 54 yards to the one and was also instrumental in the other two drives, scoring the second TD from 10 yards.

Pryor ended up with a soaring 208 yards on 37 carries, a 5.2 average, and earned raves from opposing coach Bob Ferguson.

"That kid just has tremendous moves," Ferguson said. "He's so darn quick and fast. I was a halfback in college and the pros and I know a fine back when I see one. Pryor reacts extremely

Conant 9th On Varsity Level; Frosh-Sophs 1st

Deciding to break the monotony of local competition and try its hand against downstate schools, Conant's cross country team ventured south Saturday only to finish ninth in the 13-team Pekin Invitational.

The Cougars' times were high but weren't as bad as they might appear. "That's got to be the toughest course anywhere," declared Cougar coach Jack Ary of the three-mile layout. "It seemed like that thing had mountains."

Todd Waldron was Conant's best runner for the day with 17:28 for 26th place. Following were Mark Lindberg with 18:06 for 46th, sophomore Kent McDill with 18:20 for 51st, Glen Charlton with 18:34 for 54th, Steve Watron, another soph, with 18:44 for 57th Dan Schneider with 18:48 for 60th and Ron Jolubski with 19:03 for 66th.

The Conant highlight of the day was first place by the fine frosh-soph squad over a 2½-mile course. Even with two of their best runners on the varsity level, the Cougars were very impressive with five of the top eight.

John Bond finished second for the sophs with 14:16. Rick Jensen was fourth with 14:33, Bob Every was fifth with 14:39, Dave Manslof sixth with 14:41 and Dave Elderkin eighth with 14:55.

The Cougars will host Maine West and Fremd Tuesday at their home course at the Union Oil grounds.

Harper 7th At Vincennes

Harper College made its annual trip to Vincennes, Ind. for the hosting school's invitational, but the Hawks' cross country team could do no better than seventh in the nine-team meet.

Vincennes won the event with 21 points with Harper totaling 177.

"I think we ran fairly well considering this was their first invitational and the competition was pretty good," said Bob Nolan, the Hawks' coach. "I think we could have run better, however."

Elk Grove's Pat Dunning covered the 4.2-mile Elks Country Club course in 22:58 which was only good enough for 24th place. Right behind was Steve Feutz of Conant with 23:01 for 25th.

Taking 38th place was John Geary of Palatine with 24:01 to round out those Hawks who finished in the top 50. Wheeling's Frank Savage, just coming out for the team and "not really in shape," according to Nolan, was 56th with 25:54. Vince Weidner of Arlington was 61st with 27:20.

The Hawks, 8-0 overall and 2-0 in Skyway Conference duals, will return to league action Wednesday afternoon when they host Triton and Oakton colleges at the Ned Brown Forest Preserve course in Elk Grove beginning at 4:00.

Joe McCarthy, who managed the Cubs between 1928 and 1930, the Yankees between 1931 and 1946 and the Red Sox between 1948 and 1950, was the most successful of all managers. He had the highest winning percentage of all skipper (614 with 3,489 wins and 2,126 losses) and won 10 pennants and seven World Series.

Elk Grove's Powell 2nd In Invite

In what is rapidly becoming a prelude to the state cross country meet, the 26-team Ridgewood Invitational drew some of the area's top teams in its annual competition.

Elk Grove and Schaumburg finished 11th and 16th, respectively, in the class varsity gathering with 365 and 423 points. Grenadier Brian Powell was the individual hero as he nailed down second place from the field of over 130 runners.

Powell yielded the top spot to Oak Park's Larry Gnapp who ran away with honors in 15:05 over the three-mile terrain that was bunkered by a steep hill.

Others contributing to the Elk Grove team total were Tom Ziffra (23rd), Fred Klink (101st), Glenn Afryl (116th) and Doug Nowak (123rd).

Schaumburg, meanwhile, ran in a consistent pack for its 16th place finish. Arnold Jackson paced the Saxons with a 12th place clocking while teammates Mike Carey captured 81st, John Schevikhoven 93rd, Doug Warlick 115th and Wayne Jensen 122nd.

On the frosh-soph level, Elk Grove combined for an eighth place landing with Schaumburg nestling in 15th. Grenadiers Dave Dill (seventh), Dave Jackson (13th), Fred Flude (38th), John Faust (98th) and Mike Fiscus (112th) registered 268 team points.

Schaumburg accumulated 426 points on the efforts of Doug Carver's 52nd, Bob Solik's 89th, Mike Istok's 90th, Frank Hevener's 96th and Mike Scheuler's 99th. Hinsdale South grabbed team honors with 66 points behind Bob Patrick's new course record of 16:21.

Lions Trample St. Joseph

The St. Viator varsity cross country team upped its dual meet record to 5-1 after trampling a young and experienced St. Joseph squad, 18-45.

The Lions flooded the finishing chute with seven of the first eight runners in dominating Proviso West's 2-7 mile layout.

St. Viator's consistent pacesetter Joe Sweeney led the romp with a 14:59 and was shadowed into the chute by teammate Bill Ellsworth in 15:04.

The Chargers countered with Mike Lynn's third-place finish in 15:09, but it was all Viator after that. Joe Gunterman led a parade of five Lions in 15:15 with Tom Orrell, Randy Hughes, Kevin Green and Greg Franzen putting the decision in the victory column.

The frosh-soph Lions were even more convincing as they guided the first five runners into the chute for a perfect 15-50 romp. Mark Nelles raced over the 1.75-mile course in 10:43 with Steve Kansen (11:11), Mike Chmela (11:12), Jim Garcia (11:19) and Bob Kohn (11:23) in hot pursuit.

Hawks Trail Rock Valley In Golf Test

Wedgewood Golf Course proved a mystery to the Harper College golf team.

The Hawks, playing in a triple dual at Joliet Friday, finished a distant second to Rock Valley as none of the locals could break 80.

Rock Valley totaled 319 strokes for its four-man team, 10 less than the Hawks. Then came Waubesa with 331 and Joliet with 341.

Brad Stake led the Hawks with an 80, Scott McMillion was right behind with 81. Joe Fritz and Frank Fenton rounded out the scoring with 83 and 85, respectively.

Harper coach Dave Etienne was not pleased with his team's showing over the par 72, 6850-yard layout. However, he said he had hopes of better things to come with the addition of two new players — Steve Leggett, a freshman from Conant, and Jeff Long, a Highland Park freshman. Both shot well as preps.

Housing Dilemma Must Be Solved

"Inevitable" is a good word to describe the future of moderate and low-income housing in the northwest suburbs.

For the past few years, the mere mention of such housing has produced fear and anger among local residents. As indicated by the public's reaction to the proposal to moderate-income housing in Arlington Heights, it is a very unpopular concept.

But it is not a concept which will vanish, despite the 6-1 rejection last week by the Arlington Heights Village Board of a moderate-income housing plan.

In fact, action on several fronts indicates suburbanites had better be prepared for an increasing public discussion with public officials on the topic of housing.

For example, last week the Housing Authority of Cook County (HACC) and the Chicago Housing Authority (CHA) announced an agreement which brings public housing much closer to the northwest suburbs.

Under the agreement, the HACC and CHA can develop up to 500 units of low-cost housing in the suburbs. Up to half of the families participating in the housing may be taken from the CHA's housing lists, according to the agreement.

Included in the agreement is the proviso that the Cook County Board has the final authority to select sites in unincorporated areas, a move which increases the possibility of moderate or low-income housing in such areas. In villages and cities, the decision still rests with the village board or the city council, which is likely to be more responsive to local needs than the County Board might be.

The agreement adds that the HACC "will do its best to enlist the support of individual citizens, community groups and organizations" in seeking housing. Suburban low and moderate-income housing may be near, but it is clear the HACC does not want to make unilateral decisions on it.

Likewise, other groups have stressed the need for discussion and cooperation. The Cook County Council of Governments (COG), for example, held a panel discussion of prominent local, state and federal housing officials to answer questions from village and city officials about housing.

COG officials have encouraged its housing subcommittee to encourage the continuation of such communication — a step which may help dispel some of the confusion and fear based on misinformation on the subject.

An additional step which would help would be the formation of an area housing commission. Representatives of six or seven communities would do well to form such a group.

The key word is "inevitable," and if our response is guided by a knowledge of housing, plus an understanding of what our neighbors in other communities feel about the problem, we can adequately cope with the inevitable.

A reaction marked by fear, confusion and apathy will be the result of failing to regard such housing as inevitable. It will be a disservice to our own best interests if we react in such a way.

Nixon's 'Hat Tricks' Are Fizzling

by BRUCE BLOSSAT

Some Republican realists think that President Nixon's "surprise a month" tactic (China visit, new economic policy, Hirohito in Alaska) will wear thin and yield diminishing political returns.

Says one experienced analyst: "He'll do some more hat tricks. But after awhile, they'll be seen for what they are."

Ever since the President announced his forthcoming trip to Peking, stress has been put on his capacity to command events, to astonish and disconcert his potential 1972 Democratic presidential adversaries.

This is all very real. But now two off-setting points are being made: 1) that overuse blunts the tactic, and, 2) that Nixon may not be getting as much immediate political benefit from his surprises as was first thought.

A view that has a fairly strong hold among some GOP hardheads is this:

The President is the relatively unpopular head of a distinctly minority party. It has been suggested that he ought to borrow the playing jersey of Washington Redskins' star running back, Larry Brown. It bears the number "43," and Nixon never seems to get above that figure in polls measuring his pull on the American electorate.

For a time in 1969 some leaders, perceiving that large elements of labor were

Richard M. Nixon

"floating" and presumably available for the taking, tried hard to woo workingmen discontented over Democratic attitudes. The GOP had failed even before deepening unemployment set in. One White House spokesman said candidly that Republicans didn't know how to roll up their sleeves and drink beer with the blue-collar types.

No such effort goes forward today. Since he appears unable to gain material new strength with the electorate, what then will the President do to try to assure that 48 per cent is enough to win in 1972? Adds the analyst quoted at the outset:

"He will attack his Democratic adversary, whether Muskie or Kennedy or whoever. If more people won't vote for

She Stabs Computers With Staples

From time to time I have mentioned the fact that machines and I are not compatible. "Hostile" best describes our relationship. My washing machine continues to frustrate me and has taken to eating Wally's socks since I first publicly slandered it. Vending machines still rob me, anything mechanical still scares me, and I would become a lady hermit except for one thing. I can communicate with computers. Sort of.

Actually, I don't communicate with them so much as I get around communicating with them. It's all done with staples. Computers get heartburn from staples.

How I discovered this is a long story, so pull up another cup of coffee and listen if you have the time. But don't bother if you've never been tempted to write something in the space that says DO NOT WRITE IN THIS SPACE or to accordion pleat a punch card that says DO NOT FOLD, SPINDLE OR MUTILATE.

Once upon a time I was so browbeaten by DO NOT that all our furniture still wore the tags that said DO NOT REMOVE THIS TAG UNDER PENALTY OF LAW, even unto the day we gave the stuff to Goodwill. I can't quite pinpoint the day that I rebelled — Wally thinks it was the same day I told him to go to hell after I offered him three choices for lunch and he said no to all of them — but rebel I did. After telling Wally to go to hell I ripped the DO NOT REMOVE THIS TAG from every mattress and chair in the house. I wrote WHY? in the forbidden space. I folded a punch card

And nothing happened.

Soon after that I received one too many notices, form No. 2347X, from a company which claimed I owed it $18.75, which I did not. I already had seven 2347X answers to my letters of protest and the last thing in the world I wanted was eight of them. I wrote one more letter. This time I stapled a two-inch hem in it, multi-stapled a copy of my canceled check to the letter and then I think I went a little berserk. I stapled the whole prickly wad to the card that warned me not to mutilate it and I kept on stapling until my stapler ran dry.

And I got results. A collection agency threatened us with garnishment of wages unless we paid up pronto.

At long long last, I had heard from a human being, albeit a nasty one. I wrote back, saying how thrilled I was to hear from a warm body instead of a cold computer and would the agency please extend my greetings to the company together with the assurance that I had no intention of paying the $18.75 because I had already paid it I never heard from the computer or the collection agency again.

My staple theory was reinforced about six months ago, when I replied to an offer from a publisher. Surely there is no greater test than with a magazine or encyclopedia publisher when it offers you one volume "absolutely free and absolutely without obligation." When you put the little token in the YES slot, you've had it. Absolutely.

Dorothy Meyer

Nevertheless, I dared — I put the token in the YES slot and wrote a letter daring them to send me volume A to AMM despite the fact I had absolutely no intention of buying AMM to AZT, BB to BOL or any other volume, and kindly put a VER to ZWO to any thought of sacking a salesman on me. I used so many staples when I hitched the letter to the punch card that it was only six light of having to go parcel post. It was worth it I received my free volume without a bill, a follow-up or a 2347X.

Having the upper hand with computers is a pretty heady feeling, believe me.

ARRGGHH — I just remembered. This newspaper has recently converted to computerized typesetting. What if there's a brotherhood among computers and phlrm jngbt amnovit asiou stfjqlmbzzzt? I could be vnneto ystmak flnlpkdt!

Seymour Simon's Candidacy Hailed

I was very delighted and overwhelmed that a man with the capabilities, stature and the sincerity of Alderman Seymour F. Simon, announced his candidacy for Governor of the State of Illinois.

There is no doubt in my mind that a man like this is sorely needed in the State of Illinois. Not only was he very successful and outstanding as county commissioner of Cook County, he has also proven to be an outstanding alderman in Chicago. Furthermore he is a very successful lawyer.

There are very few men who know state laws as well as he does and I believe he has proven that he is a man who can stand on his own two feet and fight for what he believes is right for the people.

What makes him more outstanding as a candidate is that he truly represents all people and not just a selected few or just takes sides with the politicians.

I hope with all my heart that Seymour F. Simon runs for the office of Governor of the State of Illinois, for there is no doubt in my mind that he will be elected and the people of the State of Illinois will benefit most by electing this wise, learned, intelligent and compassionate human for the high office of Governor.

Rivalry Not 'Hated'

Since moving to Arlington Heights, I have found the sport's section of your newspaper informative, interesting and enjoyable. I have never had reason to be critical until reading Larry Everhart's column of Tuesday, Sept. 21.

Larry's reference to St. Viator High School as Hersey High School's "hated neighborhood rival" was in my opinion an extremely poor choice of words. It seems to me that the sport's pages of a newspaper offer a tremendous opportunity to further among our young people an appreciation of the positive aspects of competition devoid of the negative elements of rancor, hostility, unsportsmanship and hatred.

I sincerely hope that the use of the word "hated" to describe a degree of rivalry among neighboring high schools in our community has no greater implication than that the writer's limited experience in seeking out a more appropriate word to describe the relationship between two fine schools.

Thoughts For Chewing, Digesting

A dissertation of G. K. Chesterton essay "On Lying In Bed."

The sentence around which I'm writing is: "Thus, it is considered more withering to accuse a man of bad taste than of bad ethics."

Ethics refers to the good habits one learns to perform through our upbringing and Christian principles we have been taught. For the church-goer the thought of ethics would have a religious significance. For a person who does not go to church, the thought of good taste would be his choice. He really puts religious ideas into practice through the good taste and discretion he shows toward clothes, meals, manners and spending of money properly. Ethics, good taste and also to add a most recently adopted new word, Ethic, (pertaining to nationality) would include the morals of the human race and what would be good or bad for one person would also be good or bad for the other since ethics and good taste are and always have been of the same generation.

Now I leave you for the time being with these thoughts and you may chew and digest them as you please.

Hospital Site Action Confusing

Your editorial of Sept. 27, on the poor hospital planning of Schaumburg village trustees was excellent. Your summary of the total situation was both clear and concise. Unfortunately you published the editorial a week late — had it appeared in your Sept. 20 paper, perhaps our trustees would have given more thought to their fickle actions.

Many of the citizens of Schaumburg want a hospital in this area. Most of them do not care if it is built in Schaumburg or Hoffman Estates. Others do not want a hospital.

Few, if any, citizens want a 57 acre planned unit development on Schaumburg Road.

Few, if any, want to see Sarah's Grove destroyed.

I still fail to understand what the privileged information held by Mayor Atcher was other than the fact that Mr. Brandel will help Schaumburg get its hospital.

I fail to understand how its trustees can rape the village and neighboring residents by exchanging a planned unit development for a "possible" hospital site.

I fail to understand how this hospital site can be considered acceptable — being located on a secondary road in a already congested area next to an elementary school.

I fail to understand why the trustees would vote to destroy Sarah's Grove.

If a hospital is so important to Mayor Atcher why not stipulate that the P.U.D. could be built after completion of a hospital?

Schaumburg has taken one giant step backwards. The "horse trade" we made with J. Emil Anderson & Sons stinks of a Chicago political deal. If this type of planning continues, it won't be long before Mike Royko will be writing a book about the leader of our United "Citizens" Party.

Finally, you pose the question of whether the village trustees are willing to change their minds and oppose the formal ordinance for this development. I word the question in stronger tones — Are the trustees going to listen to all the people who elected them and do they have the courage to vote against the formal ordinance?

Business Today

by LEROY POPE
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—An earnest political ecologist told a women's club luncheon meeting "Lake Erie is dead no fish no microscopic life, no nothing."

The club ladies were impressed, even shocked, but Ted Fearnow, company biologist and land manager for ITT's Pennsylvania Glass Sand Co. at Berkeley Springs, W. Va., reading about it in the local paper was suspicious. He telephoned the New York State Fisheries Bureau.

"Lake Erie is filthy all right," he was told, "but it still yields 60 million pounds of commercial fish a year."

This is part of the phenomenon which caused the New Yorker magazine, which sparked popular excitement over ecology by pre-publishing Rachel Carson's "Silent Spring" to remark recently that in the war strategy of the conservation movement, exaggeration is a standard weapon.

ITT, whose many divisions are spending $100 million on a 10-year environmental program, has collected more examples of exaggerations and distortions by ecological alarmists and enthusiasts.

For example, publisher Thomas Shiphard of the now defunct "Look" magazine reminded folks in a recent speech that although the rivers that flow past Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, St.

Louis and Memphis look messy nowadays, they no longer spawn epidemics of typhoid and yellow fever. Back in the days when these streams looked limpid and pure, people died in periodic epidemics from drinking their waters or from Yellow Jack spread by mosquitoes bred in their backwaters.

Who ultimately removed the pall of smoke that hung over Pittsburgh for decades? The same steel companies that caused it.

Are the air pollution and water pollution rates really as catastrophic as the alarmists would have us believe? No, says ITT. New York officials say the rate of water pollution in the state dropped 10 per cent in 1970-71. Statistical evidence shows that, in spite of automotive exhaust pollution, most of our major cities have somewhat cleaner air—at least during the winter months—than in the years when most factories and homes burned soft coal.

Nevertheless, ITT Chairman Harold S. Green considers the nation's environmental problem urgent or he wouldn't be spending that $100 million.

He does think most of the "doomsday" talk is nonsense. That industry and public authorities have the ability and the will to win the ecological battle. He said industry will spend $20 billion on the job in the next five years.

Company's Biggest Store

Woodfield Penneys To Open Tomorrow

Civic and business leaders will join J. C. Penney Co. executives in Schaumburg, to mark the opening of the firm's largest department store. The event is set for 9:30 a.m.

The new store, a 330,000-square-foot full-line unit, is located in Woodfield, a regional retail development at the intersection of Rt. 53 and Golf Road, approximately 26 miles northwest of the Chicago Loop. While the Woodfield unit is the largest of Penney's nearly 1,700 department stores, it is the firm's 15th store in the greater Chicago metropolitan area and its 54th in Illinois.

Opening simultaneously with the Woodfield store Oct. 6 will be a 240,000-square-foot Penney store in Waukegan's new Lakehurst Shopping Center. Other nearby Penney stores are located in Golf Mill Shopping Center, Niles, Yorktown Shopping Center, Lombard, and downtown Elgin.

Situated at the western end of the double-decked Woodfield mall, the new Penney's will have 64 departments on two levels, offering a range of the firm's private brand hardlines and a large assortment of fashion apparel and other soft lines.

Penney's free-standing auto center is adjacent to the store and includes a 20-bay service area with two 52-foot diagnostic testing lanes. Repair services can be performed while customers are shopping and a broad range of automotive accessories will be sold, installed and serviced at the center.

THE PENNEY STORE was designed by the national planning and architectural firm of Charles Luckman Associates. The fully air-conditioned building has a structural steel frame and a dark brick exterior which contrasts with the white stucco of large cantilevered canopies located above the three parking-lot entrances.

The skylighted canopies, which are more than 30 feet long and extend 15 feet from the building, provide a strong visual identity for the building and protect shoppers from inclement weather.

Manager of the new Penney store is Richard W. Real, a 23-year veteran of Penney merchandising. He was formerly manager of Penney's at Dixie Square Shopping Center in Harvey.

The size of the firm's Woodfield store will permit special attention to fashion in Penney's apparel collections and other soft-line areas, said Real. The collections are assembled from the latest styles in such fashion centers as Dallas, Miami, New York and Los Angeles.

As a full-line department store the Woodfield store will carry a complete selection of Penney's new private-brand hard lines such as Pennerest color television, stereo and hi-fi, refrigerators and freezers, drivers washers, air conditioners, floor care appliances, typewriters, penicraft paints and hardware, and Foremost sporting goods and automotive products.

Two service areas which contribute to the completeness of the new Penney unit are the 165-seat coffee shop on the lower level and the beauty salon on the upper fashion floor.

Other conveniences customers will enjoy at the new Penney's will be a catalog center, centrally located customer service and wrapping counters, and several methods of payment including time payment, layaway, and revolving charge accounts.

Ask The IRS

This column of questions and answers on the Wage and Price Freeze is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service.

Q—DURING the first week of August, my union reached agreement with my employer on a new contract giving me a wage increase. However, the agreement has yet to go into effect. Can I still get the additional wages?

A—The new rate can be paid if labor and management had reached an agreement and work was performed or wages accrued prior to August 15 at the new wage rate.

Q—DOES THE Internal Revenue Service have any publications giving information on the freeze?

A—Yes. Copies of "The Wage Price Freeze: Some Questions and Answers" can be obtained without charge by dropping a postcard to your IRS District office. The booklet is also available at many post offices throughout the country and from the 10 Emergency Preparedness Regional Offices.

Q—MY APARTMENT lease specifically provides for me to pay for any increases in property taxes. Can my landlord now raise rent on the basis of a property tax increase?

A—No. This is not permitted during the freeze.

Q—MY EMPLOYER hired me on a probationary basis. The established practice of the company is to increase wages at the end of the probationary period. My probationary period ends in two weeks. Can I still receive a wage increase?

A—Yes. The probationary period is similar to an apprenticeship or learners' program and the wage increase may be granted if the probationary period for the job does not exceed three months.

Q—CAN A landlord evict a tenant for refusing to pay a rent increase during the freeze?

A—No. A landlord is in violation of the freeze if he attempts to evict a tenant for refusal to pay rent in excess of the ceiling rent applicable to his rental apartment or house.

A tenant threatened with eviction over an increase in rent during the freeze should immediately consult the Internal Revenue Service. The IRS has 360 offices throughout the country to investigate complaints and provide information about the freeze.

Industries For Cleaner America To Meet Here

Two industries featuring services for a "cleaner America" will meet in Chicago Oct. 7-9 at the Conrad Hilton Hotel and McCormick Place.

It is the joint annual Convention Exhibit of the National Automatic Laundry and Cleaning Council and National Carwash Council. Over 6,000 participants will witness 200 exhibits showing the latest in coin-op laundry drying/cleaning and automatic carwash equipment.

Over 40,000 coin-op stores serving 30-million families now gross more than $1 billion annually. The present 10,000 carwashes will grow to over 30,000 in the next several years. Respectively, the revolution in wrinkle-free textiles and the increasing trend toward greater car care, indicates continuing rapid growth for both these industries, reports Ward A. Gill, council executive vice president.

The Home Care Nurse

Help Is There For Anyone Who Needs It

by MARY B. GOOD

When doctors cut down on house calls, their homebound patients didn't just go away.

To meet the ever increasing health needs of the community, home care nursing was born.

If the roof houses an invalid husband with bedsores, if grandmother lacks bladder control or if the family can't cope with the shock of learning their child has an incurable disease, they may need a home care nurse.

Home care means that the patient can go home a few days earlier. It means the family can save soaring hospital costs and that the hospital will gain needed bedspace; it means the physician knows his patient will receive excellent nursing attention long after she has left the hospital and hopefully, prevent readmission by receiving better follow-up care.

MOST PEOPLE do not realize that these valuable services are available in this area — and many times — free of charge.

Three local hospitals, Alexian Brothers Medical Center, Northwest Community

Hospital and Holy Family Hospital, all extend home care services to outgoing patients. (Lutheran General's program is in the drawingboard stage.)

"Lots of people don't understand what we mean by 'home care,'" said Mrs. Carolyn Stevens of Northwest Community Hospital. "Sometimes they think we do custodial care or clean house."

"On doctor's orders, I may go in every day to get a widow with a broken leg dressed and ready for the day. Or I may visit only once a really young mother with no relatives who needs guidance in coping with child care," said Mrs. Stevens.

"We just wish more doctors begin to use our service," she added.

ALTHOUGH THE cost of the Northwest home visits is $12.50 per hour, Medicare pays for some patients; insurance policies cover others. "And we keep in mind what the pocketbooks will bear," said Mrs. Stevens.

Where nurses from the Cook County Health Department are sent out by the hospital's home care coordinator at Alexian Brothers or Holy Family Hospitals, there are no fees charged for the visit at the present time. (The Cook County Department of Public Health makes available on request a free booklet, "Home Health Benefits under Medicare.")

A major portion of Mrs. Stevens' work is with Medicare patients. "Many people attach a stigma to nursing homes," she said. "Ever since the recent expose, some people think all nursing homes are bad. We offer names of excellent facilities, or suggest that the family might be able to care for their elderly patients at home with our help." Home care is a great financial savings over a nursing home.

"ADULT CHILDREN are often torn apart in conflict over whether or not to put their elderly parents in a nursing home. Many times they turn to us for help. The attention a parent might get in a good nursing home is not very different from hospital care."

Mrs. Stevens gave an example of an elderly person experiencing mental confusion. "I suggested the person would be better off at home. Before he was released, we counseled the family members, showed them how to cope, explained how to 'do' for him. By the time the patient was released, the family knew what to expect and how to handle it.

"We followed through with home care immediately. With an atmosphere of confidence surrounding him, he snapped out of his confusion just like that!"

THE COST OF PUTTING a visiting nurse in a home is very expensive — but residents of Arlington Heights get this skilled care free of charge from their village government.

Mrs. Andrea Zama and her assistant, who are paid by the village, offer services to residents which run the gamut from teaching prenatal care to caring for the aged. Des Plaines absorbs the cost of its own program to residents. In addition the Des Plaines Nurse and Welfare Association, a service apart from the city-run agency, is located in Des Plaines, supported by the Community Chest, it has been around for 40 years.

So you don't live in Arlington or Des Plaines or weren't hospitalized at Alexian Brothers, Northwest Community or Holy Family? As long as you live in

Cook County, you can get skilled nursing care following discharge from a hospital or nursing home. Service is provided by the Cook County Public Health Nurses, free at this time, as prescribed by the attending physician.

THE PHYSICIAN, the patient, his family, a neighbor or friend may call to request this county service or talk with any hospital home care coordinator.

Rita Bakewell, supervisor of public health nurses, North District Cook County Department of Public Health (in Des Plaines), said that her staff is also there to help the handicapped, answer questions about Medicare benefits, handle minor problems new mothers may be having with their babies, or refer newcomers to other sources of help.

It doesn't matter whether he be rich man or pauper, if a person is sick and needs home care, this area provides for him.

Janet LeMon, Alexian Brothers home care coordinator said, "People have the mistaken notion that home care is for the indigent. Not so — it wouldn't make a shred of difference if one of our patients was the Queen of England."

The Home Line

by Dorothy Ritz

Dear Dorothy: Applied some linseed oil mixture to our furniture and without giving it a second thought put the cloth I used along with some other rags. A nasty fire burst out a little later and the firemen said it probably started from spontaneous combustion and suspected the only rags thought a mention in your column might alert others. —Mrs. Kenneth Padgett

A lot of people ought to be grateful to you for this kind of forceful reminder based on unhappy personal experience. Any and all rags used with combustible materials ought to be disposed of promptly. And since you mentioned linseed oil, this is a good time to remind people that when instructions call for boiled linseed oil, they mean linseed oil so treated by the manufacturer — and people should never even think of boiling linseed oil themselves. Can't tell you how many get confused on this one thing and there are times I wish the designation of the stuff could be changed.

Dear Dorothy: How can one keep onions from spoling? Even when I just get a pound (and how could you buy less?), I usually find one that has decayed — at least partly. —Allie T.

You probably just don't use up your onions fast enough. If onions are stored in a loosely woven net sack and stored at slightly cooler than room temperature, they should last several months. They also do poorly if there is high humidity in the room. If you're not a big onion user, you'll just have to buy them as you need them.

Dear Dorothy: Notice many readers are having trouble with hems as they try to lengthen their dresses. It may not work on permanent-press garments or on hems which have changed color because they are worn, but I've had great success by using a piece of wool on the let-out hem, then pressing it on the right side with a steam iron. —Judy F.

'Rumpelstiltskin' Opens Juniors' Story Hour

"Rumpelstiltskin" and "Dick Whittington and His Cat" open the 1971-1972 Story Hour season at 10 a.m., Wednesday in Arlington Heights Memorial Library. Children age 4 through 6 are invited to the weekly half-hour sessions. Movies are scheduled for the first Wednesday of every month in the Dunton Room.

On the remaining Wednesdays of the month, children will assemble in the story-in-the-round center of the youth department of the library. Members of the Arlington Heights Junior Woman's club will present short stories, poems, songs and fingerplays.

"The Club is continuing the 'topic' approach again because of its great success last year," says Mrs. Barry Brune, chairman of the activity. Each week one topic is assigned and stories and poems will be chosen to pertain to this topic. Mrs. Brune and Mrs. Justine Tarpy, children's librarian, are coordinating bibliographies of recommended books relating to each topic. Puppet dolls for "Goldilocks" and "Little Red Riding Hood" and a large flannel board with felt pictures will be used as visual aids during the year.

Topics this month are: Oct. 13, Nature and Trees; Oct. 20, Animals of the Zoo; and Oct. 27, Fairytales. Movies scheduled for Nov. 3 are "Cats for Sale," "Puss in Boots," and "Fiddle De Dee."

Arlington Juniors has sponsored the Story Hour for children during the school months for the past 11 years. Average attendance last year had expanded to 80 as compared to the 25 who attended each week when the project first started. The Story Hour is now continued through the summer months by the library staff.

Coffee and a variety of programs are offered for mothers at the same time their children are hearing stories. On all Wednesdays except the first of each month, Friends of the Library will present speakers or entertainment in the Dunton Room. Mrs. Richard Kieffer, program chairman, announces that during October programs will include Anne Chalkits of Paddock Publications and a group from Village Theatre previewing scenes from up-coming plays.

A Big Band For Clearbrook Brunch

The big band sound will again resound at Arlington Towers when Friends of Clearbrook School holds its seventh annual fall brunch Sunday, Oct. 17. The band, the Clearbrook Symphony, is a group of local musicians who in years past played with name bands.

Director of the band is James Mason of Arlington Heights, a member of the Clearbrook board.

Chairman of the brunch is Mrs. Richsonality — all will be offered by Jule Martoccio, guest speaker at Thursday's meeting of the Catholic Women's Club in Nazareth Hall, St. Joseph the Worker School, 171 W. Dundee Rd., Wheeling, at 8:30 p.m.

Mrs. Martoccio is a wife and mother who has also found time to pursue many personal interests. As an attorney-at-law, a commercial law teacher in Chicago public high schools, a columnist, lecturer, author and playwright, she has a full life.

Her book, "Zany Zodiac," a humorous text on astrology for laymen reflects her interest in that subject and lends its name to the program she presents. The book won first place award in the 1965 Illinois Women's Press Association competition and a second place award in national competition. It has brought the author recognition on radio and TV and given her more new fields to explore.

Mrs. Anton Loyal, the club's program chairman, and Mrs. Alfred Torrist and Mrs. Albert Abraham, co-hostesses for October, invite all women of the parish to attend and bring their friends.

A Day Of Renewal At Pistakee Bay

She will be speaking to the St. James women Monday, Oct. 18, at the Victorian Retreat House on Pistakee Bay. Buses will leave St. James School at 9:15 a.m., returning by 3 p.m. Women will be bringing blankets or lawn chairs as the program will be held outside, weather permitting. For the casual day, slacks will be worn by the women.

The price of $2.50 will include a chicken salad luncheon with dessert and coffee. Reservations are due by Thursday, Oct. 14, by calling 394-3809 or 392-3006.

Get Ready, Go!

Here's a good preparation for a big date after a hard day at the office. Take a quick shower or bath, put a few rollers in your hair, then lie down with legs propped up and relax. Cover eyes with cold tea bags and unwind from a tedious day. After 20 minutes splash cold water or skin freshener on your face, change your clothes, apply your make-up and you're ready to go.

THE WISE OWL was one of the boutique items for sale last Thursday when St. Simon Episcopal Church Women, Arlington Heights, held their annual brunch for new and current members. Mrs. Scott Davis, left, heads a group of handicrafters who exhibited and sold their handicrafts at the brunch. Mrs. Anthony Tomaso is president of the Church Women and a contributor to the handicrafts as are Mrs. William White and Mrs. Samuel Keys. Nearly 100 women attended the brunch and 15 new members joined the group.

A Blue And White Wedding

A blue and white color scheme was chosen by Gwen E. Pratt of Palatine for her Aug. 28 marriage to Douglas N. MacGregor. Gwen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Pratt of 24 S. Ashland.

White Shasta poms and Israeli blue carnations decorated the First United Methodist Church for the double ring ceremony that took place at 12:30 p.m. Simple greenery and bows trimmed the candelabra.

Gwen's gown of white organza over taffeta was trimmed with Venise lace, and the same lace trimmed the high neck, a panel down the dress front and the hemline. A daisy motif was scattered over the panel and also on Gwen's attached train. A pale blue ribbon circled her waist forming a long streamer and there was another blue ribbon intertwined in the Venise lace. Camelot cap that held her veil.

The bridal bouquet of white daisies, baby's breath and forget-me-nots was tied with matching blue streamers.

Gwen's sister, Mrs. Edward Jones of Riverdale, Ill., was her matron of honor and wore a navy blue cotton voile sleeveless gown with semi-bell skirt. Jumbo white rickrack and daisy motifs decorated the dress. Her nosegay of white Shasta poms, Elegance carnations, blue cornflowers and baby's breath.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas N. MacGregor was tied with long white streamers. James MacGregor, the groom's sister from South Bend, Ind., Martha Schmitt of Lansing, Ill., and Joan Froom, a sorority sister of the bride from Champaign, were the bridesmaids. Their gowns and flowers were identical to the matron of honor's.

Douglas, son of Dr. and Mrs. Philip J. MacGregor of South Bend, was attended by his brother Philip. Ushers were another brother, Scott, the bride's brother-in-law, Edward Jones, Gary Gibboney of Muncie, Ind.; John Holmstrom and Bradley Krieger, both of Champaign. Their pale blue pleated shirts carried out the blue and white theme, and Douglas had a forget-me-not boutonniere.

FOR HER daughter's wedding Mrs. Pratt chose a pale blue silk shantung dress with which she wore a purse corsage of Elegance carnations, blue cornflowers and Shasta poms. Gold cymbidium orchids complemented Mrs. MacGregor's blue, gold and beige silk paisley print gown.

Following a reception at Old Orchard Country Club for the 175 guests, the bride and groom spent a four-day honeymoon at Lake Geneva, Wis.

They now are living in Chicago while Gwen completes her senior year at Circle Campus after transferring from the University of Illinois at Champaign and Douglas attends Chicago College of Osteopathic Medicine.

They Pooled Their Future

A romance that began between fellow employees of a swimming pool company culminated Aug. 28 when Linda Brandstatt of Palatine became the wife of Ford Ablett of Hoffman Estates.

The couple were wed in a double ring ceremony at 5 p.m. in Community Church of Rolling Meadows, with the Rev. William Herman officiating. Their honeymoon to Florida was postponed until October when Linda gets a vacation from her job at Hallmark Pool and Ford from his at Pile Pool, both in Rolling Meadows.

Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Brandstatt, 3901 Emerson, and was graduated from Fremd High School. Ford, the son of Mrs. Ingrid Ablett of Chicago, was graduated from Prospect High.

Sheriff Probing Conduct Charge Against Conroy

by NANCY COWGER

An investigation is being conducted by the Cook County Sheriff's Department into a letter sent to Schaumburg officials and the press accusing Police Chief Martin J. Conroy of "gross misconduct" in showing leniency to a trucking company and hinting at bribery.

The letter, signed with the name Mike Greenfield but giving no other information about the writer, suggests Chief Conroy and two of his patrolmen were bribed by Greco Contractors Inc., Rosemont, not to charge a driver with interfering with the duties of a police officer.

Schaumburg Mayor Robert O. Atcher, village board members and members of the village fire and police commission received copies of the letter, dated Sept. 22, on or about Sept. 24. The Herald received a copy yesterday.

VILLAGE OFFICIALS believe the signature is a fictitious name, and term the letter a "crank letter" written by someone with "an axe to grind" against the police department. There is no Mike Greenfield, they said.

Included with the letter were photocopies of a police report on the Sept. 1 incident on which the writer based his claim, and copies of a trucking permit issued by the state department of public works and buildings for a Greco truck to transport construction materials.

Chief Conroy claims the papers, marked "not for publication," were stolen from his files. He said he believes one of his own men is responsible for the theft.

The incident referred to in the letter began when Patrolmen Daniel Coursey and Daniel McCarthy stopped a truck carrying wire mesh and traveling southbound on Meacham Road the afternoon of Sept. 1. The truck was accompanied by an escort vehicle driven by Frank Tanzillo, a company foreman, according to the alleged police report.

COURSEY INSPECTED the permit, which specified the mesh material had to be covered, said the report. Since the material was not covered, Coursey informed Tanzillo of the violation and that the truck was to be taken to a scale for a weight check, said the report. It alleges Tanzillo argued with the officer, becoming abusive.

On the way to the scale, according to the report, Tanzillo radioed to the truck driver to pull into the company yard on Meacham road. When the police also stopped, Tanzillo allegedly argued with Coursey and McCarthy, and tried to swing at them. They allegedly used Mace on Tanzillo, and took him and the trucker to the police station, telling them they were under arrest for interfering with the duties of a police officer.

At the police station, a member of the Greco family who had accompanied the police to the station had a conference with Chief Conroy. No charges were filed, although Greco and his employees were warned that further violations would result in police action, said the report.

THE GREENFIELD letter claims that a warning cannot legally be issued in such an instance. It suggests that the "leniency" shown to Greco resulted in Coursey's being placed on a list for promotion to sergeant, accuses Chief Conroy of "gross misconduct" and quotes 1 1/2 pages of village and state statutes defining bribery and setting penalties for offering or accepting bribes.

Chief Conroy yesterday denied any wrongdoing in the incident, and said he had requested an impartial investigation of the allegations by the Cook County (Continued on page 3)

Area Kids Get Fire Information

Children of Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg are getting first hand information about fire prevention, firemen and equipment as the stations in both villages open their doors for inspection during the current Fire Prevention Week observances.

Fire Chief Carl Selke of Hoffman Estates has scheduled tours of the fire stations and classes of school children are learning how firemen fight fire and work on fire prevention.

Fire Chief Lloyd Abrahamsen of the Schaumburg Fire Department urges families to conduct fire drills now.

He said residential fires are responsible for about half the nation's fire deaths and half of those deaths are children under 10 years of age.

"IN THESE COMMUNITIES children are receiving fire prevention literature in classes and hopefully will influence their parents to take fire prevention measures," he noted.

Chief Abrahamsen urges parents to prepare their families to handle fire situations before the emergency occurs, adding, most fires occur between midnight and 6 a.m., often when families are asleep and unprepared.

Statistics show that 37 per cent of the fires start in the living room, 22 per cent in the kitchen, 14 per cent in the basement and 14 in other miscellaneous areas and only 13 per cent in bedrooms.

Abrahamsen advised parents to conduct family fire drills and plan two exits from every room so if one is blocked a second escape route is planned before hand.

SOME POINTS HE stresses to those planning drills are:

- Sleep with bedroom doors closed to keep out fire gases and smoke.
- Establish a means for sounding a fire alarm to alert others in the family.
- Do not waste time getting dressed.
- Always feel the door to determine if it is hot before opening it. If it is, find another exit.

—Arrange an outside meeting place for the family to gather after escape.

—Notify the fire department from another phone as soon as you get outside. If someone is trapped tell them immediately and say where.

—In conjunction with the Jaycees the fire department distributes red circles to be placed on children's bedroom windows to alert firemen.

Any resident who would like the warning decals may obtain them from the Schaumburg Fire Department at 1435 Schaumburg Road.

Dirksen's Widow Dedicates School

by JERRY THOMAS

Her gray hair was not tousled as his often was. Her voice quivered when she delivered the dedication address. But the words she chose to say, thank you for naming the school after "my husband the senator," were as eloquent as words Everett McKinley Dirksen would have delivered.

Mrs. Louella Carver Dirksen came to Schaumburg Sunday to attend the School Dist. 54 dedication of the Everett McKinley Dirksen School.

After a morning brunch that was full of reminiscing and story-telling about her life with the senator she wanted to see Dirksen School.

WHILE SHE TOURED the two-story building, about 300 children, their parents and many grandparents watched her. One youngster got a big hug from Mrs. Dirksen when he told her "you look just like my granny."

"I am a grandma too you know," said the gracious lady as she walked through the 20 classrooms and marveled at the children's preparations for her visit.

She smiled at some of the children's cartoon work and said, "I am so impressed with the materials and the students' work that I must ask that you box it all up and let me place it in the senators library." Mrs. Dirksen wants to display the work so "others can see it and appreciate it as much as I know the senator would and I do."

She wore a handsome gold wristwatch on her right arm. "I like it because it was his and also because it has such an 'easily read face,'" said Mrs. Dirksen.

Her voice was loud and clear as she

Hundreds Attend School Dedication

The Everett Dirksen School in Schaumburg School Dist. 54 was named to commemorate the Senator from Illinois and the many contributions he made to state and country.

During a dedication ceremony Sunday hundreds of Schaumburg Township residents came to see the school building located on a 12-acre site donated to the district by Morwell Builders, developer of Timbercrest in Schaumburg.

Karl Plank, principal of Dirksen School presided over the ceremony and the Junior Girl Scout Troop 268 color guard posted the colors. Pastor John Sternberg of St. Peter Lutheran Church delivered the invocation and benediction. S. Guy Fishman architect, Donnie Rudd president of the board of education, led the audience in song during the dedication. As she walked to the podium to speak it was to the sound of her husband's voice on the loudspeaker as the record "Gallant Men" was played.

"I WOULD RATHER see one school,

Wayne Schaible superintendent of schools and Mrs. Louella Dirksen were speakers.

Members of the Frost and Keller Junior High bands under the direction of John Flamini provided music for the program.

Decorations were the work of the Dirksen teaching staff and students of the elementary school and each classroom was festooned with a media of materials.

Other notables present included Fredrick Downey mayor of Hoffman Estates several trustees from Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg, representatives of High School Dist. 211, board members of Dist. 54 Milton Derr assistant superintendent, representatives of the Cook County Board of Education and State Representative Eugenia Chapman.

$600 Auto Looting

Thefts from a car and store and $250 in damage from what appears to be vandalism were among cases reported to Schaumburg village police over the weekend.

More than $600 worth of merchandise was reported stolen Saturday when Grady Lynn Dobbs, 1100 Mercury, Schaumburg, told police his car had been broken into sometime after Friday evening. Dobbs listed as missing cameras and camera attachments, clocks, cutlery and flatware, china and a variety of cookware, including a table top broiler. Police found the car window apparently had been pried open, to unlock the car door.

Dorothy Garrison, an employee in the decorating department of Marshall Field and Co., Woodfield, told police Friday afternoon a $240 payroll check and about $100 in currency was taken from her purse in a storage closet at the store. The purse also contained credit cards, which she said were taken.

The vandalism occurred at Village in the Park apartments, where construction superintendent Roger Leitner discovered flags pulled down and a number of flag poles unscrewed from their standards. It is the fifth such occurrence at Valley Lake Drive, said Leitner, who estimated damage at $250.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon has decided to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act, setting in motion government procedures to order the nation's longshoremen back to work for an 80-day cooling off period. White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the order, when obtained from federal courts, would definitely apply to the West Coast dispute, now in its 96th day, and one of the longest in the nation's history.

The House handed President Nixon a key victory for his new economic policies when it refused to block his order delaying a $2.6 billion-a-year pay raise for federal workers for six months. The 207-174 vote upholding Nixon's order generally broke down along party lines in the House, but Republicans took advantage of Democratic defections and absences to carry the day for the President.

The State

Gov. Ogilvie announced a $25 million program to get 15,000 unemployed persons state and local government jobs. He said the program would provide jobs for about 10,000 welfare recipients plus about 5,000 unemployed "Vietnam-era" veterans.

Seven guards at Stateville Prison near Joliet were suspended because of the escape of three inmates Sept. 19.

A Peoria physician, Dr. John Mathis, announced he will be a candidate for governor unless a "responsible Republican" challenges Gov. Ogilvie.

The World

President Nguyen Van Thieu rolled up a landslide reelection victory in South Vietnam's uncontested presidential vote and called it a national achievement. "This is really a very good achievement of our nation and our people in the building and implementing of democracy," Thieu said. After the election the U.S. command announced one of its biggest American troop cutbacks in two years, a reduction of 3,200 men.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers outlined a new six-point Middle East peace proposal, pledging no letup in U.S. efforts for an interim agreement.

A powerful explosion demolished a British army post in Belfast Monday, injuring 10 soldiers and at least six passersby. Snipers shot a policeman in the back and troops wounded a sniper. The army post blast touched off a new wave of violence in the capital of religiously divided Northern Ireland.

The War

Communist troops responded to the South Vietnamese presidential election with the most attacks in 18 months, shelling bases along the Demilitarized Zone and in the vicinity of Saigon, military spokesmen said. Spokesmen said the 92 separate attacks in a 24-hour period were the highest since March 31, 1970, the day before the first South Vietnamese drive in to Cambodia, when 112 attacks were recorded.

Bowled Over By Development

Chicago Executives Visit

A host of Chicago area business executives came to Schaumburg last week to hear the success story of the fastest-growing community in the Chicago metropolitan area.

The shapers and planners of Schaumburg shared their experiences with the group of 160 members of the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry (CACI) participating in a grand tour of the village last Thursday. An invitation to participate in the development of Schaumburg, "city in the making," was extended by Mayor Robert Atcher and other village officials.

The CACI-sponsored program included a tour of Schaumburg, a luncheon; speeches by some of the principal commercial, industrial and residential developers in the municipality; and a visit to the new Woodfield shopping center.

The purpose of the gathering was to acquaint the Chicago brokers and business representatives with the achievements and potential in Schaumburg and the entire Northwest suburban area, according to Herbert Aigner, a village trustee. He is also chairman of the village development committee.

"THE BIGGEST THING that was shown is what can be accomplished through planning," Aigner said. "We are looking for the proper balance in planning and this includes school and park sites and services in addition to concern for adding to the tax base."

"I think there will be some startling developments in Schaumburg in addition to those already under way," he continued. He cited possible development of the Schaumburg Airport site as an example. Another development possibility in Schaumburg mentioned last Thursday was the plan for a regional style center, to include approximately 60 firms.

The CACI statistics already indicate that Schaumburg is among the giants of development in the Chicago metropolitan area. In its September issue of Chicago Land Developments publication the association indicated that Schaumburg is in the number two position in new construction volume for 1971, second only to the City of Chicago. The combined total value of industrial, commercial and housing construction reported through June of this year reached $38,249,334.

Regional planning is the key to Schaumburg's growth, Atcher told the Chicago businessmen.

He predicts that if all goes according to plan Schaumburg, upon completion, will be the center of commerce and industry for a concentration of one million people within a 10 to 12 mile radius of the village's northeast corner.

"EVERYONE I TALKED to at the meeting was just bowled over," he said of the reaction to the Schaumburg tour.

Discussing future development, the mayor said, "Schaumburg is doing a feasibility study on the advisability of taking over the airport. This would include the landing strip and service areas. The remainder of the land especially that fronting on Irving Park Road, would remain in the hands of the developer."

According to Atcher, the developer has contacted several manufacturers of light planes. "We are optimistic about getting several of these to locate here in a business aviation shopping center of the Midwest," he said. "Currently anyone who wants to buy a light plane would have to travel several hundred miles to see them."

HER HUSBAND'S favorite marigolds were used in the floral centerpieces during the dedication of Everett Dirksen School Sunday, but Mrs. Louella Dirksen wore a lei of orchids and a rose corsage while she toured the school. The lei was an unplanned gift from the principal Karl Plank's wife who had just returned from Hawaii.

Named For The Senator

place in my husband's heart and he believed as I do that this country has opportunity for all children," said Mrs. Dirksen.

She shared a favorite poem with the audience, explaining that it described "the senator" as she always referred to her husband.

The story tells of the travels of a young man and his easy conquest of a deep dangerous chasm. It goes on to describe how the man delayed his travels to stop and build a bridge over the chasm he had crossed. A friend questions the delay and argues that it is senseless "since you will never pass this way again." The young man agreed his passage is safe but explains that another youth must soon pass this way, and says "I am building for him."

"THIS COULD BE my husband," said the widow as she called her husband a good man who loved his country and his fellow man.

Yes, he loved marigolds too, she remembered as she laughed about how he chided her one day for "just poking them in when we were planting a bed."

"The senator was always very gentle and he looked at me with those big reproachful eyes and said, 'no dear you know you must talk to flowers when you plant them,'" said Mrs. Dirksen.

"Grow darn you, grow," I said as I mumbled and poked in the next flower. She remembered that the senator looked shocked but then laughed. "Those marigolds are now as high as my chin," she added.

As the dedication ceremony came to a close Wayne Schaible, superintendent of schools, told a story about Mrs. Dirksen. "I asked her how she felt about all those big smooches the senator always bestowed on ladies," said Schaible.

She answered, "funny, but he always had plenty left over when he came back home," said Schaible as he kissed Mrs. Dirksen soundly on the cheek and the dedication ceremony was ended.

Joint Boards Discuss What They Want From Builders

Buildable sites, not wet leftovers, are what Schaumburg Township school board and park district members want from builders: they'll work together to secure them.

A talk session that stressed the importance of communication and joint effort gave school board members and Schaumburg Township Park District officials from four communities the opportunity to exchange planning information.

School Dist. 54 Board of Education Member Adam Jelen set the Thursday session to discuss park lease agreements between the district and Hanover Park, Elk Grove, Schaumburg and Hoffman Estates park district representatives.

Milton Derr, assistant to the superintendent, said all the park districts except Elk Grove now lease schools in their communities to provide facilities for indoor programs.

DIST. 54 HAS no school in Elk Grove but the Centex Construction Co. developers of a 1,100-acre single family development in the southeast corner of Schaumburg Township have donated a school site to the district.

The school district hopes that a school can be built there in the near future.

Children from the west portion of Elk Grove Village in Schaumburg Township now attend the Schaumburg School.

Attorneys for Centex and the school district are working out the legal points of a tentative agreement to build a school and split the costs.

The school district would pay back the other half of building costs within a 10 to 15-year period.

DERR SAID BOTH parties have reached tentative agreement but added legal and state requirements must be met.

It has been the general policy of Dist. 54 to deed land around their schools to the park districts for development as a park site rather than keeping title to the land themselves.

This has been a good working arrangement said Derr as he talked about the Schaumburg Park District's present development around the new Dirksen School.

The school board members stressed the importance of a joint concern and cooperative effort in obtaining sites from developers. Derr said the schools need "buildable land" and since this district's policy has been to give the surrounding land around the building to the park district that portion of the site too should be "buildable," but often is not.

The present park lease agreements between the school board and park board are still in effect and the representatives plan to meet again before the end of the school year when new agreements will be made.

Parents Can See How Tots Learn To Read

Parents can learn how their first grade students are learning to read at the Aldrin Elementary School in Schaumburg by attending an 8 o'clock program tonight at the school, 617 Boxwood Lane.

The PTA has arranged for Mrs. Jo Telford, reading consultant for School Dist. 54, to speak. The program is an introduction to the Open Court Reading Program.

The program, new in district 54, is a system of teaching students to read phonetically as opposed to the older sight and sound systems.

Although the program has been especially designed for the first-year student, parents of second and third graders who may be using the program for the first year are also invited.

Refreshments will be served after the program.

Dooley PTA Will Meet Tomorrow

Parents of Dooley Elementary School children in Schaumburg will be asked to tell the PTA officers what they think the PTA's role in the school should be during the first PTA meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m.

The PTA committee chairmen will present what programs and projects they have planned for the coming year. The PTA officers are interested in discussing the PTA's role in the school with parents and felt this first meeting should be that kind of session.

Principal Frank Tavano will talk about the plans for the school year and a discussion period will follow.

REFRESHMENTS WILL be served following the business meeting.

The classrooms will not be open for parents' inspection on that date, but the PTA has planned the annual Open House for 8 p.m., Oct. 12.

Each classroom will be open and teachers will speak briefly about the class and its goals for the year.

Parents are invited to attend the open house where teachers will answer general questions about the curriculum.

Baseball Teams Receive Awards

With baseball play ended for this season the officers of the Hoffman Estates Athletic Association awarded participating teams and players trophies and plaques during two recent awards nights at the Vogue Barn.

Robert Cavish who acted as the master of ceremonies presented the Mets team with the World Series winners and the minor league trophy, and named them American League Champs. The Mets are sponsored by the Schaumburg Bank.

The National League Champs award went to the Angels team sponsored by the Hoffman Estates Fraternal Order of Police.

The Major American League and World Series winners were the Yankees sponsored by the Dog N' Suds. The National League winners are the Pilots, sponsored by the Omega Sport Shop.

THE PIRATES won the Pony National League and World series. The team is sponsored by the Hoffman Liquors shop.

The Yankees, sponsored by the Schaumburg Rotary, won the American League play.

The Ponytail National League and World Series winners were the Blue Jays, sponsored by His and Her Sport Shop.

The Orioles won the Ponytail American League. The team was sponsored by the Schaumburg Transportation Co.

In the Babe Ruth senior division, the players went into championship play with a 16-0 record.

The 134 All League All-Stars players received individual plaques.

The HEAA has now started football play and Pee Wee Football commissioner Sandy Iannotti reports eight pee-wee teams have been formed. The players have played two games in an eight game schedule. Tony Stompanato, widget commissioner has formed four new teams and they have played one game of a six game schedule.

Youth Shot, Then Nabbed By Police

An Arlington Heights patrolman early Sunday morning shot and later arrested and charged a 17-year-old youth with burglary of a medical building at 203 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

Listed in serious but improved condition at Northwest Community Hospital is Ralph Kaiser, 108 N. Forest Ave., Palatine. He is charged with burglary, aggravated assault and resisting arrest.

Police also arrested two other suspects in connection with the alleged break-in. Apprehended at the time of the shooting was Paul Hilderger, 24, of Fox River Grove. An Itasca man, John Schvett, 21, was arrested Monday morning by Palatine police.

Both men were charged with burglary. Police say Kaiser was stopped behind the medical building about 1 a.m. Sunday and was told that he was under arrest. The youth then reportedly moved toward the policeman, apparently with an object in his right hand, police say.

PATROLMAN FRANCIS Bischoffer, 44, fired one shot, hitting Kaiser in the abdomen. Police say the youth then fled the scene. Bischoffer has been with the department for 13 years.

Kaiser went to the home of a friend. Police say he told the friend's mother he had fallen on a picket fence, and had suffered a puncture wound.

The woman bandaged the youth and about noon Sunday suggested to her son that Kaiser be taken to the hospital, according to police. He was transported to Northwest Community Hospital by cab.

Police report that a television, radio and a large quantity of drugs were taken from the medical offices. They say the stolen material has been recovered.

Bond for all three men charged in the case was set at $1,500 each.

Misconduct Charge Probed

Sheriffs Police. Richard C. Quagliano, assistant chief of the county police, agreed such a request had been made and said the investigation started yesterday.

"If there is such a person (Mike Greenfield), we'd like him to contact us so that we can make a complete and impartial investigation," said Quagliano. "We will interview everyone mentioned in the letter to determine if we can if there is any wrongdoing. When our investigation is completed, we will take the results to the state's attorney's office," he said.

CONROY ALSO said he is investigating the means by which the police report was photocopied. Only police officers have access to police reports, he said. The fact that copies of a report were made "would lead me to believe that there is somebody within the department that has an axe to grind," said Conroy.

Conroy said there is no legal requirement that a ticket be issued or charges be placed in such an incident.

He also denied that Coursey was "placed in line for promotion" after the incident, saying Coursey was named to the prospective sergeants list Sept. 18, 1968, after taking a civil service examination. He is the first person listed, but the village commission can name any of the first three men to an opening, he said.

Conroy has sent copies of the letter received by Mayor Atcher and several of the board members to the Chicago Police Department Crime Laboratory for testing, in an effort to learn who sent them.

WHILE MAYOR Atcher declined to comment on who might have sent the letter, he and other village officials said they believe the signature to be fictitious. Village records of water bills and tax payments indicate there is no village resident or village employee by that name, said Atcher. He declined to comment further until the investigation is completed, except to say "we don't believe in getting excited too much over individuals using fictitious names."

Village Atty. Jack Siegel termed the letter a "purely spite matter," saying "this guy apparently has a real vendetta" against Chief Conroy. "As far as the incident itself, Chief Conroy exercised his discretion and we certainly will back up the chief in every respect. There is nothing improper here," he said.

Martin J. Coniglio, chairman of the fire and police commission, said he was just outside the chief's office at the time of the conference with Greco. He termed the matter a "crank letter." The commission can do little about the matter, he said, since the letter does not constitute a formal complaint.

Joe Greco, son of Pat Greco who owns the construction company, said yesterday the allegations don't "make one bit of sense." He added that Schaumburg police had never failed to ticket his drivers in the past for overweight violations, or violations of any other kind.

Ritzenthaler Inc. To Present Testimony

Zoning Board To Consider Terminal For School Buses

School buses serving Wheeling, Buffalo Grove and Prospect Heights schools soon may have a new terminal for repairs, maintenance and overnight storage.

Wheeling's zoning board of appeals tonight will consider allowing construction of such a terminal on a 4.7-acre parcel in Wheeling's industrial section.

The zoning board at the 8 p.m. public hearing will listen to testimony from Rit-zenenthaler Bus Lines, Inc., officials who are proposing that a special use permit be granted for the property.

Local citizens interested in commenting on the proposed terminal are invited to attend the hearing in the Wheeling Municipal Building, 255 W. Dundee Rd.

THE NEW TERMINAL is proposed for property in the Lehigh Industrial Park, west of the end of Shepard Avenue and east of the Soo Line R.R. tracks.

Ritzenthaler Bus Lines, Inc., has a contract agreeing to purchase the property from a bank trust if the permit for the terminal is granted.

Tonight's reasoning is the third considered by local villages for a bus terminal location. Both of the earlier proposals—one in southern Wheeling and the other on the northeast side of Buffalo Grove—were refused by the two villages.

The property being considered this time already has the general industrial district (I-3) zoning required by Wheeling. A special-use permit for the property still is needed before a terminal can be built, however, under a Wheeling ordinance enacted last February.

ACCORDING TO details of the new proposal for a terminal, an estimated 50 to 60 school buses will be stored on the property.

A total of 52 buses now are used to serve Dist. 21 grade schools and Wheeling High School, according to bus company representatives.

The property would be fenced on the east and south with a solid fence and on the west and north with a Cyclone Fence.

A 50-by-90-foot garage would be built on the property for bus maintenance and repairs. The buses would be parked outside.

The proposal also includes underground gasoline and oil storage tanks and a two-way radio communications tower on the property.

THE WHEELING Village Board will make the final decision on the special use permit request after the zoning board's public hearing.

The buses currently are stored at the parking lot of St. Joseph the Worker School on Dundee Road in Wheeling.

Vandalism and a more convenient location are among the reasons the bus firm has been seeking a terminal site in the Wheeling and Buffalo Grove area.

Other proposals for the terminal location which were refused include a lot adjacent to Carl Sandburg and Booth Tarkington schools on the northern end of Jackson Drive and a 5-acre site in Buffalo Grove on Rte. 83 near the proposed extension of Lake-Cook Road.

WHEELING AND Buffalo Grove youngsters participated in the local punt, pass and kick contest held in Buffalo Grove Saturday. The winners of the contest, sponsored by the Buffalo Grove Jaycees and Chalet Ford, have a chance to go to the finals at the Super Bowl game in January.

Arlington Man To Replace Weiner On School Board

Jack A. Lane, 3112 N. Volz Dr., Arlington Heights, has been appointed to the Dist. 21 School Board to succeed Ronald Weiner of Wheeling.

Weiner recently resigned from the board because he moved to Highland Park.

Lane will serve until April, date of the next school board election. In order to continue to serve beyond that time, he must run for election.

Lane has resided in Dist. 21 for 13 years and has four sons, aged 8, 10, 14 and 16.

The Lanes recently moved to Arlington Heights from Buffalo Grove, where Lane was a member of the Buffalo Grove Jaycees and the Buffalo Grove Lions Club.

Lane was appointed unanimously to the school board Thursday following an informal get-together before the board and prospective school board members.

Several Dist. 21 board members remarked it was difficult to select a new member, because all prospective candidates were well-qualified.

Cycle Dragged 2-1/2 Miles Under Car After Crash

A Mount Prospect resident's auto hit a motorcycle in Wheeling early Saturday and dragged the motorcycle for more than 2 1/2 miles under his car before he was stopped by Wheeling Police, according to police.

Joseph C. Biela, 23, of 105 Albert St., Mount Prospect was charged with leaving the scene of an accident, driving while intoxicated and failure to yield when turning left in connection with the accident.

Police found the motorcycle rider, Michael S. Franklin, 17, of 905 McHenry, Wheeling, lying on the street at Dundee Road and Milwaukee Avenue. Police said the youth had severe head wounds.

The youth was taken to Holy Family Hospital where the doctors used approximately 30 stitches to close the wounds, police said.

Hospital officials yesterday said Franklin was in "very good" condition and would be released from the hospital today.

POLICE SAID the accident occurred at 12:44 a.m. Saturday on Dundee and Wolf Roads. A passing motorist who saw the accident flagged down a Wheeling policeman.

Police stopped Biela with the motorcycle wedged under the car near the Lamplighter Apartments at Wolf and Palatine Roads, 2.6 miles south of the scene of the accident.

Police estimated damage to the car at $100 and damage to the motorcycle at $300.

Name Student Officers

Student council officers at Oliver Wendell Holmes Junior High School in Wheeling were elected recently.

The new officers include Dave Schultz, president; Gwen Wilson, vice president; and Kim Peterson, secretary.

Faculty sponsors of the student council are Toni Price and Joyce Vershuis.

Field School Slates Bike Safety Tests

Students at Eugene Field School in Wheeling will be instructed in bicycle safety Thursday and Friday.

The instructions will be given by a team of specialists from the Cook County Traffic Safety Commission. The youngsters first will be given a lecture covering traffic laws, courtesies of the road and the particular rules applying to bicycling.

The students will then be required to ride through a testing lane that has traffic signs and simulated traffic conditions. Those who pass will be given cards certifying their proficiency and making them members of the Bicycle Safety Club.

Haven Awaiting License OK

The Sandwich Haven restaurant continues to operate in Wheeling although no agreement about a license for the restaurant has been reached between village officials and restaurant owner Jerry Fuller.

Village board members received a letter from Fuller's attorney last week asking for a meeting with village officials about obtaining the license. The restaurant has been operating without a license since May when the village refused to renew the license because of alleged fire and building code violations at the restaurant.

The village took Fuller to court on the code violations charges and for operating the restaurant without a license earlier this summer. The court ruled against Fuller on the license charge and fined him, but found him innocent on a fire exit sign code charge.

Despite agreement in court that the two parties would hold subsequent meetings to clear differences so a license could be issued, there has yet been no agreement.

WHEELING Village Pres. Ted C. Scanlon said last week that he had met with Fuller and Wheeling building and zoning director William Bieber following the court hearings.

Scanlon confirmed that the board had received a letter from Fuller's attorney about the license.

Scanlon said there is some conflict between Bieber and Fuller about installation of a wash sink, but he said that the sink originally was an optional item on the list of code violations the village sought to have corrected.

"He's complied with all of the requirements. The only reason the license hasn't been issued is because Bieber has not given the final OK," Scanlon said last week.

Bieber has been on vacation for the last two weeks but was to return to work yesterday.

Fuller said yesterday that the matter had still not been resolved, but that he understood the board would discuss issuing the license in closed session at last night's village board meeting.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon has decided to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act, setting in motion government procedures to order the nation's longshoremen back to work for an 80-day cooling off period. White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the order, when obtained from federal courts, would definitely apply to the West Coast dispute, now in its 96th day, and one of the longest in the nation's history.

The House handed President Nixon a key victory for his new economic policies when it refused to block his order delaying a $2.6 billion-a-year pay raise for federal workers for six months. The 207-174 vote upholding Nixon's order generally broke down along party lines in the House, but Republicans took advantage of Democratic defections and absentees to carry the day for the President.

The State

Gov. Ogilvie announced a $25 million program to get 15,000 unemployed persons state and local government jobs. He said the program would provide jobs for about 10,000 welfare recipients plus about 5,000 unemployed "Vietnam-era" veterans.

Seven guards at Stateville Prison near Joliet were suspended because of the escape of three inmates Sept. 19.

A Peoria physician, Dr. John Mathis, announced he will be a candidate for governor unless a "responsible Republican" challenges Gov. Ogilvie.

The World

President Nguyen Van Thieu rolled up a landslide reelection victory in South Vietnam's uncontested presidential vote and called it a national achievement. "This is really a very good achievement of our nation and our people in the building and implementing of democracy," Thieu said. After the election the U.S. command announced one of its biggest American troop cutbacks in two years, a reduction of 3,200 men.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers outlined a new six-point Middle East peace proposal, pledging no letup in U.S. efforts for an interim agreement.

A powerful explosion demolished a British army post in Belfast Monday, injuring 10 soldiers and at least six passersby. Snipers shot a policeman in the back and troops wounded a sniper. The army post blast touched off a new wave of violence in the capital of religiously divided Northern Ireland.

The War

Communist troops responded to the South Vietnamese presidential election with the most attacks in 18 months, shelling bases along the Demilitarized Zone and in the vicinity of Saigon, military spokesmen said. Spokesmen said the 92 separate attacks in a 24-hour period were the highest since March 31, 1970, the day before the first South Vietnamese drive in to Cambodia, when 112 attacks were recorded.

Homecoming Set At Wheeling High

A variety of activities culminating in a dance Saturday night will be featured in "Autumn Daze Week" — the Homecoming celebration this week at Wheeling High School.

Today will be "costume day" at the high school, when students will wear their favorite costumes to class. The presentation assembly also will be held today when the five girls vying for the title of Homecoming queen will be presented to the student body.

The five queen candidates are Diane Gill, Debbie Hildebrandt, Kathy Schmidt, Sue Simons and Jane Wachholz. The girls, all seniors, were selected as queen candidates by the senior class.

Final selection of a queen will be made in voting today by the entire student body.

Wednesday will be teacher and student "grub day" at Wheeling High. Old clothes will be worn to class.

Thursday will be "color day" when students will wear the school colors — blue, gold and white — to class. A coronation assembly will be held at 3:15 p.m. Thursday to announce the name of the new homecoming queen.

At 6:30 p.m. Thursday a pep rally will be held at the Wheeling High School football field, to be followed by a mixer from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Friday will be "honor the football players day" and also the day for spirit competition at Wheeling High. A panel of judges will select the high school class demonstrating the most spirit.

The Wheeling Wildcat football team will play Arlington High School Friday evening in the Homecoming football game. The junior varsity game will start at 6 p.m. and the varsity game will start at 8 p.m. The 1971 Homecoming queen and her court will be presented between the two games.

Homecoming activities will conclude with a semi-formal dance Saturday evening in the Wheeling High gymnasium.

They Used To Be Just 'Family Cars'

by BRAD BREKKE

They used to be automobiles, family cars. But time has changed that. They are antiques now, with dignity and grace and smooth lines.

They are polished and chromed and gold plated.

They have carbide headlights, hand-cranked engines and rumble seats.

They were expensive in their day and more expensive now, much more.

Even parts that weren't meant to be shined and polished and chromed received special treatment until they looked fancier than they did 50 years ago when they came off the assembly line.

And they were lined up, roped off and put on display Friday through Sunday at the third annual Mid-America Antique Car Show at Arlington Park.

It's pretty much the same show that came to Arlington Park last year. The cars haven't changed, except they are a year older and a year more valuable.

It was 76 years ago that the car was invented. And since then the automotive industry in America has become the mightiest one of all.

ONE THING at this year's show that has changed, however, was the number of antiques and trinkets for sale by dealers from across the country. There are more of them this year. And as a result less cars. And because of this the crowd Friday afternoon seemed more interested in trinket hunting than in looking at the cars.

There was one vehicle in the main show room that had this sign attached to it:

"Please don't touch unless you're nude. Buttons and buckles scratch our many coats of paint."

It was a 1931 Chrysler, only no one was curious enough to strip, so they could sit in the driver's seat. Original cost of the car was $1,395.

As a sidelight at the show, vintage car parts were for sale. There was also an exhibit of old airplanes and a flea market offering car parts up for sale or swap in the outdoor exhibit area.

New Ambulance Gets 1st Scrape

The Village of Wheeling's new ambulance was damaged slightly last week as police were pulling it out of the police garage to answer an emergency call.

The ambulance, which just barely fits through the narrow garage door, scraped the wall on the right side, breaking off the right rear door handle.

Wheeling Police Sgt. Thomas Conte who was driving the ambulance said the ambulance had apparently been pulled into the garage at an angle and that in the hurry to answer a report of an electrocution at the Ekco Products plant, the door was damaged.

The man who received the severe shock at the plant was hospitalized but was not critically injured.

Police said yesterday a repair estimate of $100 had been given to fix the ambulance.

Community Concert Tickets Available

Tickets are still available for the first program in the Northwest Community Concert Association 1971-72 season.

The program will be held Oct. 21 at Wheeling High School. A revue, "Three on Broadway," will be given, featuring baritone Ronald Rogers and soprano Jan McArt singing songs by American composers.

Information on tickets for the performance may be obtained by calling 537-2940.

Ticket prices are $10 for adults and $5 for children.

Name John Koeppen

Wheeling village trustee John Koeppen has been named to serve as the village government's representative to the Wheeling Chamber of Commerce.

The appointment, made at a chamber meeting last week, is the latest in a series of trustee appointments by Village Pres. Ted C. Scanlon.

Village Board Schedule Changed

Changes in the Wheeling Village Board meeting schedule for the month of October were announced this week by Wheeling Village Pres. Ted C. Scanlon.

Regular meetings scheduled for the nights of Oct. 18 and Oct. 25 will not be held, Scanlon said.

Instead, a special board meeting will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 26, he said.

Scanlon explained that the Oct. 18 meeting was canceled because of an Illinois Municipal League meeting in Springfield that village officials will attend.

Oct. 25 is a holiday because it is the day Veterans Day is being observed this year, Scanlon said.

Laddies Lair Raises $650 For Candy Day

A fund raising night at Laddies Lair, a restaurant on Milwaukee Avenue, raised $650 for the annual Lions Club "Candy Day" for the blind.

Owner Laddie Vyskocil donated all the bar receipts to the Lions and Grace Alfredo and the Jerry Carol 3 donated their services.

Overnight Street Parking Will Have A Grace Period

The Buffalo Grove Police Department will use the month of October as a grace period before it begins a crackdown on persons parking cars on the street overnight.

In recent years the ordinance, which prohibits parking on all village streets from 2 a.m. to 6 a.m. has not been enforced.

However, even when the crackdown begins Nov. 1, not all cars parked on the street overnight will be ticketed, according to Police Chief Harold Smith.

Smith explained that exceptions will be made if a resident does not have enough room to accommodate the cars in an off-street area.

Smith said that during October, police will issue warning tickets and enclose a letter explaining how persons can apply to be exempted from the parking ordinance.

The letter reads, "should the number of vehicles in your household exceed the number of off-street parking spaces, please contact the police department at 537-4260 and apply for a waiver. Inspection will then be made of your parking areas and if there is a valid reason for parking on the street, a waiver will be approved." The letter also states that if residents have guests who have to park their cars on the street overnight "regardless of how many consecutive days," the police department must be informed before 2 a.m. each night.

Liquor License Request Denied

A proposed new Steinway Drug Store will have to wait its turn in line for a Wheeling liquor license, Village Pres. Ted C. Scanlon said last week.

Scanlon instructed the village clerk to send a "form letter" to the company explaining the store will have to wait for a vacant license before it can have a liquor license.

Scanlon made his comments in response to a letter from real estate agent Donald Bundeson who had written concerning the new drug store in the shopping center being built on the north side of Dundee Road just east of McHenry Road.

Bundeson said in his letter that in the 12,500 square foot drugstore, Steinway couldn't maintain such a business without a package liquor license.

Bundeson said the size of the store could not be changed because construction plans are finalized.

Population Figures Must Be With Plans

The number of people expected to live in each new Wheeling development will be made a required part of the testimony at various public hearings, Village Pres. Ted C. Scanlon said last week.

Scanlon had written letters to the village plan commission and zoning board of appeals asking them to seek population information on new land development projects as they are presented.

Zoning board Chmn. Douglas Cargill had written a letter to Scanlon agreeing to cooperate with the village president's proposal.

Trustee Michael Valenza told Scanlon the population information from the developers would be included on the cover sheet of development plans before they are approved by the plan commission.

Fun Fair Saturday

The PTA at Mark Twain School in Wheeling will sponsor a fun fair from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday at the school.

Refreshments, games and prizes will be featured at the fun fair.

Schools Slate Bicycle Inspection This Week

A bicycle inspection and safety program will be held at three schools in Buffalo Grove this week.

Employees of the Cook County Traffic and Safety Commission will visit Louisa May Alcott, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow and Joyce Kilmer schools on Thursday and Friday.

Students will hear a lecture on traffic laws, driving courtesy, and particular regulations applying to bicycles.

THE STUDENTS will then be required to ride through a testing lane that has traffic signs and simulated traffic conditions. Those passing the test will be given cards making them members of the Bicycle Safety Club.

The lecture and test will be given at Alcott and Longfellow schools at 9 a.m. both days and at Kilmer School at 1 p.m. both days.

A bicycle registration program is being planned by the Buffalo Grove Jaycees and the police department. However details of the registration programs have not been announced.

Youth Shot, Then Nabbed By Police

An Arlington Heights patrolman early Sunday morning shot and later arrested and charged a 17-year-old youth with burglary of a medical building at 203 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

Listed in serious but improved condition at Northwest Community Hospital is Ralph Kaiser, 108 N. Forest Ave., Palatine. He is charged with burglary, aggravated assault and resisting arrest.

Police also arrested two other suspects in connection with the alleged break-in. Apprehended at the time of the shooting was Paul Hilderger, 24, of Fox River Grove. An Itasca man, John Schvette, 21, was arrested Monday morning by Palatine police.

Both men were charged with burglary.

Police say Kaiser was stopped behind the medical building about 1 a.m. Sunday and was told that he was under arrest. The youth then reportedly moved toward the policeman, apparently with an object in his right hand, police say.

PATROLMAN FRANCIS Bischoffer, 44, fired one shot, hitting Kaiser in the abdomen. Police say the youth then fled the scene. Bischoffer has been with the department for 13 years.

Kaiser went to the home of a friend. Police say he told the friend's mother he had fallen on a picket fence, and had suffered a puncture wound.

The woman bandaged the youth and about noon Sunday suggested to her son that Kaiser be taken to the hospital, according to police. He was transported to Northwest Community Hospital by cab.

Police report that a television, radio and a large quantity of drugs were taken from the medical offices. They say the stolen material has been recovered.

Bond for all three men charged in the case was set at $1,500 each.

Force Will Grow From 10 to 15

Police Department To Add Five In Late November

The Buffalo Grove police force will be expanded to 15 men around Thanksgiving when five new patrolmen finish training and join the department.

The five new men will result in an increase in department size of 50 per cent. The department currently has 10 men.

Police Chief Harold Smith said four men are undergoing an eight-week-long training course at the Northwest Police Academy in Arlington Heights and one man is in a training program at the University of Illinois for six weeks.

OF THE FIVE men, ranging in age from 25 to 39, two live in the village. They were selected from a field of 58 applicants.

The new patrolmen are:

William Fischer, 31, of Prairie View. He was formerly a radio operator with the village police department for the last year.

Floyd Merenkov, 25, of Buffalo Grove. Merenkov was a fireman in Des Plaines.

William Urry, 25, of Mount Prospect. Urry was a salesman before joining the department.

Robert Quid, 39, of Buffalo Grove. Quid was a salesman with an electrical firm. The fifth new patrolman is Kerry Kenney, 25, of Des Plaines.

FISCHER IS RECEIVING his training at the University of Illinois and the others are attending the academy in Arlington Heights. It will be Fischer's first trip to a college campus. The other patrolmen all have attended college, Smith said.

Following classroom training, the men will start work immediately and receive what Smith described as "in-service training."

Smith said the addition of the new men will result in better protection and improved service for the citizens of the village.

"It will mean an additional car patrolling the streets on each shift," Smith said.

The addition of the new patrolmen will make it possible for one man to work full-time in the investigation division to conduct follow-up investigations.

"There will be better service there," Smith pointed out.

According to Smith, with more men on the force, there will be better opportunities for the policemen to get leaves of absence to take courses in law enforcement.

Smith said he has asked the village for permission to promote three present policemen to the rank of sergeant to act as supervisors for each patrol shift.

Arlington Man To Replace Weiner On School Board

Jack A. Lane, 3112 N. Volz Dr., Arlington Heights, has been appointed to the Dist. 21 School Board to succeed Ronald Weiner of Wheeling.

Weiner recently resigned from the board because he moved to Highland Park.

Lane will serve until April, date of the next school board election. In order to continue to serve beyond that time, he must run for election.

Lane has resided in Dist. 21 for 13 years and has four sons, aged 8, 10, 14

The Lanes recently moved to Arlington Heights from Buffalo Grove, where Lane was a member of the Buffalo Grove Jaycees and the Buffalo Grove Lions Club.

Lane was appointed unanimously to the school board Thursday following an informal get-together before the board and prospective school board members.

Several Dist. 21 board members remarked it was difficult to select a new member, because all prospective candidates were well-qualified.

Environmental Group To Study Incinerator Plan

A special subcommittee of the Arlington Heights Environmental Control Commission will meet tonight to study a controversial proposal to build a garbage incinerator at the landfill site at Nichols and Schaeffer roads near Buffalo Grove.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. at the Arlington Heights Municipal Building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

Residents of Buffalo Grove oppose the proposal because they fear that waste from the incinerator will pollute the air. They also believe that the proposed 250-foot exhaust stack will be an eyesore and garbage trucks will create traffic problems on Arlington Heights Road because the incinerator would increase the landfill capacity.

The proposal has not received final approval from the village board. The finance committee is studying ways to finance the $4.5 million project.

At tonight's subcommittee meeting, the incinerator's effect on the environment will be studied.

CURRENT PLANS for the incinerator call for it to handle 400 tons of garbage per day.

The incinerator furnace will be capable of 24-hour-a-day operation at temperatures of between 1,200 and 1,400 degrees.

Name Student Officers

Student council officers at Oliver Wendell Holmes Junior High School in Wheeling were elected recently.

The new officers include Dave Schultz, president; Gwen Wilson, vice president; and Kim Peterson, secretary.

Faculty sponsors of the student council are Toni Price and Joyce Versluis.

The exhaust gases will be vented through anti-pollution devices and out the 250-foot exhaust stack.

Arlington Heights officials have estimated that unless the incinerator is installed the landfill will be filled completely within six years.

Officials also pointed out that the incinerator would be able to handle garbage from surrounding towns. Presently, only garbage from Arlington Heights and Buffalo Grove is dumped at the landfill site.

They said pollution control devices will be installed, but did acknowledge that the garbage trucks could create a traffic problem in the area.

Zoning Board To Consider Terminal

School buses serving Wheeling, Buffalo Grove and Prospect Heights schools soon may have a new terminal for repairs, maintenance and overnight storage.

Wheeling's zoning board of appeals tonight will consider allowing construction of such a terminal on a 4.7-acre parcel in Wheeling's industrial section.

The zoning board at the 8 p.m. public hearing will listen to testimony from Ritzenthaler Bus Lines, Inc., officials who are proposing that a special use permit to allow the terminal be granted for the property.

Local citizens interested in commenting on the proposed terminal are invited to attend the hearing in the Wheeling Municipal Building, 255 W. Dundee Rd.

THE NEW TERMINAL is proposed for property in the Lehigh Industrial Park, west of the end of Shepard Avenue and east of the Soo Line R.R. tracks.

Ritzenthaler Bus Lines, Inc., has a contract agreeing to purchase the property from a bank trust if the permit for the terminal is granted.

Tonight's rezoning is the third considered by local villages for a bus terminal location. Both of the earlier proposals—one in southern Wheeling and the other on the northeast side of Buffalo Grove—were refused by the two villages.

The property being considered this time already has the general industrial district (I-3) zoning required by Wheeling. A special-use permit for the property still is needed before a terminal can be built, however, under a Wheeling ordinance enacted last February.

WHEELING AND Buffalo Grove youngsters participated in the local punt, pass and kick contest held in Buffalo Grove Saturday. The winners of the contest, sponsored by the Buffalo Grove Jaycees and Chalet Ford, have a chance to go to the finals at the Super Bowl game in January.

Opinions

Most Favor Trick-Or- Treating

"Trick-or-treat" for most Wheeling and Buffalo Grove children is only a phrase used to get candy on Halloween.

But each year for some children "trick-or-treat" time means authorization to vandalize homes and businesses in the local area.

Despite efforts by both villages to patrol streets and limit "trick-or-treating" to early evening hours or different days, the vandalism reports continue every year.

For this week's Opinions Please column, the Herald asked Wheeling and Buffalo Grove residents if they think "trick-or-treating" should be abolished in favor of community-wide parties or other activities for children.

"I think trick-or-treating is a good thing, but there should be restricted hours like there have been in the past," Mrs. William J. Kroll Jr., 331 Springside Ln., Buffalo Grove, said.

Mrs. Kroll said that some people give children candy with poison or razor blades in it and that parents have to warn their children. But even so, she said "I think it's a good idea. Why take it away from the little ones? They enjoy it so much."

Mrs. Chester Smolinski, 925 Wilshire Dr., Wheeling, favored replacing trick-or-treating with Halloween parties.

"There are different ages of children. The little ones are courteous and always say thank you. But the others are as brazen as can be—they say 'is that all we get?'—and are ungrateful," she said.

She pointed out that buying so much candy is expensive. Trick-or-treating is better because of the restricted hours and police patrolling, "but I'd still like to see it stopped," she said.

Said Mrs. Ronald Lewis, 1085 Bernard Dr., Buffalo Grove, "I don't think trick-or-treating should be stopped. The children enjoy it. I do think the parents should go along with the child and keep a close watch, and go early enough in the day."

Mrs. Lewis said she thinks "close supervision" by parents would curb a lot of vandalism by children on Halloween.

"Definitely don't stop it," said Mrs. John Cronin, 24 S. Wheeling Ave., Wheeling. "We just love the kids that come to our door, every one of them."

Mrs. Frank Johnson, 227 Albert, Wheeling, said she thinks the program should continue at least another year in the village.

"It's a good question. I wouldn't like to take the enjoyment away from the kids. I'd still take a stab at it this year, and then if there's more damage think about stopping it next year," she said.

"If we didn't have it I think the kids would be disappointed," Mrs. Martin G. Mattes Jr. of 483 Bernard, Buffalo Grove, said yesterday. She pointed out however, that parents have to watch what their children collect on trick-or-treat outings.

New Ambulance Gets 1st Scrape

The Village of Wheeling's new ambulance was damaged slightly last week as police were pulling it out of the police garage to answer an emergency call.

The ambulance, which just barely fits through the narrow garage door, scraped the wall on the right side, breaking off the right rear door handle.

Wheeling Police Sgt. Thomas Conte who was driving the ambulance said the ambulance had apparently been pulled into the garage at an angle and that in the hurry to answer a report of an electrocution at the Ekco Products plant, the door was damaged.

The man who received the severe shock at the plant was hospitalized but was not critically injured.

Police said yesterday a repair estimate of $100 had been given to fix the ambulance.

Community Concert Tickets Available

Tickets are still available for the first program in the Northwest Community Concert Association 1971-72 season.

The program will be held Oct. 21 at Wheeling High School. A revue, "Three on Broadway," will be given, featuring baritone Ronald Rogers and soprano Jan McArt singing songs by American composers.

Information on tickets for the performance may be obtained by calling 537-2940.

Ticket prices are $10 for adults and $5 for children.

Name John Koeppen

Wheeling village trustee John Koeppen has been named to serve as the village government's representative to the Wheeling Chamber of Commerce.

The appointment, made at a chamber meeting last week, is the latest in a series of trustee appointments by Village Pres. Ted C. Scanlon.

Scanlon earlier appointed trustee Ronald Bruhn as village board liaison with the Wheeling Library Board. Trustee Michael Valenza now serves in that capacity with HELP, Inc., and the Wheeling Youth Commission.

Village Board Schedule Changed

Changes in the Wheeling Village Board meeting schedule for the month of October were announced this week by Wheeling Village Pres. Ted C. Scanlon.

Regular meetings scheduled for the nights of Oct. 18 and Oct. 25 will not be held, Scanlon said.

Instead, a special board meeting will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 26, he said.

Scanlon explained that the Oct. 18 meeting was canceled because of an Illinois Municipal League meeting in Springfield that village officials will attend.

Oct. 25 is a holiday because it is the day Veterans Day is being observed this year, Scanlon said.

Laddies Lair Raises $650 For Candy Day

A fund raising night at Laddies Lair, a restaurant on Milwaukee Avenue, raised $650 for the annual Lions Club "Candy Day" for the blind.

Overnight Street Parking Will Have A Grace Period

The Buffalo Grove Police Department will use the month of October as a grace period before it begins a crackdown on persons parking cars on the street overnight.

In recent years the ordinance, which prohibits parking on all village streets from 2 a.m. to 6 a.m. has not been enforced.

However, even when the crackdown begins Nov. 1, not all cars parked on the street overnight will be ticketed, according to Police Chief Harold Smith.

Smith explained that exceptions will be made if a resident does not have enough room to accommodate the cars in an off-street area.

Smith said that during October, police will issue warning tickets and enclose a letter explaining how persons can apply to be exempted from the parking ordinance.

The letter reads, "should the number of vehicles in your household exceed the number of off-street parking spaces, please contact the police department at 537-4280 and apply for a waiver. Inspection will then be made of your parking areas and if there is a valid reason for parking on the street, a waiver will be approved." The letter also states that

Trailer Breaks Free, Hits News Agency

A camping trailer broke loose from a pickup truck in northern Wheeling Tuesday morning and damaged a building and a tree.

Nick Carrea of Stickney told Wheeling police he was driving the truck and trailer on the east side of Milwaukee Avenue when the accident occurred at 9:27 a.m.

The trailer broke loose from the truck hitch, ran off the road, scraped the side of the Wheeling News Agency building at 353 N. Milwaukee Ave., and ran over a small tree at Ren Dels Motel, 397 N. Milwaukee Ave., before coming to a stop, police said. No charges were filed by police in connection with the accident.

Field School Slates Room Mothers' Tea

A tea for room mothers and teachers at Eugene Field School in Wheeling will be held Wednesday at 3:45 p.m. at the school.

The purpose of the tea is to give room mothers and teachers a chance to get acquainted and plan upcoming school activities.

The teachers also will give the mothers a tour of the new addition to Field School, which includes classrooms and a library learning center.

They Used To Be Just 'Family Cars'

by BRAD BREKKE
They used to be automobiles, family cars. But time has changed that.

They are antiques now, with dignity and grace and smooth lines.

They are polished and chromed and gold plated.

They have carbide headlights, hand-cranked engines and rumble seats.

They were expensive in their day and more expensive now, much more.

Even parts that weren't meant to be shined and polished and chromed received special treatment until they looked fancier than they did 50 years ago when they came off the assembly line.

And they were lined up, roped off and put on display Friday through Sunday at the third annual Mid-America Antique Car Show at Arlington Park.

It's pretty much the same show that came to Arlington Park last year. The cars haven't changed, except they are a year older and a year more valuable.

It was 76 years ago that the car was invented. And since then the automotive industry in America has become the mightiest one of all.

ONE THING at this year's show that has changed, however, was the number of antiques and trinkets for sale by dealers from across the country. There are more of them this year. And as a result less cars. And because of this the crowd Friday afternoon seemed more interested in trinket hunting than in looking at the cars.

There was one vehicle in the main show room that had this sign attached to it:

"Please don't touch unless you're nude. Buttons and buckles scratch our many coats of paint."

It was a 1931 Chrysler, only no one was curious enough to strip, so they could sit in the driver's seat. Original cost of the car was $1,595.

As a sidelight at the show, vintage car parts were for sale. There was also an exhibit of old airplanes and a flea market offering car parts up for sale or swap in the outdoor exhibit area.

A bicycle inspection and safety program will be held at three schools in Buffalo Grove this week.

Employees of the Cook County Traffic and Safety Commission will visit Louisa May Alcott, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow and Joyce Kilmer schools on Thursday and Friday.

Students will hear a lecture on traffic laws, driving courtesy, and particular regulations applying to bicycles.

THE STUDENTS will then be required to ride through a testing lane that has

The lecture and test will be given at Alcott and Longfellow schools at 9 a.m. both days and at Kilmer School at 1 p.m. both days.

A bicycle registration program is being planned by the Buffalo Grove Jaycees and the police department. However details of the registration programs have not been announced.

Youth Shot, Then Nabbed By Police

An Arlington Heights patrolman early Sunday morning shot and later arrested and charged a 17-year-old youth with burglary of a medical building at 203 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

Listed in serious but improved condition at Northwest Community Hospital is Ralph Kaiser, 108 N. Forest Ave., Palatine. He is charged with burglary, aggravated assault and resisting arrest.

Police also arrested two other suspects in connection with the alleged break-in. Apprehended at the time of the shooting was Paul Hilderger, 24, of Fox River Grove. An Itasca man, John Schvette, 21, was arrested Monday morning by Palatine police.

Both men were charged with burglary. Police say Kaiser was stopped behind the medical building about 1 a.m. Sunday and was told that he was under arrest. The youth then reportedly moved toward the policeman, apparently with an object in his right hand, police say.

PATROLMAN FRANCIS Bischoffer, 44, fired one shot, hitting Kaiser in the abdomen. Police say the youth then fled the scene. Bischoffer has been with the department for 13 years.

Kaiser went to the home of a friend. Police say he told the friend's mother he had fallen on a picket fence, and had suffered a puncture wound.

The woman bandaged the youth and about noon Sunday suggested to her son that Kaiser be taken to the hospital, according to police. He was transported to Northwest Community Hospital by cab.

Police report that a television, radio and a large quantity of drugs were taken from the medical offices. They say the stolen material has been recovered.

Bond for all three men charged in the case was set at $1,500 each.

Lake Park Group Divided On Plan For New Sewers

Residents in the Lake Park Estates subdivision northwest of Palatine are almost equally divided in whether to hold a bond referendum to construct a new sewerage system for the area.

Almost 50 property owners in the subdivision presented two separate petitions to the Palatine Township Board of Auditors last night on a proposed sewer system.

One petition, signed by owners of 43 lots in the subdivision, asked the township board to authorize a referendum for revenue bonds to finance the project estimated to cost $206,000, about $2,370 per existing home and buildable lot.

The second petition signed by owners of 38 lots presented a dissenting opinion on revenue bonds to finance the project. There are 87 lots in Lake Park Estates.

ALTHOUGH RESIDENTS in the spring had conducted a feasibility study for a sewer system, they have been waiting for a decision by the township board on whether the project would be beneficial to the entire area.

Residents there currently use septic tanks and fields for their drainage.

Because so many residents attended the township board meeting, Board Supervisor Howard Olson suggested that representatives from each of the sides meet with the board Nov. 1 to determine what the majority of residents would like to see done.

Olson said there seemed to be five separate opinions on how to resolve the sewer problem.

He said representatives of each of these groups should discuss their own situations at the November meeting.

HE SEPARATED the residents into:

—Those on North Martin Drive, who have a good gravity flow for their sewage and don't need a lift station.

—Those living on Quentin Road who may in the future have a direct service to Metropolitan Sanitary District lines.

—Those who want no new sewer system at all.

—Those who want new sewers but are not sure how to finance them.

—Those who want sewers financed through revenue bond issues.

READY TO TRANSMIT emergency information through the encoder to the 19 schools in Palatine—Rolling Meadows Dist. 15 is Rolling Meadows Police Department Radio Supervisor Douglas Larsson. The units will be used to warn against serious inclement weather and civil defense disasters.

Combined Appeal Drive Kicked Off

The Palatine Community Combined Appeal was officially kicked off last night at a rally for almost 40 campaign workers in St. Paul's Church.

According to Merwin Soper, campaign chairman of the local drive, letters will be sent this week to 450 businesses throughout Palatine Township, except those in Rolling Meadows, soliciting contributions.

A door-to-door campaign among the businessmen will start Thursday. The residential campaign, starting Oct. 18, will be handled through direct mail.

The Palatine Community Combined Appeal is one of 90 suburban chests and funds that conduct local campaigns as part of the Crusade of Mercy.

Inclement Weather Warning

Monitor Units Installed In District Schools Here

by JOANN VAN WYE

Alert monitor units designed to warn against serious inclement weather and civil defense disasters have been installed in all schools in Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15.

The units, which were installed last week, are hooked into the Rolling Meadows Police Department encoder. Messages of any type of impending danger can be relayed to all 19 schools in the district at the same time from the police department.

The Rolling Meadows Police Department has a U.S. Weather Bureau teletype which enables the department to warn schools about serious weather conditions in the area and also transmit "all clear" signals.

Deputy Supt. Joseph Kiszka explained that in the past messages of impending danger first had to be received at the district office and then telephoned to each individual school.

"THE TIME between when a message is received and when it gets out is pretty important," said Kiszka.

The new procedure eliminates all telephoning and the district office receives all messages at the same time the individual schools do.

The units in each school are strictly decoders, which means no messages can be transmitted from them. The units are hooked into a special governmental band and therefore only receive messages of impending danger.

Test messages will be transmitted to the schools at least once a week to make sure the units are operating correctly, Kiszka said. The principal or some other individual in the office when the units are located will be directed to call Kiszka to inform him if the message was received clearly or of any problems in transmission.

Each unit has a red light that turns on automatically when a message is transmitted. The light remains on until the unit is reset. Therefore, if someone is not in the office when a message is transmitted, the light remains on as an indication that a message was transmitted. The principal or someone else upon seeing the light then knows to call the Rolling Meadows Police Department to see what the message was.

THE ADMINISTRATION is currently in the process of compiling information on emergency procedures to send home to the parents.

In case of a tornado watch activities will continue as usual and buses will retain the regular schedule. If there is a tornado warning children will be sent to previously designated areas and not released until there is an all clear signal or if their parents come to pick them up. Transportation will be provided once the all clear is received.

If the schools are closed early because of impending bad weather children will be bused home as close to the normal route as the weather allows.

Kiszka explained that planning for the alert monitor units has been underway for three years. Two years ago the board of education approved the purchase of two units for a pilot study of their effectiveness. The units were rotated from school to school and instruction on their use given to the office personnel.

THE BOARD ALSO asked the City of Rolling Meadows to apply for a federal matching grant in the district's name for the purchase of additional units. The district worked closely with Carmen Vinezanno, civil defense deputy director in Rolling Meadows, in preparing the application for the grant.

The federal grant application was approved and the district paid $91 per alert monitor unit and the federal government matched this sum.

Spokesmen said the 92 separate attacks in a 24-hour period were the highest since March 31, 1970, the day before the first South Vietnamese drive in to Cambodia, when 112 attacks were recorded.

Hot Time In The Old Town Each Night

Kids get caught in the firemen's water fight.

Fire Prevention Week began Saturday in Rolling Meadows with a parade and thrill show.

More than 250 local residents witnessed the event with participants from Palatine, Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Rosemont, Forest River, Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg.

Demonstrations of firefighting techniques highlighted the show which ended with a water fight between the fire department officers and firemen.

Activities continue this week with fire prevention programs from 7 to 9 p.m. at the fire station on Meadow Drive. Also as part of Fire Prevention Week, the Jaycees will present "Fireman of the Year" awards to two members of the city fire department. The Jaycees have determined the winners, one full-time and a volunteer fireman, and the awards will be presented at the Oct. 12 Rolling Meadows City Council meeting.

The Jaycees and Jayceettes along with the Junior Women's Club and the Cub Scouts are sponsoring "Operation Red Ball" this week to get each family in Rolling Meadows to place a red ball sticker on the window of children's rooms. In case of a fire, firemen will check the rooms with the red ball displayed first.

Youngsters Hope To Slip-In More Hours For Ice Skating

A petition signed by 59 youngsters requesting additional public skating hours has been presented to the Rolling Meadows Park District Board of Commissioners.

The petition was presented to three mothers who asked the board why the number of public skating hours had been decreased and the price of a season pass increased.

William Billings, board president, explained to the mothers that only the 2½ hour session on Tuesday had been eliminated, decreasing the number of public skating hours from 22 to 19½.

"Tuesday may go back as a public skating hour. It was only taken out because we didn't know what type of response we would get to the learn-to-skate program," said Billings. He further explained that Tuesday's session had been removed because it had the lowest attendance last year.

STEVE PERSON, recreation director, said registration for the skating programs is almost completed and a decision on whether to add the Tuesday public skating hours to the schedule would be made by the board when registration is completed.

The only other change in the public skating hours is on Wednesday. Last year the Wednesday afternoon hours were from 3 to 5:30 p.m. and this year they are from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Billings further explained that the fee had remained at $30 for a resident family if they had a 1971 pool pass. If the family did not purchase a pool pass an additional $5 was charged.

Multi-Family Zoning Decisions Set

Decisions on two petitions for multi-family zoning presented by local Realtor John Philippe will be made at 8 p.m. tonight by the Palatine Plan Commission.

Philippe previously was heard by the plan commission at public hearings for both proposals.

One petition requests annexation to the village and rezoning to multi-family use of five acres at the northwest corner of Quentin Road and Cornell Avenue. Philippe told the plan commission he would like to develop the land himself with 14 units per acre.

Although the plan commission suggested he consider using the land for a planned unit development, Philippe said he preferred to remain flexible about the usage. He added, however, that he might consider such a move if he knew the plan commission favored it.

Philippe said the land now is filled with old shacks and abandoned cars and said policing the area has been difficult for him and the village.

THE SECOND petition requests rezoning from single to multi-family on three lots in Merrill's Garden Homes at the southeast corner of Palatine Road and Pine Street.

Although Philippe had no definite proposal for apartment use, his attorney said he sought the zoning change there because of the probable widening of Palatine Road west to Algonquin Road, the location of apartments across the street, and the location of a drainage ditch separating the site from adjacent property.

The Orchard Hills Homeowners Association has formally objected to Philippe's petition, contending that apartments in that location would cause flooding from overloading the sanitary sewer in the area, would increase traffic, would open up development of more apartments and would detract from the existing single-family subdivision.

Philippe's land at Palatine and Pine would lie within an area being studied by the plan commission in a survey of the central business district. Philippe was told by plan commission members his petition would be affected by the downtown study, which includes consideration of increasing density for apartments near the downtown boundaries.

St. Paul United Church Looks Into Metal Box Of The Past

St. Paul United Church of Christ in Palatine began its second hundred years Sunday by looking into a metal box full of the past.

Three weeks of centennial anniversary celebrations began Sunday with the breaking open of the sanctuary cornerstone and a "time capsule" that was built into it in 1924, when the present church structure was constructed.

After a quartet of workmen with pneumatic drills loosened the stone, Pastor James W. Errant Jr. opened the metal box for the gathered congregation that included William Baumann, a member of the church's board of trustees when the box was interred 47 years ago.

Inside were an American flag, a dollar bill, a program from the 1924 cornerstone-laying ceremony, and other papers, all bearing the marks of a half-century's aging.

The church's centennial commission plans to put signs of the current time in the box and reveal it in the cornerstone.

The centennial commemoration will be marked in coming weeks with special church services Oct. 10 and 17, and with a dinner-dance Oct. 15 at Villa Olivia Country Club in Bartlett. Dinner-dance tickets are available at the church office.

Hope To Sell 'Lions Share' Of Candy Here

Lions Club volunteers throughout Palatine Township will hit the streets Friday to sell candy as part of the Lions Club annual Candy Day to raise money for handicapped children.

In Palatine, coordinators for the sale are Donald R. Beagle, president of the Palatine Lions, and Clifford Cool and Norm Riseya, chairmen of the local candy day drive.

The state-wide project will raise money to help the visually handicapped, including those at the Hadley School for the Blind and Leader Dogs for the Blind.

Money is also used to send visually handicapped children to Illinois Camp Lions and to help support Dialogue, a recorded service for the blind.

Road Behind The Sports Complex Will Be Removed

The Rolling Meadows City Council and the park board have agreed to remove an access road behind the sports complex, 3900 Owl Dr., after residents living in the area called the road paving project "a plan to put a drag strip on a silver platter."

William Billings, park board president, said yesterday the road will be removed this week "as a joint effort" by the city and the park district, and the area will be seeded with grass next week.

About 15 Peacock Lane residents, whose property borders the sports complex, appeared at an August city council meeting with numerous grievances about activities in the area. The residents were especially annoyed at a planned roadway from the sports complex to the city garage. The residents asked that city funds for the roadway not be appropriated because of "safety of children playing near the road."

At the city council meeting the homeowners presented other grievances including speeding in the parking lot and loss of privacy by the late night disturbances.

Billings said yesterday other grievances presented by the homeowners should be eliminated soon. He said bids have been sought for trees and shrubs to be used to screen the homes from the park.

BILLINGS ADDED that a blockade has been constructed at the sports complex to prevent cars from entering. He said the blockade will be taken away when the roadway behind the sports complex is removed this week.

Billings last month called the residents' complaints "valid" but there were conflicting reports concerning which group, the city or the park board, wanted the roadway behind the sports complex.

Mayor Roland Meyer said no city funds had been earmarked for the road project, but Billings contended the city had agreed to help finance the project.

Billings also added the city would not allow the park district to blockade the south end of the road, because it was used by city trucks. He also said the park board didn't want the road in the first place, but the city requested it.

The complaints of late night disturbance will be remedied next year, as the boys' baseball games will be scheduled earlier in the evening. The nearby homeowners have been invited to participate in scheduling the games next year, according to Billings.

Students Cry 'There's No Place To Go'

"There's no place to go." This was the complaint of approximately 30 students who appeared before the Rolling Meadows Park District Board of Commissioners.

After listening to the students, the board directed Steve Persons, director of recreation, to meet with a delegation of students today to see what could be worked out.

The park district currently sponsors a high school drop-in center from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at the Sports Complex.

The students explained that many of them don't get home from school until 4:30 p.m. and then have to stay around the house for dinner.

"WE WANT a place to go every week-night," said Robert Bresemann, 2801 Sigwalt. "We don't want just a place to play basketball and hockey because many of us can't. We want a place where we can sit and rap."

"The sports complex has just passed us by," explained a student.

"In the summer we could go to the parks but in the winter we can only go to the mall and loiter or to someone's house and our parents are already sick of our friends," added another student.

Person asked a delegation of students to meet with him today at 4 p.m. to see what could be arranged. The complex might be available three or four nights a week, Person told the students.

William Billings, board president said some limitations would have to be placed on the students and they would have to abide by the park district's rules.

In addition to just a place to congregate, another student suggested that fine arts courses be offered.

"IF YOU'RE Charles Atlas the sports complex is fine but if you like fine arts there is no place to go," he said.

Person said the sports complex could offer many opportunities but in the past there had always been a lot of interest when a program was being talked about but when it came to signing up no one came.

"We can give you a place to go and programs you want within reason," Billings told the students.

THE FIREMAN'S mascot "Sparky the Dog" joined the parade Saturday in Rolling Meadows as part of national Fire Prevention Week activities. More than 250 persons witnessed the parade and firefighting program at the city fire station, including this young fireman. Rolling Meadows firemen will conduct evening fire prevention programs at the fire station this week. For stories and other photos see page 3.

School Opens As Building Goes On

by BETSY BROOKER

Squares of colored paper with the words "students keep out" are taped over doorways at various locations in the new Dist. 214 Rolling Meadows High School.

Barricades are stretched across the two entrances to the high school cafeteria. Lunch tables crowd the front foyer. Gaping holes in the drop ceiling reveal insulation-wrapped pipes and electrical fixtures.

Black metal shelves stand bare in the library (instructional materials center). A long counter unit rests on a dolly in the lobby of the main office area. Students' cars share the parking lot with trailers serving as on-the-job offices for contractors. Workmen walk across the new carpeting in heavy construction boots, leaving a trail of dusty footprints.

$65,000 Water Main Boost OKd

Rolling Meadows officials have approved more than $65,000 to extend a water main from W. Frontage Road to Algonquin Road for improved water service in the city.

Supt. of Public Works James McPeggan said Friday the water line will connect two wells and that the western sector of Rolling Meadows will benefit most from the water line installation.

Installation of the line "is especially important now," McPeggan said, because Well No. 3 is not operational. The city's third well has not been in service since a repair accident caused the motor to be lodged in the bottom of the well, and it has not been recovered.

Rosetti Construction Co. was the successful bidder for the $65,000 project when the firm that submitted the lowest bid was disqualified after a decision by the city attorney that the firm was "not reputable."

At a board meeting last month, Miller said, "We had the academic areas ready for the opening of school and are still ahead of schedule." When asked why the entire project wasn't completed by September, Miller said, "We feel we should have a minimum of two years to build a school of this size."

The main areas not ready for use at this time are the gymnasium, the locker room shower areas, the kitchen and cafeteria, the stage in the little theater, the fieldhouse, the music rooms, the art rooms and the industrial arts shops. All of the construction areas are closed to students.

The situation is eased by the fact that the school has no senior class this year, according to principal Robert Hoese. "We have a capacity for 2,500 but an enrollment of only 1,380 this year. So we can switch classroom assignments until the entire building is completed."

UNTIL THE GYM floor is installed, physical education classes are being held outside and in empty classrooms. Empty classrooms also are being used for music, art and industrial arts classes. Hot lunches are being provided by a vending company and served in the front foyer.

Furniture for the incomplete areas is stored in the hallways. The librarians are now processing books to shelve on the new library stacks. The library will not be stocked to capacity this year.

One of the highlights of the new school, said Hoese, is two separate libraries. "The one on the ground floor is supplied mostly with books, while the second floor library also has audio visual equipment.

Construction Permits Hit Record Level

The Rolling Meadows building and zoning office issued permits for construction valued at more than $2 million during September, establishing a record for construction in a single month.

Building and zoning officer Sverre Haug said the September total was $2,206,000, surpassing the previous monthly construction high of $2,206,000 in April, 1969.

The bulk of September total came from the three-story addition to the Western Electric plant in southern Rolling Meadows. Haug said the Western Electric building is valued at $2,037,000. Hunt Chemical remodeling was valued at $60,000 and the Baird and Warner remodeling at Rolling Meadows shopping center was worth $20,000, Haug added.

The construction last month netted the city $13,236.47 in fees from the builders.

During the first five months of the city's fiscal year the majority of building permits were issued for single family dwellings and room additions. However, the industrial and commercial developments boost the total construction value this year to about $5 million. Last year's total construction in Rolling Meadows was near $9 million.

In addition, we have special resource centers complete with study carrels for three separate study divisions, including social studies-foreign language, English-fine arts, and math-science."

The resource centers serve as the core of separate pods for each of the study divisions. Many of the rooms are pie-shaped and separated by a dismountable wall. The walls do not have doors and the rooms do not have a teacher's desk. "We want to give a feeling of openness to the rooms," said Hoese. "And we felt that the teacher is more accessible to the student if we put his desk in the resource center rather than in the classroom."

Another highlight of the new school is an indoor track in the basement level of the gymnasium.

"The students know what a good school they have," said Hoese. "They are willing to put up with inconveniences for a while."

Mayor Fills Vacancies On City Commissions

Mayor Roland Meyer has made two appointments to fill vacancies on Rolling Meadows commissions.

Gordon Iverson was named to the zoning board of appeals and Robert Lyon was appointed to the Rolling Meadows library board.

1872 Residents Take Tuberculosis Test

The Suburban Cook County Tuberculosis Sanitarium District tested 1872 persons in Rolling Meadows last month, according to a report yesterday by Sanitarian Donald Schindler.

The Rolling Meadows Junior Women's Club conducted the registration of local residents prior to the X-ray tests taken at the Rolling Meadows Shopping Center.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon has decided to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act, setting in motion government procedures to order the nation's longshoremen back to work for an 80-day cooling off period. White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the order, when obtained from federal courts, would definitely apply to the West Coast dispute, now in its 96th day, and one of the longest in the nation's history.

The House handed President Nixon a key victory for his new economic policies when it refused to block his order delaying a $2.6 billion-a-year pay raise for federal workers for six months. The 207-174 vote upholding Nixon's order generally broke down along party lines in the House, but Republicans took advantage of Democratic defections and absences to carry the day for the President.

The State

Gov. Ogilvie announced a $25 million program to get 15,000 unemployed persons state and local government jobs. He said the program would provide jobs for about 10,000 welfare recipients plus about 5,000 unemployed "Vietnam-era" veterans.

Seven guards at Stateville Prison near Joliet were suspended because of the escape of three inmates Sept. 19.

A Peoria physician, Dr. John Mathis, announced he will be a candidate for governor unless a "responsible Republican" challenges Gov. Ogilvie.

The World

President Nguyen Van Thieu rolled up a landslide reelection victory in South Vietnam's uncontested presidential vote and called it a national achievement. "This is really a very good achievement of our nation and our people in the building and implementing of democracy," Thieu said. After the election the U.S. command announced one of its biggest American troop cutbacks in two years, a reduction of 3,200 men.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers outlined a new six-point Middle East peace proposal, pledging no letup in U.S. efforts for an interim agreement.

A powerful explosion demolished a British army post in Belfast Monday, injuring 10 soldiers and at least six passersby. Snipers shot a policeman in the back and troops wounded a sniper. The army post blast touched off a new wave of violence in the capital of religiously divided Northern Ireland.

Billings further explained that the fee had remained at $30 for a resident family if they had a 1971 pool pass. If the family did not purchase a pool pass an additional $5 was charged.

"It's a better bargain because there are more hours this year," said Billings. He said last year the $30 covered 3½ months of public skating and this year the fee covered 33 weeks.

In addition to the elimination of the Tuesday session, the mothers complained because the Wednesday session had been shifted to the dinner hours.

"What am I getting for my tax dollars?" the mothers asked. "I have to pay for everything at the park district plus pay taxes."

Billings said the district tried to make all the programs self-sufficient and in line with those being charged in neighboring districts.

"We do the best job we can. If we had the money the city does the programs would be free. Unfortunately it's not possible," said Billings. Billings added that the park district would like to make a profit and build an indoor swimming pool in the city.

Youth Shot, Then Nabbed By Police

An Arlington Heights patrolman early Sunday morning shot and later arrested and charged a 17-year-old youth with burglary of a medical building at 203 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

Listed in serious but improved condition at Northwest Community Hospital is Ralph Kaiser, 108 N. Forest Ave., Palatine police.

He is charged with burglary, aggravated assault and resisting arrest.

Police also arrested two other suspects in connection with the alleged break-in. Apprehended at the time of the shooting was Paul Hilderger, 24, of Fox River Grove. An Itasca man, John Schvette, 21, was arrested Monday morning by Palatine police.

Both men were charged with burglary. Police say Kaiser was stopped behind the medical building about 1 a.m. Sunday and was told that he was under arrest. The youth then reportedly moved toward the policeman, apparently with an object in his right hand, police say.

PATROLMAN FRANCIS Bischoffer, 44, fired one shot, hitting Kaiser in the abdomen. Police say the youth then fled the scene. Bischoffer has been with the department for 13 years.

Kaiser went to the home of a friend. Police say he told the friend's mother he had fallen on a picket fence, and had suffered a puncture wound.

The woman bandaged the youth and about noon Sunday suggested to her son that Kaiser be taken to the hospital, according to police. He was transported to Northwest Community Hospital by cab.

Police report that a television, radio and a large quantity of drugs were taken from the medical offices. They say the stolen material has been recovered.

Bond for all three men charged in the case was set at $1,500 each.

Cancel Ladies' Event

The monthly ladies day movie matinee sponsored by the Rolling Meadows Shopping center has been cancelled.

The movie was scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 12, but will be held in November due to technical difficulties at the Meadows Theatre, according to a shopping center spokesman.

Cross-Country 'Save America' Runners Speak At Church

Two college students who ran from California to New York this summer to dramatize what they call America's environmental and spiritual pollution spoke at the Arlington Heights Free Church Sunday.

Joel and Tony Ahlstrom, brothers from Jackson, Mich., and seniors at Trinity College in Deerfield, ran 2,958 miles, about 30 miles a day for 3½ months, in their "Save America" campaign.

Sunday night they told about 200 persons at the church about the things they did and learned on their journey.

Though the brothers share concern about the physical and moral environment in America, Joel generally lead discussion on ecology and Tony, who plans to become a minister, talks about the spiritual issues.

Joel, who wants to go into business, deprecates the menace of industrial pollution but feels concerned individuals shouldn't wait for someone else to solve the problems.

"SOLUTIONS TO our nation's problems will not come by waiting for someone else to solve them or by criticizing the efforts of the establishment to solve them, but by working for the answers," he said.

"We must have the faith and confidence as individuals to realize the impact that the sincere efforts of one man can have. There are too many who believe in problems and too few who believe in solutions."

Tony, at 23 the younger by three years, said that America has long been considered the problem solver of the world, but its most valuable resource — people — needs reeducation.

"America's greatest resource is her people," he said, "and we hope to be a major stimulus in activating that resource. We believe that the environmental problem transcends races, generations and ideologies . . . if we can get it solved."

A new awareness of spirituality is a big step in the right direction, he said. "Just as man's outer environment needs immediate attention, so does his inner environment. We see constantly the results of our personal spiritual and moral decay. Really knowing Jesus Christ provides the best living environment possible — we want to share this too."

Sewer Connection Legal Hassle Is Continuing

The legal hassle over Cook County building permits for home sanitary sewer connections in Prospect Heights will apparently last longer than had been expected.

The controversy involves a suit filed by the Prospect Heights Old Town Sanitary District (OTSD) against the Cook County Building Department. The suit challenges the building department's contention that OTSD area residents need county building permits for the installation of sewers connecting their homes with OTSD sewer lines.

The suit was to have come up in circuit court last Friday, but OTSD officials secured a continuance for a date later this month. The hearing has been tentatively rescheduled for Oct. 15.

Richard Schuld, superintendent of the OTSD, said his group sought the continuance because it had hired an additional attorney for the case.

THE MATTER FIRST came up last summer when residents in the OTSD area received notices that they had violated the county building code in failing to get county building permits for their sewer connections. Those residents, however, pointed out they had already secured permits for the connections from the OTSD.

Upon learning the OTSD had issued permits for the work, the county department at first told residents to disregard the notices, until the department's attorneys looked into the matter. Later, the department reiterated its requirement that residents procure county building permits for the connections.

William Harris, deputy commissioner of the county department, said, "I've held up any kind of action against those who got the notices until we get some kind of court action."

Schuld said yesterday that work on the OTSD system has not been held up because of the controversy. "And installation of home sewer connections is still going on as usual," he added.

OTSD officials claim the county building department has no power to force the residents to get the permits. Schuld has said that in checking with most of the other sanitary sewer districts in Cook County, he has not discovered a single one in which the building department required residents to get building permits for home sewer connections.

SCHULD SAID THAT at one time he and the county department had worked out a plan under which no permits would be required. Under the plan, county inspectors would monitor the construction in the area, but residents would not be forced to buy permits. But, he said, the plan was dropped by the county.

Wheeling Homecoming This Week

A variety of activities culminating in a dance Saturday night will be featured in "Autumn Daze Week" — the Homecoming celebration this week at Wheeling High School.

Today will be "costume day" at the high school, when students will wear their favorite costumes to class. The presentation assembly also will be held today when the five girls vying for the title of Homecoming queen will be presented to the student body.

The five queen candidates are Diane Gill, Debbie Hildebrandt, Kathy Schmidt, Sue Simons and Jane Wachholz. The girls, all seniors, were selected as queen candidates by the senior class.

Final selection of a queen will be made in voting today by the entire student body.

Wednesday will be teacher and student "grub day" at Wheeling High. Old clothes will be worn to class.

Thursday will be "color day" when students will wear the school colors — blue, gold and white — to class. A coronation assembly will be held at 3:15 p.m. Thursday to announce the name of the new homecoming queen.

At 6:30 p.m. Thursday a pep rally will be held at the Wheeling High School football field, to be followed by a mixer from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Friday will be "honor the football players day" and also the day for spirit competition at Wheeling High. A panel of judges will select the high school class demonstrating the most spirit.

The Wheeling Wildcat football team will play Arlington High School Friday evening in the Homecoming football game. The junior varsity game will start at 6 p.m. and the varsity game will start at 8 p.m. The 1971 Homecoming queen and her court will be presented between the two games.

Homecoming activities will conclude with a semi-formal dance Saturday evening in the Wheeling High gymnasium.

Couples Invited To 'Family Movement'

Thus far more than 35 Mount Prospect area married couples have enrolled in the Christian Family Movement, a series of home discussion groups sponsored by St. Raymond Catholic Church.

The discussion program for married couples involves twice-monthly meetings by small groups in one another's homes to discuss various family issues and problems. Members of the groups are not required to belong to St. Raymond's.

Spokesmen for the series have issued a special invitation to newcomers. "A few newcomers want a chance to sink roots and make friends in the new community. Small groups are a good way to find out about the experience of other couples with the community," said an official of the project.

Discussion topics will be geared to a wide range of topics of interest to couples of all ages.

Though registration is still going on, the number of couples that can be accepted is limited. For more information, call 259-6257 or 394-6537.

Hersey Band Named 'Best Of The Day'

The John Hersey High School band was named "Best of the Day" Sept. 25 in competition during Illinois State University's second annual Band Day.

After receiving a special trophy, the band performed during halftime of the football game between the ISU Redbirds and Southern Illinois University at Hancock Stadium at Normal, Ill. The band also was named winner in its class, determined by enrollment.

The Prospect High School marching band also participated in the competition. The band, in the same class as Hersey, received "a high rating," according to a spokesman.

Hundreds Of Bicycles Were Safety Checked

Hundreds of bicycles were safety checked Friday at two Prospect Heights Dist. 23 schools.

Officials from the Cook County Traffic Safety Commission were at Betsy Ross and Anne Sullivan schools, both located at Palatine and Schoenbeck roads in Prospect Heights, to check students' bicycles.

While at the schools the safety commission representatives showed a film and gave a lecture on bicycle safety. The team then inspected an estimated 300 bicycles. Students also underwent a bicycle riding test administered by safety commission officials. Decals were presented to those students who passed all tests.

Women's Lib In Reverse For Teacher

by SUE JACOBSON

Women's liberation in reverse is an apt description of what's going on this fall at Nathaniel Hawthorne School in Wheeling. A man has invaded the bastions of a formerly all-woman profession — teaching kindergarten.

Steve Carlin is the school's new kindergarten teacher. He's both the first male kindergarten teacher in Dist. 21, and the only male teacher at Hawthorne School this year.

A native of Chicago, Carlin graduated from Northern Illinois University this spring with a degree in elementary education.

"I really didn't know what I wanted to major in in college," the bachelor teacher recalled. "I started out in art; then I switched to history. Then when I was a junior I decided on teaching."

"My family was surprised because I didn't like school when I was in grade school and high school. It was boring and some of the teachers had bad attitudes toward teaching their students. Most of all it was just boring."

"BUT THEN WHEN I was in college I remembered what it was like for me in school and I thought maybe if I became a teacher I could help other kids. I could try to make school interesting and be more sensitive to student problems."

"I had always liked the younger kids and I was encouraged to go into primary teaching. When I started looking for a permanent job, I originally wanted to teach first grade because I was assigned to that grade when I was student teaching, and I really enjoyed it," Carlin said. "But when I was interviewed in Dist. 21, Kay Kacena (head teacher at Hawthorne School) asked if I would take the kindergarten classes. And that's where I was put. I like it. It's great."

Carlin teaches 43 students, half in a morning session and the rest in an afternoon session.

His students have shown no unusual reaction to having a male teacher, Carlin reported.

"Maybe a few were scared of school at first. And a few are shy. But there haven't been any out-of-the-ordinary reactions. Kids at this age tell stories about everything. They keep me in 'stitches' half the time."

Carlin feels children in the primary grades need the influence of a male teacher.

"I think they need a male teacher at this age more than a female. They see their mothers at home all the time and most of their teachers are females as they go through school. I think the boys, and the girls, too, need a male to look up to."

CARLIN FEELS the parents of his students have also accepted him as their

Have Homes Clearly Marked

Mount Prospect homeowners are advised to have their street number or address clearly marked on their home. Acting Police Chief John Savage said last week police officers and firemen have been encountering difficulty in some areas of the village in locating particular homes that are not marked with an address.

The search for an unnumbered home slows public employees in answering a call, he said.

Savage also recommended that when citizens call the police department in an emergency situation, they remain at the telephone while the radio operator dispatches a squad car to the area. Contact should be maintained until the squad car arrives at the caller's location.

The purpose behind the constant communication is that it could make the difference in catching a vandal, for example, as it allows the officer some insight into what situation he may expect when he arrives.

Finally, Savage urged that all citizens call the police whenever they have the slightest thought that police action is necessary. He said that incidents a citizen might shrug off and not consider important, could prove to be very important to a police investigation.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon has decided to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act, setting in motion government procedures to order the nation's longshoremen back to work for an 80-day cooling-off period. White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the order, when obtained from federal courts, would definitely apply to the West Coast dispute, now in its 96th day, and one of the longest in the nation's history.

The House handed President Nixon a key victory for his new economic policies when it refused to block his order delaying a $2.6 billion-a-year pay raise for federal workers for six months. The 207-174 vote upholding Nixon's order generally broke down along party lines in the House, but Republicans took advantage of Democratic defections and absentees to carry the day for the President.

The State

Gov. Ogilvie announced a $25 million program to get 15,000 unemployed persons state and local government jobs. He said the program would provide jobs for about 10,000 welfare recipients plus about 5,000 unemployed "Vietnam-era" veterans.

Seven guards at Stateville Prison near Joliet were suspended because of the escape of three inmates Sept. 19.

A Peoria physician, Dr. John Mathis, announced he will be a candidate for governor unless a "responsible Republican" challenges Gov. Ogilvie.

The World

President Nguyen Van Thieu rolled up a landslide reelection victory in South Vietnam's uncontested presidential vote and called it a national achievement. "This is really a very good achievement of our nation and our people in the building and implementing of democracy," Thieu said. After the election the U.S. command announced one of its biggest American troop cutbacks in two years, a reduction of 3,200 men.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers outlined a new six-point Middle East peace proposal, pledging no letup in U.S. efforts for an interim agreement.

A powerful explosion demolished a British army post in Belfast Monday, injuring 10 soldiers and at least six passersby. Snipers shot a policeman in the back and troops wounded a sniper. The army post blast touched off a new wave of violence in the capital of religiously divided Northern Ireland.

The War

Communist troops responded to the South Vietnamese presidential election with the most attacks in 18 months, shelling bases along the Demilitarized Zone and in the vicinity of Saigon, military spokesmen said. Spokesmen said the 92 separate attacks in a 24-hour period were the highest since March 31, 1970, the day before the first South Vietnamese drive in to Cambodia, when 112 attacks were recorded.

'Lincoln Leaves Cook To Demos'

by MARGE FERROLI

Formation of Lincoln County from suburban Cook County areas would leave Chicago and the remainder of the county totally in the hands of the Democratic Party.

Mayor Fred Downey of Hoffman Estates cautioned the rest of the members of the Lincoln County Committee at the first organizational meeting last Thursday that a secession from Cook County would mean little Republican Party effect on the rest of the county.

"No matter what the boundaries of Lincoln County are and if the proposal is successful, we'd be abandoning Cook County to the Democrats," he said. "We will not be able to elect any Republican to an official position in the county."

He cited the past election of Richard Ogilvie to sheriff of Cook County and county board president, "and this couldn't have happened if Lincoln County existed."

DOWNEY SAID HE wouldn't be surprised if Democrats came out in favor of Lincoln County and disannexation so that the party would have almost complete control over Chicago.

Emphasizing the separation between political parties which would result from Lincoln County, Downey said, "I believe in the two-party system." The Republican mayor then added, "except in Hoffman Estates."

Downey's remarks caused most of the nine committee members to insist that the Lincoln County proposal is being considered on a non-partisan basis.

However, State Sen. John A. Graham, R-Barrington, said, "There is no such thing as non-partisan."

Graham said the "economic and social makeup of a new county is our main concern," rather than party affiliations. "Our greatest challenge is what approach to creating a new county is feasible and saleable."

He volunteered to seek a legal interpretation from State Atty. Gen. William Scott on statutory regulations on dis-annexation from an existing county. "Chances are if and when Lincoln County is established it would wind up in the Supreme Court for a legal decision," he said.

ALTHOUGH THE committee did not determine what the boundaries of Lincoln County would be, it did agree it should encompass more than the original six Northwest suburban townships in order to succeed.

"As a practical and logical move, we must look into more than six townships," W. Richard Impey, an Arlington Heights attorney and committee member, said.

Wendell Jones, a Palatine trustee and one of the co-origins of the Lincoln County proposal, suggested the committee initiate interest in all suburban Cook County areas that several separate counties be formed around Chicago.

"If we all vote for each other's disannexation, then we'd all get out of Cook County," he said.

Jones suggested counties be formed called Eisenhower County, in the Northeast, Lincoln in the Northwest, Stevenson in the Southwest, Dirksen in the West and Kennedy in the South.

PRIOR TO THE discussion of the size of a new county, the committee members elected Merwin Soper, a Palatine trustee, permanent chairman of the group. Soper and Jones drafted the original proposal for Lincoln County in August.

Six standing committees for researching all aspects of creating a new county were also established at Thursday's meeting, which was attended by some 50 residents.

The legislation committee will be headed by Sen. Graham and State Rep. David Regner, R-Mount Prospect.

Other committees include finance, headed by Schaumburg Mayor Robert Atcher; governmental organizations, headed by Jones; intergovernmental relations, headed by Downey; judicial and law enforcement, headed by Arlington Heights Atty. LeMoine Stitt; and public relations headed by Impey.

Phone Rate Hike Rings Disfavor

Illinois Bell Telephone Co. is asking for a general hike that could mean increases in suburban phone bills of 15 per cent or more.

Increases would cover a wide variety of service including one-party service, business service and long-distance calls. Residents of Mount Prospect and Prospect Heights polled at random by the Herald yesterday were asked how they felt about the possible rate hikes. This is what they said:

"I don't think much of it, and I wonder when all of this is going to stop," said Mrs. James La Turno, who lives at 21 S. Edward in Mount Prospect. "In my opinion, the company doesn't deserve an increase."

Mrs. La Turno said she uses her telephone "quite a bit." She said if rate increases are approved she would probably cut down on long-distance calls.

Mrs. Norman Major, of 200 S. Owen St. in Mount Prospect, said she doesn't favor the increases at all. "I'm not happy with the phone service as it is," she said. "We're on a party line and often not able to get in. I would like to put in a public telephone. We might look into it." Mrs. Major said she didn't think the telephone company deserved approval of an increase.

"Is anybody in favor of an increase?" asked Mrs. Roger Neitzke of 6 S. Maple St. in Mount Prospect. "People keep on asking for more money and you have to pay those people. It's just a vicious cycle."

Mrs. Louis Pennisi of 1620 Dogwood Ln. in Mount Prospect is serviced by Central Telephone of Illinois but said she thinks it is "unfortunate" Illinois Bell rates may go up. "All the rates are going up," she said. "I don't know how they can keep their prices down but I think they should try. The whole economy of the nation is at fault because everything is going up."

Mrs. Charles Lindeler of 108 Columbine Dr. in Prospect Heights is also served by Central Telephone. But she agrees that rate hikes shouldn't be approved. "It seems it is getting exorbitant," she said. "If Central raises its rates, I'll just start writing more letters and cut down on phone calls. In the long run it's cheaper."

Mrs. Carl Nelson of 210 W. Ridge Ave. in Prospect Heights said she is not sure if Bell deserves a rate increase. "Everything else is going up," she said. "but on the other hand, where is it all going to stop?"

Mrs. Anthony Aszman of 109 S. Parkway in Prospect Heights said she thinks Bell deserves a rate increase. "I feel that increases are eventually necessary since everything else has gone up, including wages," she said. "You can't expect something to stay stationary while everything else goes up. I have been very satisfied with my service."

From The Library

by LAURIE ROSSI

Whenever a thing starts to get big, it isn't long before books and products start coming out to capitalize quickly on the fad, while they can. But biking — for exercise, pleasure, or transportation — is becoming more and more popular, and the reasons that are motivating people to bike indicate it's more than just a passing fad. There doesn't seem to be a great number of books on the subject yet, but the Mount Prospect library has one called "Bike-Ways, 101 Things to do with a Bike."

The title appealed to me simply because people are already using bikes in so many different ways. Others have purchased new bikes and are searching for novel ways to use them.

"How to organize a bike club" is one of the chapters you might enjoy. There are currently scores of local ski clubs, bridge clubs, and golf clubs, but very few bike clubs. "The Wandering Wheels," a group that originated at Taylor University, Indiana, is branching out and becoming more popular. Perhaps you'd like to be instrumental in starting a local bike club. This book will tell you how, along with how to plan a race meet and a rodeo.

THE RODEO is especially fascinating for children. It could even be used as a theme for a birthday party. Events like the slalom, ring toss, balloon maze, and obstacle drop are clearly explained, and often illustrated.

Certainly a bike becomes more than just a means to deliver newspapers when you become involved in some of the very challenging activities a bike can bring.

AMONG THESE are bike polo, cross country, overseas bike tours, and downhill and mountain biking. How you can get into shape for biking, how you go about getting a bike path in your city, how to take interesting bike pictures, and how to build a shelter with a bike, tree, and tarp are fascinating topics the old or new bike enthusiast will love. Your children may profit from the section on how to use their bikes to earn money, and they'll profit from the information while you profit from the peace of mind that they've read about bike safety.

THE PRESCHOOL story hour in the children's room has resumed again. It is held on Thursday morning from 10:30 to 11:00 a.m. Children should be at least 3 years old.

The list of those completing the requirements for the children's reading club is up on the bulletin board. Those children will be treated to the Goodman Theater Touring Company production of "The Hide and Seek Odyssey of Madeline Gimple" on Saturday morning, Oct. 9 at the St. Paul Lutheran School auditorium. Tickets will be issued in the children's room, starting Monday.

For a brief description of new children's books acquired each month, you may consult that month's edition of the "Children's Department News," available at the library.

SOME INTERESTING books in the adult section have been especially discussed lately on many local and national talk shows. "The Buried Life: A Nun's Journey" is currently quite popular. Midge Turk, a former nun, discusses her former life as a nun. You may have seen her lately on television.

IF GHOSTS intrigue you, "The Ghosts that Walk in Washington" will too. This author believes in ghosts, and tells you about the ones inhabiting our nation's capital.

When two popular fads among youth are combined, they make a great instructional book, "Beads Plus Macrame: Applying Knotting Techniques to Beadcraft."

The children's room has recently acquired the books written up by Joan Beck in the Chicago Tribune on children's emotions, written by Jane Watson.

Beginning Sunday, the library will reopen on Sundays, from 2 to 5 p.m. Because this cooler weather is so conducive to curling up with a book, you'll love these new hours making library visits even more convenient.

Say VD Is Approaching 'Epidemic Proportions'

Venereal disease is approaching "epidemic proportions" in the Northwest suburban area, according to Dr. John B. Hall, Cook County public health director.

Figures for 1970 showed 325 cases of venereal disease reported in the area between Evanston and Elgin, including 250 cases of gonorrhea and 75 cases of syphilis.

The number of existing cases can be doubled immediately because each represents a person from which the disease was contracted.

People involved with venereal disease are usually promiscuous, so the 325 figure can be tripled, he added. There are also a large number of cases handled by private physicians, and there's no way to calculate how many.

"There's a lot of young adults between the ages of 15 and 24 who are quite sexually active; venereal disease is one of the side effects," said Dr. Hall.

"We're working with 'The Bridge' (a local youth counseling service) and trying to get into Des Plaines to see what we can do to get some venereal disease information out to these areas," he added.

"We've got 100,000 wallet-size cards with information suggesting that people who contract venereal disease contact our district office in Des Plaines," said Dr. Hall, adding "One of our nurses is working closely with the Palatine Youth Commission officials trying to expand the basis where we're working with kids."

Kim Corbett Queen At Forest View

Debris Of Light Plane Is Found

Debris that might be from a light plane missing since Sept. 11 on a flight from Pal-Waukee Airport has been found on the shore of Lake Huron by Canadian authorities.

The twin-engine plane, on a flight from Pal-Waukee near Wheeling to Sudbury, Ontario, was reported missing shortly after noon Sept. 11. It carried four persons including two from Mount Prospect and one from Arlington Heights. Two of those aboard were divers.

George Priester, owner and operator of Priester Aviation Service at Pal-Waukee, said last night that Canadian searchers have found a diver's boot, a metal and upholstered panel and other pieces of metal. But, he said, there has been no confirmation that the debris came from the missing plane. Priester said, "From their description of the size of the panel, it couldn't be from our plane."

Those aboard the craft were Robert J. Poole, 44, of 215 S. Wille St., Mount Prospect; Carol Saunders, 26, of 805 N. Wilke Rd., Arlington Heights; and the two skindivers, Dr. Lawrence Hayes, 31, of 1553 Redwood Ln., Mount Prospect; and Jerry Schoenfeld, 31, of Chicago. The group was flying to Ontario in an attempt to recover the body of Miss Saunders' father who had drowned in a Canadian lake while on a fishing trip about two months ago.

Teachers Request 'Impasse' In Contract Negotiations

Teachers in Mount Prospect Dist. 57 last night asked the school board to declare an impasse in negotiations for a 1971-72 contract.

The board, which did not act or comment on the request, was asked to make a decision by 9 p.m. Oct. 18. A resolution read by Dale Heilman, president of the Mount Prospect Education Association (MPEA) said that in view of "the refusal of the board to make further movement toward negotiations, the Mount Prospect Education Association considers the status of negotiations to be at an impasse. In order to alleviate this critical situation we urge implementation of impasse procedure."

According to an agreement between the board and teachers, an impasse can be declared only if both sides agree.

Once such a state has been declared mediators can be called in to help reach a settlement. Teachers had previously asked that an impasse be declared but the board and its professional negotiator, Richard Zwieback had refused.

THE REQUEST for an impasse was made after teachers yesterday afternoon voted 136-5 to reject the board's latest contract offer which includes a 5 per cent salary increase for all returning teachers.

Teachers then voted to present the impasse resolution upon recommendations made by representatives of the Illinois Education Association (IEA) and the MPEA governing board.

"If the board rejects us again, we will get back together and decide from there," Heilman said.

"I suggest you go to the public," said Dick Croll, IEA representative who spoke to the teachers yesterday. "Make your community aware of what is going on in their schools. The key is going to the public. Let them know you have reached an impasse."

Cross called negotiations, which began in December "a charade." He told teachers: "I could have recommended to you that you strike — but that's the easy way. I'm asking you to do it the difficult way."

BEFORE THE VOTE on the board's offer was taken yesterday, David Metzler, MPEA negotiations chairman, showed teachers 1971-72 salary schedules of Elk Grove Elementary Dist. 59, Arlington Heights Elementary Dist. 25 and River Trails Elementary Dist. 28.

"If we accept the board's proposal we will be behind all three school districts," he said. "We will be a full year behind the other districts."

The MPEA's latest proposal called for a 4.5 per cent increase for returning teachers. The proposal includes an average 2.7 per cent increase which is already included in the current salary schedule as a yearly pay raise. However 39 teachers would not receive that increase unless they add to their education.

The center is located in the Mount Prospect Country Club, 600 S. See-Gwun Ave. It will be open noon until 5 p.m. Mondays, and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesdays through Fridays.

Building Use, Textbook, Bus Fees Won't Increase

Residents of Elk Grove Township Elementary District 59 will pay the same building fees, book fees, and transportation fees as last year at least until Nov. 15.

The board of education voted last night to revert to the 1970-71 fee schedule and policy in order to comply with the wage-price freeze ordered by President Nixon.

As a result, groups which used the buildings after school and on weekends last year without charge will again be able to do so. Also groups which paid for building use last year will pay the same hourly rate.

In addition, parents will pay only two book fees at $10 each even though they may have more than two children in the school district.

Also children who ride the "pay bus" will be charged $25 each, but parents with three or more children will pay a maximum of $75. Earlier this summer the board had changed its policy on charging for building use, textbooks and transportation. Under the new building use policy some groups including parent organizations holding fund-raising activities would have been charged for use of the building.

CHANGES IN BOOK fees and transportation fees would have eliminated the maximum charge for families with several children in the district.

After the President declared the wage-price freeze, the district originally planned to implement policy changes which would have charged groups and individuals who had not paid fees last year, but to use the old fee schedule.

However, Supt. James Ervitt reported to the board that such a decision was difficult to administer. Also he said, representatives of the Office of Emergency Preparedness, which has been enforcing the freeze, indicated that under the freeze guidelines, groups and individuals were to be charged the same as they were last year.

He said this seemed to indicate that the district should not implement the new policy for charging building use, book and transportation fees.

Drags Cycle 2.6 Miles

A Mount Prospect resident's auto hit a motorcycle in Wheeling early Saturday and dragged the motorcycle for more than 2 1/2 miles under his car before he was stopped by Wheeling Police, according to police.

Joseph C. Biela, 23, of 105 Albert St., Mount Prospect was charged with leaving the scene of an accident, driving while intoxicated and failure to yield when turning left in connection with the accident.

Police found the motorcycle rider, Michael S. Franklin, 17, of 905 McHenry, Wheeling, lying on the street at Dundee Road and Milwaukee Avenue. Police said the youth had severe head wounds.

The youth was taken to Holy Family Hospital where the doctors used approximately 30 stitches to close the wounds, police said.

Hospital officials yesterday said Franklin was in "very good" condition and would be released from the hospital today.

POLICE SAID the accident occurred at 12:44 a.m. Saturday on Dundee and Wolf Roads. A passing motorist who saw the accident flagged down a Wheeling policeman.

Police estimated damage to the car at $100 and damage to the motorcycle at $300.

Trustees Split Over 'Bargaining'

Mount Prospect trustees are split over whether municipal employees have the right to bargain collectively and strike.

The board of trustees have begun discussions which they hope will lead to a village board resolution on municipal employee labor relations that would be presented at the Illinois Municipal League (IML) conference the weekend of Oct. 16 at Peoria.

At that board meeting, the trustees said they felt municipalities should take a stand because legislation on the issue currently is being considered by the state and federal government. The trustees will submit their resolution in the hope IML will adopt some stand during the upcoming conference.

TRUSTEE Daniel J. Ahern said, "We should take a position, regardless of what it is, on whether public employees can bargain collectively. We should urge through the municipal league that some legislative action be taken."

Although public employee bargaining is forbidden by Illinois statute, Ahern said that everyone realizes that it goes on. He cited examples of "blue flu" and other work stoppages.

For himself, Ahern said he saw the power to strike as an economic tool whose use would probably be determined by the first contract signed with the bargaining unit. He implied a satisfactory means for attaining the first contract would facilitate future negotiations.

One trustee who said public employees, while they should be able to collectively bargain, should not be allowed to strike was Kenneth V. Scholten. "Giving them the right to strike paralyzes things," he said. "A minimum of service must be maintained."

Indeed, this is the crux of most debates over collective bargaining rights for municipal employees. Some contend the right to bargain collectively without the right to strike is like having no bargaining powers at all. Opponents of that theory say public employees work for the public good and as such serve a higher interest, which does not allow them to strike.

BOTH VIEWS were evidenced among the board. Mayor Robert D. Teichert said he could not "equivocate services of public health and safety to business operations."

He said he could see no way to overcome a disastrous situation which could be the result of a strike by public employees. "I'd rather see a state arbitration board establish salaries throughout the state, rather than see the right to strike."

Teichert used recent negotiations with the Mount Prospect fire department as an example of how such can be handled. "We have demonstrated in Mount Prospect that there is collective bargaining right now, although not sanctioned. Both the police and fire departments do send representatives through which they bargain with the board."

He said grievances can be handled and are handled through present channels in Mount Prospect "as the Mount Prospect Fire Department realized it already had the channels."

TRUSTEE Richard H. Monroe felt the board "could not recommend a bargaining unit (be established) at this time." His concern was that contract terms might be agreed to, only for the village to later discover it did not have enough funds to cover the agreement. "We can't go out of business," he said.

Trustee Donald B. Furst said he felt public employees should have both the right to bargain and to strike. "The only thing that bothers me is some of their responsibilities are different than those in business."

He said he too wanted to avoid the health hazards such as came about through the New York City garbage strike. He also said public employees accept certain responsibilities of service just by taking their jobs and knowing what that job entails.

November Intersection Work Slated

Work on the improvement of the Northwest Highway-Central Road intersection should begin in mid-November.

A spokesman for the apparent low-bidder, G. A. Rafel Co. of Chicago, said his firm could begin work within 30 days after receiving a contract from the Illinois state Division of Highways.

Joe Ligas, of the highways division, said it takes the Springfield office two to three weeks to award a contract, once the bids have been opened. Bids were opened last Wednesday with Rafel's $91,740 being the lowest.

Through a series of delays, Mount Prospect officials have been pressing for the start of this project. The intersection is considered one of the more dangerous in the village.

TONIGHT, THE village board will act on a resolution in which the village concurs in the awarding of the contract to G. A. Rafel. Ligas said the state requires village approval of the contract.

Once begun, the project will take some 60 working days to complete, John Banning said. With the onset of winter and bad weather, the total time required for completion will be longer.

"We will begin putting in the underground work as soon as possible," Banning said. "The public won't begin to notice until the last two or three weeks when we erect the new signals."

Plans for the intersection call for updating and improving the signalization and street lighting. Left-turn signals will be put in and so will concrete medians with left-turn storage bays on both Northwest Highway sides of the intersection.

BANNING SAID the intersection is complicated in that signalization will have to control six traffic flows, plus interruption by the railroad trains. Hi-Lusi and Prospect avenues intersect Central Road, just to the south of the railroad tracks and Central Road's intersection with Northwest Highway.

Funding for the project will be under the federal TOPICS program (Traffic Operations Program to Increase Capacity and Safety). TOPICS funds have been allocated for the improvement by the federal government. Under the plan, TOPICS funds pay 50 per cent with the state and the village equally sharing the remaining cost.

Earlier the letting of bids had been set for Sept. 3 but then that date became impractical.

In the March 1970 traffic safety study made for the village, it was disclosed that in a two-year period, July 1967 to June 1969, there were 108 accidents at the intersection. Four of these accidents involved personal injury.

The report said, "The number of right angle and rear end collisions indicates motorists do not have sufficient time to view the signal indications and obey the message presented."

In conjunction with the improvements, northbound Hu-Lusi traffic between Prospect and Busse avenues will be allowed to turn right only onto Prospect Avenue.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon has decided to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act, setting in motion government procedures to order the nation's longshoremen back to work for an 80-day cooling off period. White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the order, when obtained from federal courts, would definitely apply to the West Coast dispute, now in its 96th day, and one of the longest in the nation's history.

The House handed President Nixon a key victory for his new economic policies when it refused to block his order delaying a $2.6 billion-a-year pay raise for federal workers for six months. The 207-174 vote upholding Nixon's order generally broke down along party lines in the House, but Republicans took advantage of Democratic defections and absences to carry the day for the President.

The State

Gov. Ogilvie announced a $25 million program to get 15,000 unemployed persons state and local government jobs. He said the program would provide jobs for about 10,000 welfare recipients plus about 5,000 unemployed "Vietnam-era" veterans.

Seven guards at Stateville Prison near Joliet were suspended because of the escape of three inmates Sept. 19.

A Peoria physician, Dr. John Mathis, announced he will be a candidate for governor unless a "responsible Republican" challenges Gov. Ogilvie.

The World

President Nguyen Van Thieu rolled up a landslide reelection victory in South Vietnam's uncontested presidential vote and called it a national achievement. "This is really a very good achievement of our nation and our people in the building and implementing of democracy," Thieu said. After the election the U.S. command announced one of its biggest American troop cutbacks in two years, a reduction of 3,200 men.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers outlined a new six-point Middle East peace proposal, pledging no letup in U.S. efforts for an interim agreement.

A powerful explosion demolished a British army post in Belfast Monday, injuring 10 soldiers and at least six passersby. Snipers shot a policeman in the back and troops wounded a sniper. The army post blast touched off a new wave of violence in the capital of religiously divided Northern Ireland.

The War

Communist troops responded to the South Vietnamese presidential election with the most attacks in 18 months, shelling bases along the Demilitarized Zone and in the vicinity of Saigon, military spokesmen said. Spokesmen said the 92 separate attacks in a 24-hour period were the highest since March 31, 1970, the day before the first South Vietnamese drive in to Cambodia, when 112 attacks were recorded.

'Lincoln Leaves Cook To Demos'

by MARGE FERROLI

Formation of Lincoln County from suburban Cook County areas would leave Chicago and the remainder of the county totally in the hands of the Democratic Party.

Mayor Fred Downey of Hoffman Estates cautioned the rest of the members of the Lincoln County Committee at the first organizational meeting last Thursday that a secession from Cook County would mean little Republican Party effect on the rest of the county.

"No matter what the boundaries of Lincoln County are and if the proposal is successful, we'd be abandoning Cook County to the Democrats," he said. "We will not be able to elect any Republican to an official position in the county."

He cited the past election of Richard Ogilvie to sheriff of Cook County and county board president, "and this couldn't have happened if Lincoln County existed."

DOWNEY SAID HE wouldn't be surprised if Democrats came out in favor of Lincoln County and disannexation so that the party would have almost complete control over Chicago.

Emphasizing the separation between political parties which would result from Lincoln County, Downey said, "I believe in the two-party system." The Republican mayor then added, "except in Hoffman Estates."

Downey's remarks caused most of the nine committee members to insist that the Lincoln County proposal is being considered on a non-partisan basis.

However, State Sen. John A. Graham, R-Barrington, said, "There is no such thing as non-partisan."

Graham said the "economic and social makeup of a new county is our main concern," rather than party affiliations. "Our greatest challenge is what approach to creating a new county is feasible and saleable."

He volunteered to seek a legal interpretation from State Atty. Gen. William Scott on statutory regulations on dis-annexation from an existing county. "Chances are if and when Lincoln County is established it would wind up in the Supreme Court for a legal decision," he said.

ALTHOUGH THE committee did not determine what the boundaries of Lincoln County would be, it did agree it should encompass more than the original six Northwest suburban townships in order to succeed.

"As a practical and logical move, we must look into more than six townships," W. Richard Impey, an Arlington Heights attorney and committee member, said.

Wendell Jones, a Palatine trustee and one of the co-organizers of the Lincoln County proposal, suggested the committee initiate interest in all suburban Cook County areas that several separate counties be formed around Chicago.

"If we all vote for each other's disannexation, then we'd all get out of Cook County," he said.

Jones suggested counties be formed called Eisenhower County, in the Northeast, Lincoln in the Northwest, Stevenson in the Southwest, Dirksen in the West and Kennedy in the South.

PRIOR TO THE discussion of the size of a new county, the committee members elected Merwin Soper, a Palatine trustee, permanent chairman of the group. Soper and Jones drafted the original proposal for Lincoln County in August.

Six standing committees for researching all aspects of creating a new county were also established at Thursday's meeting, which was attended by some 50 residents.

The legislation committee will be headed by Sen. Graham and State Rep. David Regner, R-Mount Prospect.

Other committees include finance, headed by Schaumburg Mayor Robert A. Tcher; governmental organizations, headed by Jones; intergovernmental relations, headed by Downey; judicial and law enforcement, headed by Arlington Heights Atty. LeMoine Stitt; and public relations headed by Impey.

Phone Rate Hike Rings Disfavor

Illinois Bell Telephone Co. is asking for a general hike that could mean increases in suburban phone bills of 15 per cent or more.

Increases would cover a wide variety of service including one-party service, business service and long-distance calls. Residents of Mount Prospect and Prospect Heights polled at random by the Herald yesterday were asked how they felt about the possible rate hikes. This is what they said:

"I don't think much of it, and I wonder when all of this is going to stop," said Mrs. James La Turno, who lives at 21 S. Edward in Mount Prospect. "In my opinion, the company doesn't deserve an increase."

Mrs. La Turno said she uses her telephone "quite a bit." She said if rate increases are approved she would probably cut down on long-distance calls.

Mrs. Norman Major, of 200 S. Owen St. in Mount Prospect, said she doesn't favor the increases at all. "I'm not happy with the phone service as it is," she said. "We're on a party line and often not able to get in. I would like to put in a public telephone. We might look into it." Mrs. Major said she didn't think the telephone company deserved approval of an increase.

"Is anybody in favor of an increase?" asked Mrs. Roger Neitake of 6 S. Maple St. in Mount Prospect. "People keep on asking for more money and you have to pay those people. It's just a vicious cycle."

Mrs. Louis Pennisi of 1620 Dogwood Ln. in Mount Prospect is serviced by Central Telephone of Illinois but said she thinks it is "unfortunate" Illinois Bell rates may go up. "All the rates are going up," she said. "I don't know how they can keep their prices down but I think they should try. The whole economy of the nation is at fault because everything is going up."

Mrs. Charles Lindelof of 108 Columbine Dr. in Prospect Heights is also served by Central Telephone. But she agrees that rate hikes shouldn't be approved. "It seems it is getting exorbitant," she said. "If Central raises its rates, I'll just start writing more letters and cut down on phone calls. In the long run it's cheaper."

Mrs. Carl Nelson of 210 W. Ridge Ave. in Prospect Heights said she is not sure if Bell deserves a rate increase. "Everything else is going up," she said, "but on the other hand, where is it all going to stop?"

Mrs. Anthony Aszman of 109 S. Parkway in Prospect Heights said she thinks Bell deserves a rate increase. "I feel that increases are eventually necessary since everything else has gone up, including wages," she said. "You can't expect something to stay stationary while everything else goes up. I have been very satisfied with my service."

From The Library

by LAURIE ROSSI

Whenever a thing starts to get big, it isn't long before books and products start coming out to capitalize quickly on the fad, while they can. But biking — for exercise, pleasure, or transportation — is becoming more and more popular, and the reasons that are motivating people to bike indicate it's more than just a passing fad. There doesn't seem to be a great number of books on the subject yet, but the Mount Prospect library has one called "Bike-Ways, 101 Things to do with a Bike."

The title appealed to me simply because people are already using bikes in so many different ways. Others have purchased new bikes and are searching for novel ways to use them.

"How to organize a bike club" is one of the chapters you might enjoy. There are currently scores of local ski clubs, bridge clubs, and golf clubs, but very few bike clubs. "The Wandering Wheels," a group that originated at Taylor University, Indiana, is branching out and becoming more popular. Perhaps you'd like to be instrumental in starting a local bike club. This book will tell you how, along with how to plan a race meet and a rodeo.

THE RODEO is especially fascinating for children. It could even be used as a theme for a birthday party. Events like the slalom, ring toss, balloon maze, and obstacle drop are clearly explained, and often illustrated.

Certainly a bike becomes more than just a means to deliver newspapers when you become involved in some of the very challenging activities a bike can bring.

AMONG THESE are bike polo, cross country, overseas bike tours, and downhill and mountain biking. How you can get into shape for biking, how you go about getting a bike path in your city, how to take interesting bike pictures, and how to build a shelter with a bike, tree, and tarp are fascinating topics the old or new bike enthusiast will love. Your children may profit from the section on how to use their bikes to earn money, and they'll profit from the information while you profit from the peace of mind that they've read about bike safety.

THE PRESCHOOL story hour in the children's room has resumed again. It is held on Thursday morning from 10:30 to 11:00 a.m. Children should be at least 3 years old.

The list of those completing the requirements for the children's reading club is up on the bulletin board. Those children will be treated to the Goodman Theater Touring Company production of "The Hide and Seek Odyssey of Madeline Gimple" on Saturday morning, Oct. 9 at the St. Paul Lutheran School auditorium. Tickets will be issued in the children's room, starting Monday.

For a brief description of new children's books acquired each month, you may consult that month's edition of the "Children's Department News," available at the library.

SOME INTERESTING books in the adult section have been especially discussed lately on many local and national talk shows. "The Buried Life: A Nun's Journey" is currently quite popular. Midge Turk, a former nun, discusses her former life as a nun. You may have seen her lately on television.

IF GHOSTS intrigue you, "The Ghosts that Walk in Washington" will too. This author believes in ghosts, and tells you about the ones inhabiting our nation's capital.

When two popular fads among youth are combined, they make a great instructional book, "Beads Plus Macrame: Applying Knotting Techniques to Beadcraft."

The children's room has recently acquired the books written by Joan Beck in the Chicago Tribune on children's emotions, written by Jane Watson.

Beginning Sunday, the library will re-open on Sundays, from 2 to 5 p.m. Because this cooler weather is so conducive to curling up with a book, you'll love these new hours making library visits even more convenient.

Say VD Is Approaching 'Epidemic Proportions'

Venereal disease is approaching "epidemic proportions" in the Northwest suburban area, according to Dr. John B. Hall, Cook County public health director.

Figures for 1970 showed 325 cases of venereal disease reported in the area between Evanston and Elgin, including 250 cases of gonorrhea and 75 cases of syphilis.

The number of existing cases can be doubled immediately because each represents a person from which the disease was contracted.

People involved with venereal disease are usually promiscuous, so the 325 figure can be tripled, he added. There are also a large number of cases handled by private physicians, and there's no way to calculate how many.

"There's a lot of young adults between the ages of 15 and 24 who are quite sexually active; venereal disease is one of the side effects," said Dr. Hall.

"We're working with 'The Bridge' (a local youth counseling service) and trying to get into Des Plaines to see what we can do to get some venereal disease information out to these areas," he added.

"We've got 100,000 wallet-size cards with information suggesting that people who contract venereal disease contact our district office in Des Plaines," said Dr. Hall, adding "One of our nurses is working closely with the Palatine Youth Commission officials trying to expand the basis where we're working with kids."

Kim Corbett Queen At Forest View

Senior Kim Corbett reigned over Fall Festival activities last weekend at Forest View High School in Arlington Heights.

Miss Corbett, escorted by senior John Shewski, was named queen Friday at a coronation assembly. Members of her court included Joy Agger, Sally Farner, Debra Latta and Barbara Werner, all seniors. Court escorts were John Tofilon, John Russo, Jay Hedges and Bill Chilton.

Debris Of Light Plane Is Found

Debris that might be from a light plane missing since Sept. 11 on a flight from Pal-Waukee Airport has been found on the shore of Lake Huron by Canadian authorities.

The twin-engine plane, on a flight from Pal-Waukee near Wheeling to Sudbury, Ontario, was reported missing shortly after noon Sept. 11. It carried four persons including two from Mount Prospect and one from Arlington Heights. Two of those aboard were divers.

George Priestler, owner and operator of Priestler Aviation Service at Pal-Waukee, said last night that Canadian searchers have found a diver's boot, a metal and upholstered panel and other pieces of metal. But, he said, there has been no confirmation that the debris came from the missing plane. Priestler said, "From their description of the size of the panel, it couldn't be from our plane."

Those aboard the craft were Robert J. Poole, 44, of 215 S. Wille St., Mount Prospect; Carol Saunders, 26, of 805 N. Wilke Rd., Arlington Heights; and the two skindivers, Dr. Lawrence Hayes, 31, of 1553 Redwood Ln., Mount Prospect; and Jerry Schoenfeld, 31, of Chicago. The group was flying to Ontario in an attempt to recover the body of Miss Saunders' father who had drowned in a Canadian lake while on a fishing trip about two months ago.

Track, Board Members Plan 'Communications' Session

A "communications" session between the Arlington Heights Village Board and officials from Arlington Park Race Track will be held tonight.

The meeting is slated to begin at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd. The main topic of discussion will be the rules and regulations of the annexation agreement between the village and track officials which was signed nearly two years ago.

The meeting is an offshoot of the Sept. 10 motorcycle race held at the track. The event was protested by local residents who objected to the noise, lights and dust produced by the race.

The Yamaha Gold Cup race was announced by track officials in late August and citizens requested the village board to "do something" to prevent the activity. However, the village attorney advised the race was permitted under the terms of the annexation agreement. This opinion was later disputed by members of the village board.

THE BOARD held a meeting a few days after the event and agreed the event was a "nuisance" to at least a portion of the village. During a later committee-of-the-whole meeting to discuss the terms of the agreement, village board members decided to take a "strict constructionist" stand on the agreement.

According to the board's interpretation of the agreement, only certain activities will be allowed without the track having to apply for a special use permit. The application for a special use permit will require a public hearing, a recommendation by the plan commission and final approval by the village board.

The allowed activities will include operation of the race track, golf course, exhibition hall, fairgrounds, driving range, railroad station and utility facilities. Any other activities will require the special use permit procedure.

In addition, village board members agreed during their Sept. 23 committee-of-the-whole meeting to ask track officials for a schedule of completion on the new concrete barns with separate dormitory facilities.

ANOTHER TOPIC will include outlining the times when track officials will have to present plans for approval to the plan commission for a recommendation and to the village board for approval. When the track built its theater and opened it this spring, members of the plan commission said they felt the track should have requested approval of a planned development before starting the building.

The village board also hopes to be able to set up regular meetings, perhaps every six months, to meet with track officials to discuss future activities and developments.

Track officials expected to attend the meeting include Jack Loomer, president of Chicago Thoroughbred Enterprises (CTE) which operates Arlington Park Race Track; Newton Mandel, attorney for CTE who helped prepare the annexation agreement; and Tom Rivera, director of information at the track.

Youth Shot, Then Nabbed By Police

An Arlington Heights patrolman early Sunday morning shot and later arrested and charged a 17-year-old youth with burglary of a medical building at 203 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

Listed in serious but improved condition at Northwest Community Hospital is Ralph Kaiser, 108 N. Forest Ave., Palatine. He is charged with burglary, aggravated assault and resisting arrest.

Police also arrested two other suspects in connection with the alleged break-in. Apprehended at the time of the shooting was Paul Hilderinger, 24, of Fox River Grove. An Itasca man, John Schvette, 21, was arrested Monday morning by Palatine police.

Both men were charged with burglary. Police say Kaiser was stopped behind the medical building about 1 a.m. Sunday and was told that he was under arrest. The youth then reportedly moved toward the policeman, apparently with an object in his right hand, police say.

PATROLMAN FRANCIS Bischoffer, 44, fired one shot, hitting Kaiser in the abdomen. Police say the youth then fled the scene. Bischoffer has been with the department for 13 years.

Kaiser went to the home of a friend. Police say he told the friend's mother he had fallen on a picket fence, and had suffered a puncture wound.

The woman bandaged the youth and about noon Sunday suggested to her son that Kaiser be taken to the hospital, according to police. He was transported to Northwest Community Hospital by cab.

Police report that a television, radio and a large quantity of drugs were taken from the medical offices. They say the stolen material has been recovered.

Bond for all three men charged in the case was set at $1,500 each.

TB X-Ray Mobile To Visit Here

The mobile tuberculosis X-ray unit will be in downtown Arlington Heights tomorrow from noon to 6 p.m.

Residents may have free X-rays taken at the unit which will be parked by the Ben Franklin Store, 9 W. Campbell St. The mobile unit visits the location on the first and third Tuesday of each month.

A LOOK AT GLOBES and maps was offered to students at Dist. 21's Edgar Allen Poe School in Arlington Heights last week. Clarence O'Dell, a professor at Northeastern Illinois State University in Chicago, talked to fifth grade students about the uses of maps and globes in discovering facts about today's world.

Environment Unit To Study Incinerator

A special subcommittee of the Arlington Heights Environmental Control Commission will meet tonight to study a controversial proposal to build a garbage incinerator at the landfill site at Nichols and Schaeffer roads near Buffalo Grove.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. at the Arlington Heights Municipal Building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

Residents of Buffalo Grove oppose the proposal because they fear that waste from the incinerator will pollute the air. They also believe that the proposed 250-foot exhaust stack will be an eyesore and garbage trucks will create traffic problems on Arlington Heights Road because the incinerator would increase the landfill capacity.

The proposal has not received final approval from the village board. The finance committee is studying ways to finance the $4.5 million project.

At tonight's subcommittee meeting, the incinerator's effect on the environment will be studied.

CURRENT PLANS for the incinerator call for it to handle 400 tons of garbage per day.

The incinerator furnace will be capable of 24-hour-a-day operation at temperatures of between 1,200 and 1,400 degrees. The exhaust gases will be vented through anti-pollution devices and out the 250-foot exhaust stack.

Arlington Heights officials have estimated that unless the incinerator is installed the landfill will be filled completely within six years.

Officials also pointed out that the incinerator would be able to handle garbage from surrounding towns. Presently, only garbage from Arlington Heights and Buffalo Grove is dumped at the landfill site.

They said pollution control devices will be installed, but did acknowledge that the garbage trucks could create a traffic problem in the area.

Cross-Country 'Save America' Runners Speak At Church

Two college students who ran from California to New York this summer to dramatize what they call America's environmental and spiritual pollution spoke at the Arlington Heights Free Church Sunday.

Joel and Tony Ahlstrom, brothers from Jackson, Mich., and seniors at Trinity College in Deerfield, ran 2,958 miles, about 30 miles a day for 3½ months, in their "Save America" campaign.

Sunday night they told about 200 persons at the church about the things they did and learned on their journey.

Though the brothers share concern about the physical and moral environment in America, Joel generally lead discussion on ecology and Tony, who plans to become a minister, talks about the spiritual issues.

Joel, who wants to go into business, deprecates the menace of industrial pollution but feels concerned individuals shouldn't wait for someone else to solve the problems.

"SOLUTIONS TO our nation's problems will not come by waiting for someone else to solve them or by criticizing the efforts of the establishment to solve them, but by working for the answers," he said.

"We must have the faith and confidence as individuals to realize the impact that the sincere efforts of one man can have. There are too many who believe in problems and too few who believe in solutions."

Tony, at 23 the younger by three years, said that America has long been considered the problem solver of the world, but its most valuable resource — people — needs reinvigoration.

"America's greatest resource is her people," he said, "and we hope to be a major stimulus in activating that resource. We believe that the environmental problem transcends races, generations and ideologies... if we can get it solved."

A new awareness of spirituality is a big step in the right direction, he said.

"Just as man's outer environment needs immediate attention, so does his inner environment. We see constantly the results of our personal spiritual and moral decay. Really knowing Jesus Christ provides the best living environment possible — we want to share this too."

Meetings This Week

The Arlington Heights Village Board will meet at a committee of the whole with officials from Arlington Park Race Track at 8 tonight in the Municipal Building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

The incinerator subcommittee of the Environmental Control Commission will meet at 8 tonight in the basement of the Municipal Building.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon has decided to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act, setting in motion government procedures to order the nation's longshoremen back to work for an 80-day cooling off period. White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the order, when obtained from federal courts, would definitely apply to the West Coast dispute, now in its 96th day, and one of the longest in the nation's history.

The House handed President Nixon a key victory for his new economic policies when it refused to block his order delaying a $2.6 billion-a-year pay raise for federal workers for six months. The 207-174 vote upholding Nixon's order generally broke down along party lines in the House, but Republicans took advantage of Democratic defections and absentees to carry the day for the President.

The State

Gov. Ogilvie announced a $25 million program to get 15,000 unemployed persons state and local government jobs. He said the program would provide jobs for about 10,000 welfare recipients plus about 5,000 unemployed "Vietnam-era" veterans.

Seven guards at Stateville Prison near Joliet were suspended because of the escape of three inmates Sept. 19.

A Peoria physician, Dr. John Mathis, announced he will be a candidate for governor unless a "responsible Republican" challenges Gov. Ogilvie.

The World

President Nguyen Van Thieu rolled up a landslide reelection victory in South Vietnam's uncontested presidential vote and called it a national achievement. "This is really a very good achievement of our nation and our people in the building and implementing of democracy," Thieu said. After the election the U.S. command announced one of its biggest American troop cutbacks in two years, a reduction of 3,200 men.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers outlined a new six-point Middle East peace proposal, pledging no letup in U.S. efforts for an interim agreement.

A powerful explosion demolished a British army post in Belfast Monday, injuring 10 soldiers and at least six passersby. Snipers shot a policeman in the back and troops wounded a sniper. The army post blast touched off a new wave of violence in the capital of religiously divided Northern Ireland.

The War

Communist troops responded to the South Vietnamese presidential election with the most attacks in 18 months, shelling bases along the Demilitarized Zone and in the vicinity of Saigon, military spokesmen said. Spokesmen said the 92 separate attacks in a 24-hour period were the highest since March 31, 1970, the day before the first South Vietnamese drive in to Cambodia, when 112 attacks were recorded.

Board Will Use Last Year's Fees

Residents of Elk Grove Township Elementary District 59 will pay the same building fees, book fees, and transportation fees as last year at least until Nov. 15.

The board of education voted last night to revert to the 1970-71 fee schedule and policy in order to comply with the wage-price freeze ordered by President Nixon.

As a result, groups which used the buildings after school and on weekends last year without charge will again be able to do so. Also groups which paid for building use last year will pay the same hourly rate.

In addition, parents will pay only two book fees at $10 each even though they may have more than two children in the school district.

Also children who ride the "pay bus" will be charged $25 each, but parents with three or more children will pay a maximum of $75. Earlier this summer the board had changed its policy on charging for building use, textbooks and transportation. Under the new building use policy some groups including parent organizations holding fund-raising activities would have been charged for use of the building.

CHANGES IN BOOK fees and transportation fees would have eliminated the maximum charge for families with several children in the district.

After the President declared the wage-price freeze, the district originally planned to implement policy changes which would have charged groups and individuals who had not paid fees last year, but to use the old fee schedule.

However, Supt. James Ervill reported to the board that such a decision was difficult to administer. Also he said, representatives of the Office of Emergency Preparedness, which has been enforcing the freeze, indicated that under the freeze guidelines, groups and individuals were to be charged the same as they were last year.

He said this seemed to indicate that the district should not implement the new policy for charging building use, book and transportation fees.

Hersey Band Named 'Best Of The Day'

The John Hersey High School band was named "Best of the Day" Sept. 25 in competition during Illinois State University's second annual Band Day.

After receiving a special trophy, the band performed during halftime of the football game between the ISU Redbirds and Southern Illinois University at Hancock Stadium at Normal, Ill. The band also was named winner in its class, determined by enrollment.

The Prospect High School marching band also participated in the competition. The band, in the same class as Hersey, received "a high rating," according to a spokesman.

NO LEFT TURN. It's frequently an aggravation for motorists trying to make their way through downtown Arlington Heights during the evening rush hour. But the Arlington Heights Police Department recognizes that in the absence of more one-way streets through the village's business district, No Left Turn signs provide the best means of keeping the traffic rolling. Traffic congestion in the village is the subject of a special study being undertaken by the Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the village. Problems caused by the normally heavy number of cars returning to Arlington Heights at the end of the workday are intensified by commuter trains which often delay traffic for several minutes as they unload the estimated 5,000 workers who use Chicago and North Western's Arlington Heights station every working day. ## Cadets Make Order From Near Chaos

by KURT BAER

Combining the artistry of a symphony conductor with the authority of an army sergeant, the youthful white-capped officer strides to the center of the busy intersection and somehow manages to bring order out of near chaos.

The scene is repeated five times each week, 52 weeks a year during the evening rush hour in downtown Arlington Heights.

A corps of young public service officers, trained and supervised by the village police department, each day coordinates the movement of motorists, pedestrians and commuter trains to help everyone get home as quickly and safely as possible.

Transportation officials estimate that more than 5,000 commuters use Chicago and North Western's Arlington Heights station Monday through Friday.

Police say the most critical junctures in Arlington Heights' traffic pattern are the downtown intersections along Campbell Street from Dunton to Evergreen Avenue, and this is where the cadets concentrate their effort.

But some of the officers have worked other congested corners in the village such as that at Kirchoff and Central roads or Euclid Avenue and Wilke Road just after the last race at Arlington Park.

"Our main job is to keep the traffic flowing," says Sgt. Richard Reid of the Arlington Heights Police Department. "We try to coordinate our direction pattern using Dunton and Campbell as a control point."

Besides being centrally located, Dunton and Campbell is a logical control point for another reason. The intersection is home base for officer Tim Nagel who, at six-feet-six inches in height, is tall enough to signal cars and cadets alike.

School Opens As Building Goes On

by BETSY BROOKER

Squares of colored paper with the words "students keep out" are taped over doorways at various locations in the new Dist. 214 Rolling Meadows High School.

Barricades are stretched across the two entrances to the high school cafeteria. Lunch tables crowd the front foyer. Gaping holes in the drop ceiling reveal insulation-wrapped pipes and electrical fixtures.

Black metal shelves stand bare in the library (instructional materials center). A long counter unit rests on a dolly in the lobby of the main office area. Students' cars share the parking lot with trailers serving as on-the-job offices for contractors. Workmen walk across the new carpeting in heavy construction boots, leaving a trail of dusty footprints.

Dist. 214's seventh high school opened Sept. 7, but it is not scheduled to be completed until Dec. 5.

DURING THE PAST 16 months of construction, H. P. Miller, of the architectural firm of Orput and Orput, repeatedly reported to the school board that the project was ahead of schedule.

Miller's reports were interpreted by some, including school officials, to mean the school would be virtually completed by the opening of the school year. However, Miller said he meant the work was ahead of the Dec. 5 completion date in the contract and that the academic area would be ready for use at the opening of school.

At a board meeting last month, Miller said, "We had the academic areas ready for the opening of school and are still ahead of schedule." When asked why the entire project wasn't completed by September, Miller said, "We feel we should have a minimum of two years to build a school of this size."

The main areas not ready for use at this time are the gymnasium, the locker room shower areas, the kitchen and cafeteria, the stage in the little theater, the fieldhouse, the music rooms, the art rooms and the industrial arts shops. All of the construction areas are closed to students.

The situation is eased by the fact that the school has no senior class this year, according to principal Robert Hoes. "We have a capacity for 2,500 but an enrollment of only 1,500 this year. So we can switch classroom assignments until the entire building is completed."

UNTIL THE GYM floor is installed, physical education classes are being held outside and in empty classrooms. Empty classrooms also are being used for music, art and industrial arts classes. Hot lunches are being provided by a vending company and served in the front foyer.

Furniture for the incomplete areas is stored in the hallways. The librarians are now processing books to shelve on the new library stacks. The library will not be stocked to capacity this year.

One of the highlights of the new school, said Hoes, is two separate libraries. "The one on the ground floor is supplied mostly with books, while the second floor library also has audio visual equipment. In addition, we have special resource centers complete with study carrels for three separate study divisions, including social studies-foreign language, English-fine arts, and math-science."

The resource centers serve as the core of separate pods for each of the study divisions. Many of the rooms are pie-shaped and separated by a dismountable wall. The walls do not have doors and the rooms do not have a teacher's desk. "We want to give a feeling of openness to the rooms," said Hoes. "And we felt that the teacher is more accessible to the student if we put his desk in the resource center rather than in the classroom."

Another highlight of the new school is an indoor track in the basement level of the gymnasium.

"The students know what a good school they have," said Hoes. "They are willing to put up with inconveniences for a while."

Debris Of Light Plane Is Found

Debris that might be from a light plane missing since Sept. 11 on a flight from Pal-Waukee Airport has been found on the shore of Lake Huron by Canadian authorities.

The twin-engine plane, on a flight from Pal-Waukee near Wheeling to Sudbury, Ontario, was reported missing shortly after noon Sept. 11. It carried four persons including two from Mount Prospect and one from Arlington Heights. Two of those aboard were divers.

George Priester, owner and operator of Priester Aviation Service at Pal-Waukee, said last night that Canadian searchers have found a diver's boot, a metal and upholstered panel and other pieces of metal. But, he said, there has been no confirmation that the debris came from the missing plane. Priester said, "From their description of the size of the panel, it couldn't be from our plane."

Those aboard the craft were Robert J. Poole, 44, of 215 S. Wille St., Mount Prospect; Carol Saunders, 26, of 805 N. Wilke Rd., Arlington Heights; and the two skindivers, Dr. Lawrence Hayes, 31, of 1553 Redwood Ln., Mount Prospect; and Jerry Schoenfeld, 31, of Chicago. The group was flying to Ontario in an attempt to recover the body of Miss Saunders' father who had drowned in a Canadian lake while on a fishing trip about two months ago.

Council Endorses New Plan For A War Memorial

The Des Plaines City Council last night endorsed a new campaign to raise $35,000 for a city war memorial bandshell pavilion.

The aldermen voted unanimously to endorse and support a plan by the Military Commemorative Committee of Des Plaines, a group of 26 residents including representatives from 26 veterans' organizations, to build a memorial at Lake Park, Howard and Lee Streets.

Noting the committee's failure in its efforts to raise funds for a monument to honor the city's war dead, Marshall McClure, committee president said the new proposed pavilion, would provide a "living and useful" memorial which could be used for concerts, outdoor theater, and cultural events.

The committee, created in December of 1967, at the suggestion of Des Plaines Mayor Herbert E. Behrel, did not win support for a monument because "residents thought it would be a useless edifice," McClure said.

"THE MOST COMMON feedback was that our design, as beautiful and meaningful as it may have been, simply did not meet public approval," he said.

The committee was only able to raise $6,717, far short of the goal of $65,000.

Expenses, including architectural fees, cost $3,537, according to McClure's report to the council.

He also said that "early in 1971 the committee collected a rather considerable amount of comments and suggestions from many sources, including our newspapers and arrived at a decision to redesign the memorial."

Orville Kurtz, a Des Plaines architect who contributed the design for the pavilion, told the council it would consist of a 42-foot deep stage, with steel and wooden beams supporting the bandshell ceiling.

ALSO CONNECTING to the bandshell pavilion will be a flagpole and a memorial plaque listing the Des Plaines war dead.

McClure announced that the flagpole and flag with the plaque would be dedicated by the committee at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 24. The pole and plaque will be paid for from funds already collected by the committee.

The pavilion will cost an additional $35,000, McClure said. Additional money received would be used to purchase high-quality lighting and amplification systems.

In his report to the council, McClure said the pavilion would provide a suitable, useful and living memorial. "We are confident this new plan will bring full support from the entire community."

Jaycees Plan A Community Attitude Survey

The Des Plaines Jaycees yesterday announced they will conduct a community attitude survey this fall to determine how Des Plaines residents feel about their community and the problems it faces.

The survey, to be conducted the last two weeks in October, will use a random sampling method for every block in the city, as well as unincorporated areas. The results will be released sometime in November, according to Mike Conley, co-chairman for the project.

"This is a major project for the Jaycees. We will have every member in the chapter contributing his time and effort to ensure the accuracy of the results," said Conley.

The organization's first survey, taken in the fall of 1969, found poor telephone service and the lack of public restrooms to be the problem areas cited most often by residents.

Telephone service was rated below average 61.2 per cent of those responding, with 51 per cent indicating that downtown restroom facilities were below average.

Among the other top 10 Des Plaines' problems, the pollers found, were: public transportation to other areas, 47.9 per cent; parking in the downtown area, rated below average 36.7 per cent; public meeting places for teenagers found below average by 35.2 per cent.

Also cited as below average by respondents were: storm water drainage, 31.8 per cent; street layout, 27.8 per cent; recreational opportunities for teenagers, 24.8 per cent; and zoning ordinances, 23.6 per cent.

Of those responding, however, 33.9 per cent rated recreational opportunities for teenagers above average; 75 per cent rated hospital services good to excellent; 74.4 per cent thought fire protection was better than average and 69.1 per cent rated police services better than average.

More than 90 per cent rated Des Plaines schools as average or better.

A MIGHTY KICK meant a winner in Saturday's Punt, Pass and Kick contest sponsored at Rand, South and West parks in Des Plaines by the Des Plaines Park District and Jim Cass Ford. About 250 Des Plaines eight through 13-year-old boys participated and trophies will

Youth Guilty Of Firing At Policemen

A Barrington youth accused of shooting at two Des Plaines policemen in the police station last March, was found guilty yesterday of armed robbery and aggravated assault.

Christian Grove, 18, of 23 Sunset Ln., Barrington, was convicted after a two-day bench trial before Circuit Court Judge Louis Giliberto at the Civic Center.

Grove was charged with the armed robbery of the Professional Coin Mart, 852 Graceland Ave., Des Plaines, the afternoon of March 12.

After he was arrested at the scene by Det. William Kuta, the youth was taken to the station where Patrolmen Michael Lambeau and James Pickell began a "strip search."

During this search Grove took a small mirror from one of his pockets and threw it across the interrogation room.

WHEN PICKELL and Lambeau turned to see what he had thrown Grove took a single-shot, .22-caliber "penknife" gun from his pocket.

Pointing the gun at Lambeau, Grove said, "You're dead."

Lambeau stepped toward the youth, then 17 years old, striking his arm just as the weapon fired. The slug reportedly lodged harmlessly in a wall.

Grove had pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity to the charges.

Judge Giliberto said yesterday, "I found no insanity at the time of the act or at this time. He said he will sentence Grove Oct. 18.

During the trial Friday, Grove was excused from the courtroom as his attorney, Anthony F. Mammia, tried to convince the court the youth was insane when he committed the acts.

DR. DAVID BUCK, director of training and child psychiatry at Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital in Chicago, told the court he examined the youth for the first time March 15, three days after the robbery and shooting.

Dr. Buck testified that as the result of about 30 sessions with Grove it was his medical opinion that the youth had "acute schizophrenic episode" both during the robbery-shooting and at other times.

When asked to define the term, Dr.

Buck said it is "like having a dream when you're asleep. The imagery is not determined by reality but rather by the workings of the brain. At times this thinking is distorted, at times it is not."

The doctor said he believes the condition existed the day of the crimes and that Grove "was not able to conform to the requirements of the law."

Throughout the trial James Boback and Robert McGee, assistant state's attorneys, attempted to show that Grove did not commit the crimes while out of touch with reality, but had realistically and intelligently planned his actions.

KUTA TESTIFIED that he felt Grove was capable of conforming to the law because, "He conformed to all my instructions, cooperated in his processing and intelligently questioned his constitutional rights."

Pickell also said in court he believes Grove was legally sane at the time. The patrolman said when he asked Grove why he tried to get out of the security area with a gun Grove replied that because he had not yet been identified, he felt that if he could get another gun he stood a good chance of getting away.

$48 Million Sewage Plant Will Be Built

The Metropolitan Sanitary District (MSD) has decided to begin construction in late 1972 of a $48 million sewage treatment plant on the western edge of Des Plaines to serve several Northwest suburban communities.

MSD spokesmen said yesterday that an engineering contract will be awarded late this month to form plans for the new plant on a 106-acre site at Oakton Street and Elmhurst Road.

"This is the next to the last step toward actual construction," according to Robert Barbolini, MSD assistant chief engineer. Tentative plans call for construction to start about one year after awarding of the engineering contract, he said.

The new plant, which the City of Des Plaines has fought for more than six years, will be able to handle, at full capacity, 48 million gallons of sewage daily — a volume MSD engineers feel will be necessary to treat increasing sewage wastes in the Northwest suburbs.

MSD plans also call for construction of interceptor sewer lines to the plant from Des Plaines, Mount Prospect, and parts of unincorporated Elk Grove Township.

THE NEW PLANT should be fully completed within the next 4½ years, according to MSD plans.

The district has applied for $26.4 million in federal funds and $12 million in state funds to finance construction.

The City of Des Plaines waged a six-year court battle to block construction on the Oakton-Elmhurst site because city officials felt the plant will create pollution and obnoxious odors near residential areas, already being exposed to O'Hare Airport jet engine pollution.

According to city officials, about 12,000 persons live within 1½ miles of the proposed sites. The city would also lose real estate taxes if the plant is constructed, officials said.

MSD spokesmen have said the plant will not cause obnoxious odors.

THE ILLINOIS Supreme court ruled last January that the MSD did not have to obey a Des Plaines zoning regulation which forbids construction of a sewage plant on the proposed site.

The city also could not block recommendations for awarding state and federal grants for the project, made early this summer by the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission (NIPC). These recommendations are considered essential before grants will be awarded. NIPC officials said their responsibility was to examine the need for the plant, and not to make judgments about site selection.

Postal Collections An Hour Earlier

The Des Plaines Post Office is making afternoon collections up to an hour earlier beginning tomorrow as part of its new next day delivery program for areas in Northern Illinois and Northwest Indiana.

Postal officials have asked mailers to check the collection boxes they normally use for the new, earlier pick up times.

Mobile Home Sales Office Burglarized

Burglars reportedly entered the office of a Des Plaines mobile home sales office last weekend and escaped with about $600 in electronic equipment.

Des Plaines police said the burglary occurred between 10 p.m. Friday and 10:30 a.m. Saturday at the office of O'Hare Mobile Home Sales, 3067 Mannheim Rd.

Rodney Van Selow, a spokesman for the company, told police an RCA portable color television receiver and a Panasonic stereo tape player were stolen.

Patrolman David Sommerschild said spotlights, which normally illuminated the mobile home office, had been pointed toward the ground by the burglars.

The State

Gov. Ogilvie announced a $25 million program to get 15,000 unemployed persons state and local government jobs. He said the program would provide jobs for about 10,000 welfare recipients plus about 5,000 unemployed "Vietnam-era" veterans.

Seven guards at Stateville Prison near Joliet were suspended because of the escape of three inmates Sept. 19.

A Peoria physician, Dr. John Mathis, announced he will be a candidate for governor unless a "responsible Republican" challenges Gov. Ogilvie.

The World

President Nguyen Van Thieu rolled up a landslide reelection victory in South Vietnam's uncontested presidential vote and called it a national achievement. "This is really a very good achievement of our nation and our people in the building and implementing of democracy," Thieu said. After the election the U.S. command announced one of its biggest American troop cutbacks in two years, a reduction of 2,200 men.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers outlined a new six-point Middle East peace proposal, pledging no letup in U.S. efforts for an interim agreement.

A powerful explosion demolished a British army post in Belfast Monday, injuring 10 soldiers and at least six passersby. Snipers shot a policeman in the back and troops wounded a sniper. The army post blast touched off a new wave of violence in the capital of religiously divided Northern Ireland.

The War

Communist troops responded to the South Vietnamese presidential election with the most attacks in 18 months, shelling bases along the Demilitarized Zone and in the vicinity of Saigon, military spokesmen said. Spokesmen said the 92 separate attacks in a 24-hour period were the highest since March 31, 1970, the day before the first South Vietnamese drive in to Cambodia, when 112 attacks were recorded.

Area Blood Donor Center To Open

A new regional blood center that will provide total blood service to the north and northwest suburbs is opening in Glenview, it was announced last week by the North Suburban Association for Health Services.

The service will eliminate the use of paid donor blood in eight area hospitals: Resurrection in Chicago, Holy Family in Des Plaines, Forest in Des Plaines, Alexian Brothers Medical Center in Elk Grove Village, Northwest Community in Arlington Heights, Highland Park in Highland Park, Lake Forest in Lake Forest, and Evanston in Evanston.

Dr. Earl E. Suckow, chairman of the association's project committee on blood services, said the North Suburban Blood Center, 1748 Waukegan Rd., Glenview, will be capable of supplying the 20,000 pints of blood needed each year by the hospitals. Blood will be donated by local residents exclusively, he said.

Dr. Suckow explained how the Cooperative Blood Replacement Plan of which the center is a member, will work:

A ONE-PINT donation made by any member hospital, assures the donor of unlimited blood replacement anywhere in the United States. For one blood donation, a person will have unlimited benefits for four years, a husband and wife for two years, and a family (all those under 19) for one year. The donor is not required to find replacement donors or pay for the blood.

Donors will be able to give blood either at the participating hospital of their choice or at the center. Blood collected from hospital donors will be processed and stored at the Glenview facility and distributed to member hospitals.

Each pint will be labeled North Suburban Blood Center and the plan is aimed at eliminating the need for paid donors.

Dr. Suckow said the North Suburban Association for Health Resources, sponsor of the new center, is a not-for-profit corporation consisting of hospitals, health care agencies, physicians, other health professionals working to improve the health care of the residents of the north and northwest suburbs.

CHICAGO BLOOD Donor Service, Inc., 2550 N. Clark St., Chicago, will operate the center.

The center has the following objectives:

Complete blood service with component therapy 24 hours a day, 7 days a week for all member hospitals.

A 100 per cent scheduled volunteer donor program to supply the blood and component therapy needs for the participating hospital and the citizens of our area.

Decrease outdating of blood by having a coordinated blood and component inventory program among the participating member hospitals.

Dr. Suckow said the closeness of hospitals to the regional center will help to ensure adequate blood supplies at all times.

DR. COYE C. MASON, director of the Chicago Blood Donor Service, Inc., which will operate the new center, said, "All of the latest equipment is being installed at the Glenview facility to make blood withdrawal as comfortable as possible for the donor."

"As in the Chicago-based service, first consideration at the new center will be given to protecting the patient by selecting healthy donors," Dr. Mason said, "Our degree of selectivity is reflected in our donor rejection rate, which is up 40 per cent."

"We will establish an extensive battery of testing and screening procedures to detect potentially harmful antibodies in donated blood," he said.

Blood spoils in 21 days and the new center is expected to have less blood wasted by greater efficiency in distributing it to area hospitals.

The hospitals also will be freezing a limited amount of blood to use in component therapy.

WHEN BLOOD is frozen, it is broken into various parts: red cells, plasma and platelets. Frozen blood can keep for years and when it is thawed, it can be given to persons who might need just plasma, just red blood cells, or just platelets.

"In this way, we are not giving whole blood to someone who does not need it and we'll get greater use from the blood. Freezing is a costly operation and because of this, it would be impractical for each hospital to do it, but at the center, the cost will be proportionately down and everyone in it will be able to avail themselves of this kind of service," said Dr. Suckow.

He said because all blood is donated locally, it will be considered "low-risk blood."

"We can't always determine if blood has hepatitis in it, but we do know that about four out of each 1,000 pints carries the disease. Our methods now can detect about 25 per cent of the ones that have it, the rest cannot be.

"But the chance of someone getting bad blood is much reduced if they get it from this center."

"We hope eventually to get so much blood that we will be sending it out. We want to have a continuous flow of blood."

"WE NEED A persistent appeal, not an emotional one."

"A decade ago when Our Lady of the Angels burned down in Chicago a lot of blood was needed for the children injured in the fire. There was an onslaught of calls of people who wanted to contribute and they wanted to give now. We had to hold many off and tell them their blood was needed, but over the next couple of years, rather than now."

Much of their success, he said, will depend on good donor recruitment by member hospitals.

"Many people don't know this — there's been such a scare — but we put blood to 19 different tests before we approve it. We take two tests to determine blood type, a test for the RH factor, a serology test for syphilis, a test for antibodies, and an Australian antigen test, in which we sometimes can detect if a person is a carrier of hepatitis," said Dr. Suckow.

Results of the annual voter poll of U. S. Rep. John N. Erlenborn, R-14th, reflect confidence in President Nixon's handling of the war in Vietnam which is shown in other surveys by Republican congressmen across the Midwest.

In the Erlenborn survey, 58 per cent of those responding rated Nixon's withdrawal plan as "good" or "excellent." Adding the 16 per cent who rated the policy as "average," the number of those who could be said to favor the President's action climbs to 74 per cent.

More than 80 per cent in a recent poll by Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-13th, supported the Nixon Vietnam policy. In Cadillac, Mich., a poll by Rep. Guy Vander Jagt showed 87 per cent in favor; and Rep. Donald Brozman of Boulder, Colo., reported 81 per cent backing the President.

McClary also reported that 68 per cent of the voters favor the Nixon strategy for withdrawal over plans proposed in the Senate by Democrats George McGovern of South Dakota and Mike Mansfield of Montana.

THAT FIGURE includes 40 per cent

who expressed satisfaction with the plan now being followed by the president. Another 28 per cent, Erlenborn said, backed a policy proposed by Rep. Robert McClary, R-12th, and co-sponsored by Erlenborn in the House of Representatives.

Based on terms set by the President, that resolution would direct him to set a withdrawal date following a cease-fire and return of U. S. prisoners, and to be matched by withdrawal of North Viet-

Discuss Alternatives To Costly Sludge Farms

Officials of the Metropolitan Sanitary District last week discussed several alternatives to a costly Northwest suburban "sludge farm."

While no decision has been reached on what to do with "sludge," the liquid end product of sewage treatment, the idea of using the sludge in the Northwest suburbs apparently has been downgraded.

The issue came up as the board studied a request to construct a $2.1 million sewer to link the O'Hare Water Reclamation Plant with the Salt Creek Water Reclamation Plant.

The 5.2-mile sewer would pump sludge from the O'Hare plant to be located in southern Des Plaines, to the Salt Creek plant, to be located near Schaumburg Road in eastern Schaumburg Township.

BEN SOSEWITZ, MSD general superintendent, explained that the pipeline ultimately could be extended to the MSD's Stickney plant, where the sludge could be shipped to Fulton County, Ill., and used as fertilizer, as is now being done.

Another solution, Sosewitz said, was piping the sludge to another location. He and other MSD officials have reported the Fulton County project has been highly successful, and could be repeated elsewhere.

Sosewitz also referred to a recent real estate study which showed it would cost the MSD between $30 and $50 million to buy land for a sludge farm in Schaumburg Township.

Later, Trustee George Thiem suggested the district consider a site farther northwest of Chicago, perhaps near Rockford, as a new site. "There's plenty of land up there that could make a very good use of organic fertilizer," he reported.

He added that land costs would be reduced in that area, and that the alternative would be better than pumping the sludge from the Northwest suburbs to the Stickney plant, located southwest of Chicago.

SOSEWITZ FINALLY said another possible action was the possibility of pumping the sludge in existing sewer lines to the Stickney plant. The MSD board took no final action on the proposal.

The sludge form or the pumping of sludge to another location is part of the plan for the Salt Creek plant, one of four planned to be located in the Northwest suburbs.

Bids on the first stage of the Salt Creek plant will be opened Oct. 17, and MSD officials report it will take at least three years to get the plant operating.

Several weeks ago, after the real estate estimate had been received by the district, officials reported they were examining alternatives to an on-site sludge farm.

'Tune-Up' Burglars Hit Citgo Station

Almost $400 worth of auto parts were reported stolen early last Friday morning after burglars raided a Des Plaines service station.

Des Plaines police said the burglary occurred between midnight and 6 a.m., Friday, at Gabe's Citgo, 3170 River Rd.

Patrolman Kenneth Rottman said the burglars apparently entered the station by breaking the glass of an overhead door.

Gabriel Bodozian, station owner, listed as stolen: a timing light, an air wrench, 20 sets of spark plugs, 10 directional signal flashers, 10 sets of ignition wires and 20 sets of distributor points.

Bodozian set the loss at $396.

The Des Plaines Kiwanis Club reports the best street sale of peanuts ever. The day's take totaled $3,670 with 92 per cent of the local club's members participating. If the rest of the peanuts are sold the club could easily top the $4,000 mark.

When I ran over to the Jewel-Osco at Oak Leaf Commons last Friday night I was surprised to see former Algonquin Junior High School Principal Henry Lashway — peanut bags in hand. He was experimenting at the busy food store to see how peanut-selling would fare at night and wound up doing a good business. Now that's dedication.

COULDN'T RESIST attending the Turtle Race Sunday at Brookfield Zoo, despite the lousy weather. Attendance was down this time — probably due to the rain — but there were still several hundred people there and 125 entered the contest to guess how long it would take the three tortoises to get to their winter quarters.

As promised, last year's winner, Hal Steele, was on hand to defend his title. Everyone predicted that the race would take close to two hours (apparently turtles don't care for rain and therefore would not care to move too quickly). Last spring they made the race in a record-breaking 55 minutes but no one dreamed of a repeat performance.

My sons were determined to win and cast their votes for 73 minutes and 86 minutes. Then we took off to kill an hour or so viewing the animals and waiting for the race to come to an end.

IT HAPPENED WHILE we were petting the llama in the children's zoo. The speedy turtles crossed the finish line in 1-hour, 2-minutes and 35-seconds. We lost, Hal lost and then it started to rain.

The winner, Doreen Kasmella of Westchester, was a mere five-seconds off in her guess. The two second place winners came within 18 seconds of the winning time. Patrick Crosby, a 17-year-old senior at Maine South High School tied Steven Vichi of Brookfield for second place. Ah well, can't win them all.

Before we headed for home we stopped by to see the walrus. Now I've never paid much attention to walruses but after standing there for 15 minutes she rapidly became my favorite animal in the zoo (other than the tigers and gorillas).

HER NAME IS Olga (I think) and she is enormous. She is also talented. She snorts, whistles, and spits water through her nose. You've got to admit, not everyone can spit water through their nose.

For a good 10 minutes she just laid there with her back flippers stuck through an inner-tube. Then she rolled over to the side of her concrete patio and stuck her head in her swimming pool. I guess it doesn't sound funny but it looked hysterical.

Just as we had given up on Olga doing anything but snorting or taking a drink of water she slid into the pool. She was nine-tenths of the way in and stopped. Olga was upside down, submerged and hanging by her toes. I hope that sounds funny because... Never mind — it was one of those things where you had to be there to really appreciate it.

Home Burglars Peddle Loot?

Two homes on Wicke Avenue in Des Plaines were raided Sunday night by a burglar who may have left the area on a bicycle stolen from a third house on the street.

Des Plaines police said the homes of Edwin Stempinski, 971 Wicke Ave., and John D. Graziadei, 1050 Wicke Ave., were burglarized and ransacked.

Stempinski told police he discovered the burglary when he arrived at his home about 8 p.m.

Patrolman Michael Banner said the burglar forced a garage door and then entered the home where he ransacked three bedrooms and damaged two doors. Stempinski said $66 in cash was stolen.

Graziadei said he heard noises when he returned to his home after being away for the weekend and found a rear door ajar.

Two citizen band radios were said to be stolen by the burglar who apparently slashed a sofa cushion with an ornamental sword before leaving the house.

Police said a bicycle was reported stolen about the same time from a home at 1060 Wicke Ave. The homeowner, Richard A. Grzebleniak, said the bike was worth about $50.

Behrel In Anti-Noise Unit

Des Plaines Mayor Herbert Behrel said yesterday he has joined a committee of mayors, state officials and federal legislators, recently formed to combat O'Hare Airport expansion and jet aircraft noise.

At his weekly press conference, Mayor Behrel said he joined the new group last week at the invitation of its preliminary chairman, John Varble, mayor of Bensenville.

U.S. Rep. Harold Collier, R-10, who called for creation of the committee at a special meeting of mayors and legislators Aug. 13 in Park Ridge, told the Herald yesterday that the committee would hold its first meeting this month.

Rep. Collier also said the committee now includes Behrel, Mayor Albert Smith of Skokie; Mayor Joseph Peacock of Park Ridge; Mayor Edward Bluthardt of Schiller Park; Floyd Fuller, Cook County Commissioner and Des Plaines resident; State Sen. John Carroll, R-Park Ridge; State Sen. Howard Mohr, R-Forest Park; State Rep. Robert Juckett, R-Park Ridge, and John Robson, Gov. Ogilvie's transportation adviser.

Besides Collier the committee is sponsored by U.S. Rep. Philip Crane, R-13th, and Rep. John Erlenborn, R-14th.

At the meeting, Collier urged formation of the committee to wage a constant, coordinated fight against present "unlimited Chicago control of O'Hare Airport."

He also asked that the committee act on recent recommendations by the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission (NIPC) on O'Hare growth and noise.

The NIPC report recommended increased community regional, and state control over Chicago decisions on O'Hare expansion. It also called for a coordinated effort on zoning and area development to deal with increasing noise levels, which the report predicted would affect more than 500,000 persons by 1975.

Behrel said the new committee will "keep constant pressure on individuals and agencies to work for noise reduction."

In his letter to Behrel, Varble said the committee will discuss airport expansion, zoning, legislation, and formation of a "comprehensive plan, which will be beneficial to us all."

Behrel, mayor of Des Plaines, since 1957, is a board member of the National League of Cities, which represents more than 14,000 municipalities.

Building Use, Textbook, Bus Fees Won't Increase

Residents of Elk Grove Township Elementary District 59 will pay the same building fees, book fees, and transportation fees as last year at least until Nov. 15.

The board of education voted last night to revert to the 1970-71 fee schedule and policy in order to comply with the wage-price freeze ordered by President Nixon.

As a result, groups which used the buildings after school and on weekends last year without charge will again be able to do so. Also groups which paid for building use last year will pay the same hourly rate.

In addition, parents will pay only two book fees at $10 each even though they may have more than two children in the school district.

Also children who ride the "pay bus" will be charged $25 each, but parents with three or more children will pay a maximum of $75. Earlier this summer the board had changed its policy on charging for building use, textbooks and transportation. Under the new building use policy some groups including parent organizations holding fund-raising activities would have been charged for use of the building.

CHANGES IN BOOK fees and transportation fees would have eliminated the maximum charge for families with several children in the district.

After the President declared the wage-price freeze, the district originally planned to implement policy changes which would have charged groups and individuals who had not paid fees last year, but to use the old fee schedule.

However, Supt. James Erviti reported to the board that such a decision was difficult to administer. Also he said, representatives of the Office of Emergency Preparedness, which has been enforcing the freeze, indicated that under the freeze guidelines, groups and individuals were to be charged the same as they were last year.

He said this seemed to indicate that the district should not implement the new policy for charging building use, book and transportation fees.

Jaycees Slate Smoker

The Des Plaines Jaycees are extending an open invitation to young men in the city between the ages of 21 and 35 to attend a smoker-styled membership meeting Thursday, Oct. 7, 7:30 p.m. at the Elks Club, 495 Lee St. Food and drink will be served.

The Jaycees are a non-religious, non-political, non-profit organization of young men involved in various community projects.

The Jaycees said they are looking forward to welcoming those individuals that take their community seriously enough to act on their beliefs.

Thinking Potential Series Set

"Thinking May Be Dangerous For Your Health," the first lecture in a series "Who Am I? Who Are You?" sponsored by the Maine Township Adult Evening School and the Forest Hospital Foundation, will be held at 8 p.m. Oct. 12, in the auditorium at Maine South High School, Dee and Talcott roads, Park Ridge.

Robert Willford, executive director of Forest's Postgraduate Center, will conduct the discussion and a demonstration of sensitivity training.

Adult education officials said the series is designed to encourage people to explore their personal potential for thinking.

Each lecture program will include a formal presentation by an expert, demonstrations of each form of mental growth presented and audience participation in small group discussions.

The second lecture of the series Nov. 9, "Walk A Mile In My Shoes," will involve psychodrama. "I'll Do It Because I Love You" Dec. 14 will be a discussion of marital therapy by a Forest staff psychiatrist. On Jan. 11 a psychiatrist will present an exploration of family therapy, "Your Turn To Do The Dishes."

All programs will be held at 8 p.m. at Maine South. Season tickets are $5 and single admission is $1.50. Further information may be obtained by calling the Maine Adult Evening School, 696-3600.

Rockhounds To Meet

Sukkot Festival Observances Here

All children will receive special flags to carry in the processions. The entire ritual will be repeated Tuesday morning, Oct. 12, 9:30 a.m. The Torah reading will be completed during this special service. A luncheon will follow at noon.

Mount Prospect Senior Citizen Center Opens

The Mount Prospect Park District yesterday opened a senior citizen center at 600 See-Gwyn Ave. The center will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesdays through Fridays and from noon to 5 p.m. Mondays.

"We'll start out this way. Weekends and evenings are a question mark at this time," said Dale Johnson, recreation supervisor. "Changes will be based on what the seniors want." Johnson said he expects an average of 10 to 15 residents to use the facilities each day. "If even one person uses it, we've done something," he said.

A game room, craft room, general-use room and kitchen facilities make up the air-conditioned center, which has been planned by park officials since February.

A bumper pool table and a dart board are included in the game room. A fire place, television set, chairs and card tables set the atmosphere in the general use room. In the craft room a kiln is available and tables are set for activities such as painting. A stove, refrigerator and sink, donated by Illinois Range Co. in Mount Prospect, has been installed.

"WE'RE WAITING to see how it goes before we make any changes or additions," Johnson said. The rooms, converted from offices by the park district maintenance staff, were designed according to suggestions of members of Young at Heart, the park district senior citizen program. According to Johnson, the center was built for the Young at Heart, who currently meet each Monday morning.

Park officials earlier this year invited members of the Extensioners, another local senior citizen group to help plan the center. However leaders of that group did not participate because they felt the center would be too small.

The center will remain under the jurisdiction and will be maintained by the park district. It is open to all senior citizens living in the park district, which includes a major portion of Des Plaines and small sections of Arlington Heights and Elk Grove Village.

Profitable Area Weekend! Five Wins In Grid Action

Area football squads fared well over the weekend as both Elk Grove and Forest View posted Mid-Suburban League victories. Notre Dame won a pair and St. Viator was awesomely impressive in beating the defending Suburban Catholic Conference champion.

Harper College and Maine East High played rugged opponents and were victims to both.

ELK GROVE 11, PROSPECT 9

The Grenadiers won their Mid-Suburban League South Division opener with an outstanding running attack and a defense which came through in the clutch.

Tony Tringali gave Elk Grove a 7-0 lead in the first quarter with a four-yard run. After Prospect tied the score 7-7 in the third period, John Biergo electrified the crowd with a 82-yard kickoff return to give Elk Grove a 14-7 lead. A safety in the fourth quarter gave the Knights'

Of the 282 yards the Grenadiers picked up in total offense, 259 of them were rushing yards. Jeff Stewart gained 88 yards on eight carries, Jim Leopardo gained 64 yards on 12 carries, Frank Taucher gained 48 yards on eight carries and Scott Bentall gained 43 yards on eight carries.

FOREST VIEW, 20, SCHAUMBURG 9

It was the Mike Pryor Show once again in Falconland as coach Paul Jordan's club won its South Division opener in the Mid-Suburban League.

Pryor gained 208 yards on 33 carries and scored a touchdown from 10 yards out. In three games, he has gained 451 yards.

Forest View missed a number of opportunities in the first half wad was tied with the Saxons 0-0 at halftime.

Dave Schneider gave the Falcons a 7-0 lead early in the third period with a one-yard plunge and Pryor's TD scamper made it 14-0. Schneider powered his way over the goal line from the two in the fourth quarter for the Falcons' final touchdown.

ST. VIATOR 25, ST. PATRICK 16

The Lions easily manhandled the Suburban Catholic Conference's defending champs as they rolled to a 21-0 halftime lead and coasted in from there. The St. Viator victory avenged a bitter 8-6 loss to the Shamrocks last fall.

Joe Bombicino dominated the Lion attack with 107 yards on 13 running plays from scrimmage. He scored on a 47-yard run, a 54-yard punt return and two 6-yard runs. Quarterback Dan Eigel plunged in for the Lions' fifth touchdown. Frank Cliggett went 5-for-5 on extra point kicks.

Stan Bobowski picked up valuable yardage for St. Viator when St. Patrick began keying on Bombicino. Bobowski had 67 yards on seven carries.

DOWNERS GROVE NORTH, 55, MAINE EAST 2

The Demons' Homecoming was ruined by the big score as they were outgunned by the hard-hitting Downers attack.

Downers Grove took a 7-0 lead in the first quarter, led 21-2 at halftime and had a 41-2 lead at the end of three periods.

Maine East's only score was an automatic safety in the second quarter.

NOTRE DAME 26

The Dons' defense was spectacular and quarterback Greg Schwabe had another fine day as Notre Dame won its Suburban Catholic Conference opener.

Schwabe threw touchdown passes of 55 and 25 yards and also kicked two extra points. Bill Abraham returned a St. Francis DeSales' punt 42 yards for the Dons' other score.

After a scoreless first quarter, the Dons had a 6-0 lead at halftime and then added two touchdowns in the fourth quarter.

NOTRE DAME 34, THORNWOOD 13

There was little doubt of the outcome for most of the game as the Dons dominated the junior-dominated Thornwood contingent Saturday night on the Notre Dame field. Many Notre Dame underclassmen got to see action on this non-conference confrontation.

JOLIET 27, HARPER 6

Though the Hawks came out on the short end of the score, they played a reasonably fine game against a very rugged opponent.

In its previous two games, Joliet had given up a total of 81 yards in total offense. Harper managed to gain 140 yards in off-nse Saturday night.

The Hawks' only score came in the fourth quarter as Bruce Eberle intercepted a Joliet pass and ran it back 50 yards.

STEWART'S PRIVATE BLEND. Grenadier quarterback Jeff Stewart, making his first start of the season, directs downfield traffic behind blocking fullback Tony Tringali. Stewart's incredible effectiveness as a runner was instrumental in Elk Grove's 14-9 victory over Prospect. Jeff totaled 88 yards in eight carries to rank as the game's leading ball carrier. JARRING TACKLE RESULTS. The result of a jarring tackle by Maine West linebacker Leon Popowski on Niles North ball carrier Ron Schaffel was this fumble in the end zone. Ed Mueller, left, and Mark Eichhorn, right, of the Warriors scramble for the ball. Mueller recovered the fumble to kill the Niles North drive in the third quarter. The Vikings rallied in the fourth quarter, however, to post a 21-20 Central Suburban League victory.

The Home Care Nurse

Help Is There For Anyone Who Needs It

by MARY B. GOOD

When doctors cut down on house calls, their homebound patients didn't just go away.

To meet the ever increasing health needs of the community, home care nursing was born.

If the roof houses an invalid husband with bedsores, if grandmother lacks bladder control or if the family can't cope with the shock of learning their child has an incurable disease, they may need a home care nurse.

Home care means that the patient can go home a few days earlier; it means the family can save soaring hospital costs and that the hospital will gain needed bedspace; it means the physician knows his patient will receive excellent nursing attention long after she has left the hospital and hopefully, prevent readmission by receiving better follow-up care.

MOST PEOPLE do not realize that these valuable services are available in this area — and many times — free of charge.

Three local hospitals, Alexian Brothers Medical Center, Northwest Community

Hospital and Holy Family Hospital, all extend home care services to outgoing patients. (Lutheran General's program is in the drawingboard stage.)

"Lots of people don't understand what we mean by 'home care,'" said Mrs. Carolyn Stevens of Northwest Community Hospital. "Sometimes they think we do custodial care or clean house."

"On doctor's orders, I may go in every day to get a widow with a broken leg dressed and ready for the day. Or I may visit only once a really young mother with no relatives who needs guidance in coping with child care," said Mrs. Stevens.

"We just wish more doctors begin to use our service," she added.

ALTHOUGH THE cost of the Northwest home visits is $12.50 per hour, Medicare pays for some patients; insurance policies cover others. "And we keep in mind what the pocketbooks will bear," said Mrs. Stevens.

Where nurses from the Cook County Health Department are sent out by the hospital's home care coordinator at Alexian Brothers or Holy Family Hospitals, there are no fees charged for the visit at the present time. (The Cook County Department of Public Health makes available on request a free booklet, "Home Health Benefits under Medicare.")

A major portion of Mrs. Stevens' work is with Medicare patients. "Many people attach a stigma to nursing homes," she said. "Ever since the recent expose, some people think all nursing homes are bad. We offer names of excellent facilities, or suggest that the family might be able to care for their elderly patients at home with our help." Home care is a great financial savings over a nursing home.

"ADULT CHILDREN are often torn put in conflict over whether or not to put their elderly parents in a nursing home. Many times they turn to us for help. The attention a parent might get in a good nursing home is not very different from hospital care."

Mrs. Stevens gave an example of an elderly person experiencing mental confusion. "I suggested the person would be better off at home. Before he was released, we counseled the family members, showed them how to cope, explained how to 'do' for him. By the time the patient was released, the family knew what to expect and how to handle it.

"We followed through with home care immediately. With an atmosphere of confidence surrounding him, he snapped out of his confusion just like that!"

THE COST OF PUTTING a visiting nurse in a home is very expensive — but residents of Arlington Heights get this skilled care free of charge from their village government.

Mrs. Andrea Zama and her assistant, who are paid by the village, offer services to residents which run the gamut from teaching prenatal care to caring for the aged. Des Plaines absorbs the cost of its own program to residents. In addition the Des Plaines Nurse and Welfare Association, a service apart from the city-run agency, is located in Des Plaines, supported by the Community Chest, it has been around for 40 years.

So you don't live in Arlington or Des Plaines or weren't hospitalized at Alexian Brothers, Northwest Community or Holy Family? As long as you live in

Cook County, you can get skilled nursing care following discharge from a hospital or nursing home. Service is provided by the Cook County Public Health Nurses, free at this time, as prescribed by the attending physician.

THE PHYSICIAN, the patient, his family, a neighbor or friend may call to request this county service or talk with any hospital home care coordinator.

Rita Bakewell, supervisor of public health nurses, North District Cook County Department of Public Health (in Des Plaines), said that her staff is also there to help the handicapped, answer questions about Medicare benefits, handle minor problems new mothers may be having with their babies, or refer newcomers to other sources of help.

It doesn't matter whether he be rich man or pauper, if a person is sick and needs home care, this area provides for him.

Janet LeMon, Alexian Brothers home care coordinator said, "People have the mistaken notion that home care is for the indigent. Not so — it wouldn't make a shred of difference if one of our patients was the Queen of England."

Teenage Girls Invited To Become Juniorettes

A "Cola-Uncola" party has been scheduled for young women between the ages of 14 and 19 who are Des Plaines residents and interested in forming a Juniorette Club.

The party, which will be held Sunday, Oct. 17, from 2-4 p.m. at West Park Field House, is sponsored by the Home Life Committee of the Junior Woman's Club of Des Plaines.

Mrs. Richard Fielden, chairman, and Mrs. Lawrence Slonski, co-chairman, feel there is a definite need for such an organization for teenage girls in Des Plaines.

"The purpose of forming a Juniorette Club is to stimulate moral and social development and to promote all enterprises which tend to better the community," Mrs. Fielden said. "These girls will meet separately from the Junior Woman's Club and plan all of their own projects."

Those wishing further information may write to Mrs. Fielden at 1573 Webster Lane, Des Plaines, 60018.

A Big Band For Clearbrook

The big band sound will again resound at Arlington Towers when Friends of Clearbrook School holds its seventh annual fall brunch Sunday, Oct. 17. The band, the Clearbrook Symphony, is a group of local musicians who in years past played with name bands.

Director of the band is James Mason of Arlington Heights, a member of the Clearbrook board.

Chairman of the brunch is Mrs. Richard Cameron, assisted by Mrs. Robert Drake.

Tickets are available through the ticket chairman, Mrs. E. M. Shanahan, CL 3-8769, or any members of the Friends. The affair will open at noon in the Jimmy Durante Room of the Towers in Arlington Heights. Cocktails and a buffet luncheon will be served until 3 p.m.

Proceeds will go toward the building of three new classrooms at the Rolling Meadows school.

Roomy Ideas

As families grow larger, it soon becomes apparent the only housing solution, short of moving, is to add more room to the house. The problem is usually deciding where and how, and then getting started.

Five architect-designed add-a-room projects show how to gain living space with a loft room, master bedroom, garage conversion, over-the-garage room, and a learning center.

For a copy of the booklet "We Need More Room" send 25 cents in coin to Western Wood Products Assn., Dept. 526-P, Yeon Bldg., Portland, Or. 97204.

Bride Wears Mother's Locket

A sentimental bride was Judy Kaye Phillips of Arlington Heights when she became Mrs. Lawrence W. Farley, Jr., on Aug. 21. She wore a heart-shaped locket that her father had given her mother prior to their marriage, and she carried a handmade handkerchief that belonged to the groom's aunt. It had accompanied brides down the aisle in four previous family weddings.

The groom is the son of the Lawrence W. Farleys of 1356 Carol Lane, Des Plaines. Judy's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence M. Phillips of Hartford, Ky. The bride and groom met each other at Universal Oil Products Co., Des Plaines, where they are both employed.

Officiating at the double ring 3 p.m. wedding at Christ Church in Des Plaines was Pastor James Jackson. Mums and candles bedecked the altar.

JUDY WORE a white floor length, dotted swiss organza gown with long sheer sleeves and Empire waist, the back flowing into a cathedral train. Her veil was attached to a headpiece that tied under the chin. She carried a bouquet of white daisies.

Becky Phillips of Arlington Heights, the bride's sister, served as maid of honor. The ribbon in her hair matched her gown of mint green organza over taffeta, and she carried a basket of yellow and white daisies with white sweetheart roses, as did all the other attendants, including the flower girl, all of whom were dressed identically.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Larry Phillips of Arlington Heights, the bride's sister-in-law; Mrs. John Prellberg of Mount Prospect, sister of the groom; and junior bridesmaid Lisa Phillips of Hartford, Ky., the bride's young sister. The groom's niece, four-year-old Rhonda Prellberg of Mount Prospect, was flower girl. Her brother, Don, 6, served as ring bearer.

IN THE GROOM'S party were best man Keith Bockelman of Algonquin; Larry Phillips of Arlington Heights, the bride's brother; John Prellberg, the groom's brother-in-law, and Robert Schroeder, his cousin, both of Mount Prospect.

A buffet reception in the church Fellowship Hall was followed by an open house at the home of the groom's parents. About 100 guests were present.

Following their honeymoon in Wisconsin and Illinois, the newlyweds are residing at 9561 Dee Rd., Des Plaines. The groom, a 1965 graduate of Maine West High School, also attended Pershing College. He joined Universal Oil Products upon his return from the U. S. Army.

The Home Line

by Dorothy Ritz

Dear Dorothy: Applied some linseed oil mixture to our furniture and without giving it a second thought put the cloth I used along with some other rags. A nasty fire burst out a little later and the firemen said it probably started from spontaneous combustion and suspected the oily rags. Thought a mention in your column might alert others. —Mrs. Kenneth Padgett.

A lot of people ought to be grateful to you for this kind of forceful reminder based on unhappy personal experience. Any and all rags used with combustible materials ought to be disposed of promptly. And since you mentioned linseed oil, this is a good time to remind people that when instructions call for boiled linseed oil, they mean linseed oil so treated by the manufacturer — and people should never even think of boiling linseed oil themselves. Can't tell you how many get confused on this one thing and there are times I wish the designation of the stuff could be changed.

Dear Dorothy: How can one keep onions from spoiling? Even when I just get a pound (and how could you buy less?), I usually find one that has decayed — at least partly. —Allie T.

You probably just don't use up your onions fast enough. If onions are stored in a loosely woven net sack and stored at slightly cooler than room temperature, they should last several months. They also do poorly if there is high humidity in the room. If you're not a big onion user, you'll just have to buy them as you need them.

Dear Dorothy: Notice many readers are having trouble with hems as they try to lengthen their dresses. It may not work on permanent-press garments or on hems which have changed color because they are worn, but I've had great success by using a piece of wool on the let-out hem, then pressing it on the right side with a steam iron. —Judy F.

(Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to Dorothy Ritz in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.)
